UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE APPEALS BUREAU

CLAYTON D HATLEY
Claimant

APPEAL 23A-UI-11434-ED-T

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE DECISION

PELLA CORPORATION
Employer

OC: 11/05/23
Claimant: Respondent (2)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct
Iowa Code § 96.5(1) – Voluntary Quitting
Iowa Code § 96.3(7) – Overpayment
Iowa Admin Code R. 871-24.10 – Employer Chargeability

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The Employer, Pella Corporation, filed an appeal from the November 30, 2023 (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that allowed benefits based upon Claimant's discharge from employment. The parties were properly notified of the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on December 28, 2023. The Claimant, Clayton Hatley, did not participate. The Employer, Pella Corporation, participated through witness, Reagan Reid. The Employer's Exhibits 1-14 were offered and admitted into evidence.

ISSUES:

Was the claimant discharged for disqualifying job-related misconduct?
Did claimant voluntarily quit the employment with good cause attributable to employer?
Was the claimant overpaid benefits?
Should the employer be charged?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: The Claimant began working on June 13, 2022 as a full-time operator. His immediate supervisor was Jesse Bengé. The last day the claimant physically worked for the employer was November 3, 2023 when he was discharged from employment.

The claimant was discharged due to the claimant's deliberate disregard of the employer's processes. The claimant wore a headset that would instruct him when a water test of the product was required. The claimant was required to perform the water test on the product every time he was instructed by his headset. The water test takes approximately 10 minutes. On Monday, October 30, 2023, the claimant's headset was reviewed. The headset showed the claimant disregarded the water test instruction 181 times. When the claimant disregarded the water test instruction, the employer noted that the claimant would hear the warning and wait ten minutes for the required time to pass. He then moved the product to be packed for shipping rather than have the water test completed, which is bypassing the quality standard. When the employer asked the claimant about the process, he admitted to disregarding the water test. The claimant told his employer someone had instructed him to disregard the water test warning instruction. When asked who instructed him to disregard the warning, the claimant was unable to provide an answer.

The claimant has received $0.00 in unemployment benefits since the filing effective date of November 5, 2023.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes the claimant was discharged for job-related misconduct. Benefits are denied.

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The individual shall be disqualified for benefits until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)a provides: Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. For the purposes of this rule, "misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by an employee that constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of the employee's contract of employment. Misconduct is limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such a degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. Misconduct by an individual includes but is not limited to all of the following:

- (1) Willful and deliberate falsification of the individual's employment application.
- (2) Knowing violation of a reasonable and uniformly enforced rule of an employer.
- (3) Intentional damage of an employer's property.
- (4) Consumption of alcohol, illegal or nonprescribed prescription drugs, or an impairing substance in a manner not directed by the manufacturer, or a combination of such substances, on the employer's premises in violation of the employer's employment policies.
- (5) Reporting to work under the influence of alcohol, illegal or nonprescribed prescription drugs, or an impairing substance in an off-label manner, or a combination of such substances, on the employer's premises in violation of the employer's employment policies, unless the individual is compelled to work by the employer outside of scheduled or on-call working hours.
- (6) Conduct that substantially and unjustifiably endangers the personal safety of coworkers or the general public.
- (7) Incarceration for an act for which one could reasonably expect to be incarcerated that results in missing work.

- (8) Incarceration as a result of a misdemeanor or felony conviction by a court of competent jurisdiction.
- (9) Excessive unexcused tardiness or absenteeism.
- (10) Falsification of any work-related report, task, or job that could expose the employer or coworkers to legal liability or sanction for violation of health or safety laws.
- (11) Failure to maintain any license, registration, or certification that is reasonably required by the employer or by law, or that is a functional requirement to perform the individual's regular job duties, unless the failure is not within the control of the individual.
- (12) Conduct that is libelous or slanderous toward an employer or an employee of the employer if such conduct is not protected under state or federal law.
- (13) Theft of an employer's or coworker's funds or property.
- (14) Intentional misrepresentation of time worked or work carried out that results in the individual receiving unearned wages or unearned benefits.

