APPEAL 23A-UI-01175-S2-T

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE
DECISION

PILOT TRAVEL CENTERS LLC
Employer

OC: 01/08/23
Claimant: Respondent (2)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct
Iowa Code § 96.5(1) – Voluntary Quit
Iowa Code § 96.3(7) – Recovery of Benefit Overpayment
Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.10 – Employer/Representative Participation Fact-finding Interview

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The employer filed an appeal from the January 30, 2023, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that allowed benefits based upon a finding that claimant was discharged with no evidence of misconduct. The parties were properly notified about the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on February 20, 2023. Claimant Maurice Porter did not participate. Employer Pilot Travel Centers, LLC participated through regional manager Jake Jones. The administrative law judge took official notice of the administrative record.

ISSUES:

Was the claimant discharged for disqualifying job-related misconduct?
Has the claimant been overpaid unemployment insurance benefits, and if so, can the repayment of those benefits to the agency be waived?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Claimant was employed full-time as a maintenance lead from August 25, 2020, and was separated from employment on January 7, 2023, when he was discharged.

On January 1 or 2, 2023, claimant went to employer's facility on his day off. He was unhappy with the condition of the facility and the lack of work completed. He became upset at the employee working at the facility, who was his subordinate. Claimant approached the employee, and while standing approximately six inches away from him his face, yelled at him. The employee had to continue backing up to avoid claimant, but claimant continued to approach him closely while yelling. Claimant said to the employee, "Get the f*ck out of my face, boy." The employee contacted the employee relations hotline after the incident because he felt threatened by claimant. During the investigation, video footage corroborated claimant's conduct. Claimant admitted to making the statement to the employee.

On January 7, 2023, employer discharged claimant for violating its workplace violence policy. The policy prohibits employees from making threatening remarks or demonstrating aggressive or hostile behavior that creates reasonable fear of injury to another person. Claimant was aware of the policy.

The administrative record reflects that claimant has not received any unemployment insurance benefits since filing a claim with an effective date of January 8, 2023. Employer did not participate in the fact-finding interview. It did not participate because the IWD representative did not contact the witness at the number provided to IWD.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes the claimant was discharged from employment due to job-related misconduct.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The disqualification shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979).

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). What constitutes misconduct justifying termination of an employee and what misconduct warrants denial of unemployment insurance benefits are two separate decisions. Pierce v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 425 N.W.2d 679 (Iowa Ct. App. 1988).

Claimant knew or should have known that yelling and making aggressive threats while physically getting close to an employee was not appropriate. As a team lead, claimant was held to a higher standard than other employees. Employer has an interest and duty in protecting the safety of all of its employees. Claimant's threatening conduct and physical aggression were in violation of specific work rules and against commonly known acceptable standards of work behavior. This behavior was contrary to the best interests of employer and the safety of its employees and is disqualifying misconduct even without prior warning. Benefits are denied.

Because no benefits were paid to claimant, the issues of overpayment, repayment and chargeability are moot.

DECISION:

The January 30, 2023, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision is reversed. Claimant was discharged from employment due to job-related misconduct. Benefits are withheld until such time as he has worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times his weekly benefit amount, provided he is otherwise eligible. The issues of overpayment, repayment and chargeability are moot.
