ADMINISTRATIVE HEARINGS DIVISION, UI APPEALS BUREAU

APPEAL 23A-UI-03269-PT-T

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE
DECISION

WALMART INC
Employer

OC: 02/12/23
Claimant: Respondent (1)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge
Iowa Code § 96.3(7) – Overpayment of Benefits
Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.10 – Employer Participation in Fact-finding Interview

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

Employer filed an appeal from a decision of a representative dated March 15, 2023, (reference 02) that held claimant eligible for unemployment insurance benefits. After due notice, a telephonic hearing was scheduled for and held on May 1, 2023. The claimant failed to respond to the hearing notice and did not participate. Employer participated through TALX UC Express Representative Caitlin Schrier. Employer's Exhibits 1 – 5 were admitted into evidence. The administrative law judge took official notice of the administrative record.

ISSUES:

Was the claimant discharged for disqualifying, job-related misconduct?
Has the claimant been overpaid any unemployment insurance benefits, and if so, can the repayment of those benefits to the agency be waived?
Can any charges to the employer's account be waived?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

The administrative law judge, having heard the testimony and considered all of the evidence in the record, finds: Claimant last worked for the employer on February 10, 2023. The employer purportedly discharged claimant on February 10, 2023, due to unsatisfactory work performance.

Claimant was employed as the full-time overnight stocking TA from June 30, 2021, until her employment with Walmart Inc. ended on February 10, 2023. The employer has a written employee manual that contains a disciplinary action policy. At some point, the employer verbally informed the claimant of the policy.

On January 29, 2023, the employer issued claimant a disciplinary warning for failing to meet her stocking expectations on Saturday, January 20 and Friday, January 26, 2023. The warning instructed claimant that the employer expected her to meet her stocking expectations moving forward. On February 10, 2023, claimant purportedly failed to meet her stocking expectations. Later that same day, the employer informed claimant that her employment was being terminated effective immediately due to unsatisfactory work performance.

Claimant's administrative records indicate that claimant filed her original claim for benefits with an effective date of February 12, 2023, and a weekly-continued claim for benefits for the one week ending March 4, 2023. Claimant has received no unemployment insurance benefits since filing her original claim. Testimony at hearing and the administrative record indicates that the employer did not participate in the fact-finding interview.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes the claimant was discharged for no disqualifying reason. Benefits are allowed.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:
 - a. The disqualification shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)(a) provides:

- a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition of misconduct has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Reigelsberger v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 500 N.W.2d 64, 66 (Iowa 1993); accord Lee v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 616 N.W.2d 661, 665 (Iowa 2000).

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(4) provides:

- (4) Report required. The claimant's statement and employer's statement must give detailed facts as to the specific reason for the claimant's discharge. Allegations of misconduct or dishonesty without additional evidence shall not be sufficient to result in disqualification. If the employer is unwilling to furnish available evidence to corroborate the allegation, misconduct cannot be established. In cases where a suspension or disciplinary layoff exists, the claimant is considered as discharged, and the issue of misconduct shall be resolved.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(8) provides:

(8) Past acts of misconduct. While past acts and warnings can be used to determine the magnitude of a current act of misconduct, a discharge for misconduct cannot be based on such past act or acts. The termination of employment must be based on a current act.

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job-related misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). What constitutes misconduct justifying termination of an employee and what misconduct warrants denial of unemployment insurance benefits are two separate decisions. Pierce v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 425 N.W.2d 679 (Iowa Ct. App. 1988). Misconduct serious enough to warrant discharge is not necessarily serious enough to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits. Such misconduct must be "substantial." Newman v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 351 N.W.2d 806 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). The gravity of the incident, number of policy violations and prior warnings are factors considered when analyzing misconduct. The lack of a current warning may detract from a finding of an intentional policy violation.

When based on carelessness, the carelessness must actually indicate a "wrongful intent" to be disqualifying in nature. Id. Negligence does not constitute misconduct unless recurrent in nature; a single act is not disqualifying unless indicative of a deliberate disregard of the employer's interests. Henry v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 391 N.W.2d 731 (Iowa Ct. App. 1986). Poor work performance is not misconduct in the absence of evidence of intent. Miller v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 423 N.W.2d 211 (Iowa Ct. App. 1988). Generally, continued refusal to follow reasonable instructions constitutes misconduct. Gilliam v. Atlantic Bottling Co., 453 N.W.2d 230 (Iowa Ct. App. 1990); however, "Balky and argumentative" conduct is not necessarily disqualifying. City of Des Moines v. Picray, (No. 85-919, Iowa Ct. App. Filed June 25, 1986).

Claimant was discharged based on a bare, unsupported allegation of unsatisfactory work performance. The employer has provided no evidence or testimony explaining how claimant's work performance allegedly failed to meet expectations. Allegations of misconduct or dishonesty without additional evidence shall not be sufficient to result in disqualification. Absent any evidence corroborating the employer's allegation, the administrative law judge concludes the employer has not met the burden of proof to establish that claimant was discharged for disqualifying, job-related misconduct. As such, benefits are allowed provided claimant is otherwise eligible.

Because the separation is not disqualifying, the issues of overpayment, repayment, and participation are moot.

DECISION:

The decision of the representative dated March 15, 2023 (reference 02) is affirmed. Claimant is eligible to receive unemployment insurance benefits, provided claimant meets all other eligibility requirements. The issues of overpayment, repayment, and participation are moot.