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982).

It is the duty of the administrative law judge as the trier of fact in this case, to determine the credibility of witnesses, weigh the evidence and decide the facts in issue. Arndt v. City of LeClaire, 728 N.W.2d 389, 394-395 (Iowa 2007). The administrative law judge may believe all, part or none of any witness's testimony. State v. Holtz, 548 N.W.2d 162, 163 (Iowa App. 1996). In assessing the credibility of witnesses, the administrative law judge should consider the evidence using his or her own observations, common sense and experience. Id. In determining the facts, and deciding what testimony to believe, the fact finder may consider the following factors: whether the testimony is reasonable and consistent with other believable evidence; whether a witness has made inconsistent statements; the witness's appearance, conduct, age, intelligence, memory and knowledge of the facts; and the witness's interest in the trial, their motive, candor, bias and prejudice. Id. After assessing the credibility of the witnesses who testified during the hearing, considering the applicable factors listed above, and using her own common sense and experience, the administrative law judge finds the Employer's unrefuted testimony with supporting exhibits is credible.

A claimant is not qualified to receive unemployment insurance benefits if an employer has discharged the claimant for reasons constituting work connected misconduct. Iowa Code § 96.5-2-a. Before a claimant can be denied unemployment insurance benefits, the employer has the burden to establish the claimant was discharged for work-connected misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Department of Job Service, 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982), Iowa Code § 96.5-2-a.

The employer bears the burden of proving that a claimant is disqualified from receiving benefits because of substantial misconduct within the meaning of Iowa Code section 96.5(2). Myers, 462 N.W.2d at 737. The propriety of a discharge is not at issue in an unemployment insurance case. An employer may be justified in discharging an employee, but the employee's conduct may not amount to misconduct precluding the payment of unemployment compensation. Because our unemployment compensation law is designed to protect workers from financial hardships when they become unemployed through no fault of their own, we construe the provisions "liberally to carry out its humane and beneficial purpose." Bridgestone/Firestone, Inc. v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 570 N.W.2d 85, 96 (Iowa 1997). "[C]ode provisions which operate to work a forfeiture of benefits are strongly construed in favor of the claimant." Diggs v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 478 N.W.2d 432, 434 (Iowa Ct. App. 1991).

Misconduct serious enough to warrant discharge is not necessarily serious enough to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits. Such misconduct must be "substantial." Newman v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 351 N.W.2d 806 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). When based on carelessness, the carelessness must actually indicate a “wrongful intent” to be disqualifying in nature. Id. Negligence does not constitute misconduct unless recurrent in nature; a single act is not disqualifying unless indicative of a deliberate disregard of the employer’s interests. Henry v. Iowa Dep’t of Job Serv., 391 N.W.2d 731 (Iowa Ct. App. 1986). Further, poor work performance is not misconduct in the absence of evidence of intent. Miller v. Emp’t Appeal Bd., 423 N.W.2d 211 (Iowa Ct. App. 1988).

In this case, the claimant chose to disregard the water test warning when the alert sounded through his headset. Rather than performing the ten minute-long water test, the claimant held the product and waited ten minutes. He then bypassed the quality control measure and sent the product on for packaging and shipping. The claimant admitted to this behavior when asked by the employer. The claimant made the conscious choice, in violation of the employer’s quality standards policy, to override, or skip, the water test 181 times. This type of behavior goes beyond ordinary negligence or mistake and does rise to the level of misconduct. The evidence establishes that the claimant’s actions were a deliberate decision to violate the employer’s quality standards policy disqualifying the claimant from receiving unemployment benefits.

As such, the employer has met its burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Benefits are denied.

Because the claimant has received $0.00 in unemployment benefits since the filing effective date of November 5, 2023, the issues of overpayment and chargeability do not need to be addressed.

DECISION:

The November 30, 2023, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision is reversed. Claimant was discharged from employment for disqualifying misconduct. Benefits are withheld in regards to this employer until such time as claimant is deemed eligible.
