Section 96.5-2-a – Discharge for Misconduct

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The claimant appealed an unemployment insurance decision dated June 22, 2005, reference 01, that concluded the claimant's discharge was for work-connected misconduct. A telephone hearing was held on July 21, 2005. The claimant participated in the hearing. Julie Millard participated in the hearing on behalf of the employer with a witness Marcia Ranney.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

The claimant worked for the employer as a forklift operator from April 21, 2003, to June 8, 2005. The claimant was informed and understood that under the employer's work rules, employees were required to submit to a drug test under certain circumstances, including when an employee is involved in a work-related accident, and were subject to termination if they tested positive for drugs.

Pursuant to the policy, the claimant was required to submit to a drug test on May 26, 2005, after another employee collided with the load. A urine sample was properly taken from the claimant and properly analyzed using an initial drug screen test and subsequent confirmatory test by a laboratory. The analysis disclosed the presence of marijuana in the claimant's system at a level that would demonstrate the claimant had used marijuana in violation of the employer's policy. The employer discharged the claimant on June 8, 2005, after it received the results of the drug test. At that time, the claimant was notified in writing about the positive test result for marijuana and that he had the right to have a confirmatory test conducted on the split sample.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

The issue in this case is whether the claimant was discharged for work-connected misconduct as defined by the unemployment insurance law.

Iowa Code section 96.5-2-a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The individual shall be disqualified for benefits until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

871 IAC 24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Department of Job Service, 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979).

The claimant's violation of a known work rule was a willful and material breach of the duties and obligations to the employer and a substantial disregard of the standards of behavior the employer had the right to expect of the claimant. Work-connected misconduct as defined by the unemployment insurance law has been established in this case.

DECISION:

The unemployment insurance decision dated June 22, 2005, reference 01, is affirmed. The claimant is disqualified from receiving unemployment insurance benefits until he has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times his weekly benefit amount, provided he is otherwise eligible.
