Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

Raymond W. Bryngelson, the claimant/appellant,<sup>1</sup> appealed the Iowa Workforce Development (IWD) April 2, 2024 (reference 01) unemployment insurance (UI) decision. IWD denied Mr. Bryngelson REGULAR (state) UI benefits because IWD concluded the employer discharged him from employment on February 29, 2024 for sleeping on the job. On April 11, 2024, the Iowa Department of Inspections, Appeals, and Licensing (DIAL), UI Appeals Bureau mailed a notice of hearing to Mr. Bryngelson and the employer for a telephone hearing scheduled for April 29, 2024.

The administrative law judge held a telephone hearing on April 29, 2024. Mr. Bryngelson participated in the hearing personally. The employer did not participate in the hearing. The administrative law judge admitted Claimant's Exhibit A as evidence.

The administrative law judge concludes Mr. Bryngelson is eligible for UI benefits since the employer has not established that he engaged in misconduct.

ISSUE:

Did the employer discharge Mr. Bryngelson from employment for disqualifying, job-related misconduct?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Mr. Bryngelson began working for the employer in August 2022. He worked as a full-time assistant project manager/estimator. His employment ended on February 29, 2024.

On February 29, Mr. Bryngelson's boss came to his office and told him that his employment was over for sleeping on the job. Mr. Bryngelson was surprised as he had no memory of sleeping at work. The boss explained that he had seen Mr. Bryngelson sleeping a few days earlier. Mr. Bryngelson responded that his doctor had increased his prescription medicine dosage the previous week and a side effect of the medicine was drowsiness. The boss reconsidered the situation but came to the same conclusion.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes the employer discharged Mr. Bryngelson from employment on February 29, 2024 for a reason that does not disqualify him from receiving UI benefits.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)(a) and (d) provide, in relevant part:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The individual shall be disqualified for benefits until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

d. For the purposes of this subsection, "misconduct" means a deliberate act or omission by an employee that constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of the employee's contract of employment. Misconduct is limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(4) provides:

(4) Report required. The claimant's statement and employer's statement must give detailed facts as to the specific reason for the claimant's discharge. Allegations of misconduct or dishonesty without additional evidence shall not be sufficient to result in disqualification. If the employer is unwilling to furnish available evidence to corroborate the allegation, misconduct cannot be established. In cases where a suspension or disciplinary layoff exists, the claimant is considered as discharged, and the issue of misconduct shall be resolved.

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct.<sup>2</sup> The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating the claimant from employment, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits.<sup>3</sup> Misconduct must be "substantial" to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits.<sup>4</sup>

In an at-will employment environment an employer may discharge an employee for any number of reasons or no reason at all if it is not contrary to public policy, but if it fails to meet its burden of proof to establish job related misconduct as the reason for the separation, it incurs potential liability for unemployment insurance benefits related to that separation. A determination as to whether an employee's act is misconduct does not rest solely on the interpretation or application of the employer's policy or rule. A violation of the employer's policy or rule is not necessarily disqualifying misconduct even if the employer was fully within its rights to impose discipline up to or including discharge for the incident under its policy.

In this case, the employer did not participate in the hearing and provided no evidence of disqualifying, job-related misconduct on the part of Mr. Bryngelson. Mr. Bryngelson denies intentionally sleeping at work. Since the employer has not established disqualifying job-related misconduct on the part of Mr. Bryngelson, he is eligible for UI benefits.

DECISION:

The April 2, 2024 (reference 01) UI decision is REVERSED. The employer discharged Mr. Bryngelson from employment on February 29, 2024 for a reason that does not disqualify him from receiving UI benefits. Mr. Bryngelson is eligible for REGULAR (state) UI benefits, as long as no other decision denies him UI benefits.
