ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE
DECISION

OC: 07/31/22
Claimant: Appellant (1)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

On September 18, 2022, Andresa M. McBirnie (claimant) filed an appeal from the September 8, 2022, reference 03, unemployment insurance decision that denied benefits based upon the determination Grapetree Medical Staffing, Inc. (employer) discharged them for dishonesty in connection with their work. The parties were properly notified about the hearing held by telephone on October 17, 2022, and consolidated with the hearing for appeal 22A-UI-17211-SC-T. The claimant participated. The employer participated through Zach Myer, Senior Human Resource Specialist. No exhibits were offered into the record.

ISSUE:

Did the employer discharge the claimant for job related misconduct?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: The claimant was employed part-time as a Certified Nursing Assistant (CAN) beginning on February 2, 2022, and was separated from employment on April 28, when she was discharged. The employer provides temporary staffing to medical facilities. As part of its time tracking and billing practices, employees submit a daily report with a signature from one of the client's employees verifying that they worked their shift. The employer has a policy that states falsification of documentation is prohibited and will result in discharge. The claimant was aware of the policy.

At the beginning of April, the employer sent an invoice to its client and included the daily reports showing the dates and times worked by the employees. On April 14, the client contacted the employer to notify them that the timesheets submitted by the claimant for February 28, March 9, 10, 11, 18, 21, 24, 31, and April 1 contained signatures from the client's employees with the wrong job titles, specifically whether the person signing was a Registered Nurse (RN) or Licensed Practical Nurse (LPN). The same day via phone message, email, and text, the employer asked the claimant to provide a statement regarding the allegations. The claimant contacted the employer on April 19 and asked for an extension to file her statement.

After conducting its investigation, the employer determined the claimant had falsified the signatures on her daily reports. On April 28, the employer discharged the claimant for falsifying documents which resulted in a lack of trust with the claimant and interference with the relationship between the employer and its client.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the following reasons, the administrative law judge concludes the claimant was discharged from employment due to job-related misconduct. Benefits are denied.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The disqualification shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition of misconduct has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979). The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984).

Misconduct must be "substantial" to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits. Newman v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 351 N.W.2d 806 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). When based on carelessness, the carelessness must actually indicate a "wrongful intent" to be disqualifying in nature. Id. Negligence does not constitute misconduct unless recurrent in nature; a single act is not disqualifying unless indicative of a deliberate disregard of the employer's interests. Henry v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 391 N.W.2d 731 (Iowa Ct. App. 1986).

It is the duty of the administrative law judge as the trier of fact in this case, to determine the credibility of witnesses, weigh the evidence and decide the facts in issue. Arndt v. City of LeClaire, 728 N.W.2d 389, 394-395 (Iowa 2007). The administrative law judge may believe all, part or none of any witness's testimony. State v. Holtz, 548 N.W.2d 162, 163 (Iowa App. 1996). In assessing the credibility of witnesses, the administrative law judge should consider the evidence using his or her own observations, common sense, and experience. Id. When deciding what testimony to believe, the fact finder may consider the following factors: whether the testimony is reasonable and consistent with other believable evidence; whether a witness has made inconsistent statements; the witness's appearance, conduct, age, intelligence, memory, and knowledge of the facts; and the witness's interest in the trial, their motive, candor, bias and prejudice. Id.

The findings of fact show how the disputed factual issues were resolved. After assessing the credibility of the witnesses who testified during the hearing, the reliability of the evidence submitted, considering the applicable factors listed above, and using her own common sense and experience, the administrative law judge attributes more weight to the employer's version of events. The employer provided specific examples of the misconduct including dates of the incidents and the specific nature of the alleged misconduct. In the medical field, an employee signing their name would correctly identify if they were an RN or LPN. The claimant was hesitant to respond directly to questions related to the allegations and her blanket denial is not persuasive.

The employer has met the burden of proof to establish that the claimant acted deliberately or with recurrent negligence in violation of company policy, procedure, or prior warning. The employer has an interest in trusting its employees and maintaining a good relationship with its clients. The claimant's conduct was a deliberate disregard of the employer's interests and is disqualifying without prior warning. Benefits are denied.

DECISION:

The September 8, 2022, reference 03, unemployment insurance decision is affirmed. The claimant was discharged from employment due to job-related misconduct. Benefits are withheld until such time as she has worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times her weekly benefit amount, provided she is otherwise eligible.
