DERIUS L MOORE

Claimant

APPEAL NO. 23A-UI-05394-JT-T

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE DECISION

TYSON FRESH MEATS INC

Employer

OC: 10/23/22

Claimant: Respondent (1)

Iowa Code Section 96.5(2)(a) & (d) – Discharge

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

On May 23, 2023, the employer filed a timely appeal from the May 15, 2023 (reference 07) decision that allowed benefits to the claimant, provided the claimant met all other eligibility requirements, and that held the employer's account could be charged for benefits, based on the deputy's conclusion that the claimant was discharged on August 2, 2023 for no disqualifying reason. After due notice was issued, a hearing was held on June 13, 2023. Derius Moore (claimant) did not comply with the hearing notice instructions to call the designated toll-free number at the time of the hearing and did not participate. Billy Gibson, Human Resources Business Partner, represented the employer. The administrative law judge took official notice of the Agency's record of benefits disbursed to the claimant. The administrative law judge took official notice of the SIDES protest and fact-finding materials for the limited purpose of determining whether the employer participated in the fact-finding interview and, if not, whether the claimant engaged in fraud or intentional misrepresentation in connection with the fact-finding interview. The SIDES protest materials from the November 9, 2022 protest were available at the time of the hearing. The fact-finding materials pertaining to the May 12, 2023 fact-finding interview were not available at the time of the hearing.

ISSUE:

Whether the claimant was discharged for misconduct in connection with the employment.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Derius Moore (claimant) was employed by Tyson Fresh Meats, Inc. as a full-time hog production line laborer from June 21, 2022 until August 1, 2022, when the employer discharged him for attendance. The claimant worked at the employer's Columbus Junction plant. The claimant was assigned to the 6:15 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. shift.

If the claimant needed to be absent from work, the employer's written attendance policy required that the claimant call a designated and automated absence reporting number prior to the start of his shift and provide absence information in response to the automated prompts. The employer reviewed the attendance and absence reporting policy with the claimant during orientation and provided the claimant with a pamphlet containing relevant information. The employer issued an ID badge to the claimant. The absence reporting telephone number was set forth on the back of the ID.

The final absence that factored in the discharge occurred on July 29, 2023, when the claimant was absent due illness and with proper notice to the claimant.

The claimant was also absent due to illness and with proper notice to the employer on July 18, 25, 26 and 28, 2023. The claimant had returned to work between the July 18 and July 25 absences.

The claimant was absent without notice to the employer on July 27, 2023.

The employer did not issue warnings to the claimant for attendance prior to discharging him from the employment on August 1, 2023.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)(a) and (d) provides as follows:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The disqualification shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

d. For the purposes of this subsection, "misconduct" means a deliberate act or omission by an employee that constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of the employee's contract of employment. Misconduct is limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. Misconduct by an individual includes but is not limited to all of the following:

...

(2) Knowing violation of a reasonable and uniformly enforced rule of an employer.

...

(9) Excessive unexcused tardiness or absenteeism.

...

(14) Intentional misrepresentation of time worked or work carried out that results in the individual receiving unearned wages or unearned benefits.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)(a) provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979). The Legislature recently codified the misconduct definition along with a list of types of disqualifying misconduct. See Iowa Code section 96.5(2)(d).

The employer has the burden of proof in this matter. See Iowa Code section 96.6(2). Misconduct must be substantial in order to justify a denial of unemployment benefits. Misconduct serious enough to warrant the discharge of an employee is not necessarily serious enough to warrant a denial of unemployment benefits. See Lee v. Employment Appeal Board, 616 N.W.2d 661 (Iowa 2000). The focus is on deliberate, intentional, or culpable acts by the employee. See Gimbel v. Employment Appeal Board, 489 N.W.2d 36, 39 (Iowa Ct. App. 1992).

While past acts and warnings can be used to determine the magnitude of the current act of misconduct, a discharge for misconduct cannot be based on such past act(s). The termination of employment must be based on a current act. See Iowa Admin. Code r.871-24.32(8). In determining whether the conduct that prompted the discharge constituted a "current act," the administrative law judge considers the date on which the conduct came to the attention of the employer and the date on which the employer notified the claimant that the conduct subjected the claimant to possible discharge. See also Greene v. EAB, 426 N.W.2d 659, 662 (Iowa App. 1988).

Allegations of misconduct or dishonesty without additional evidence shall not be sufficient to result in disqualification. If the employer is unwilling to furnish available evidence to corroborate the allegation, misconduct cannot be established. See 871 IAC 24.32(4).

In order for a claimant's absences to constitute misconduct that would disqualify the claimant from receiving unemployment insurance benefits, the evidence must establish that the claimant's unexcused absences were excessive. See Iowa Administrative Code rule 871-24.32(7). The determination of whether absenteeism is excessive necessarily requires consideration of past acts and warnings. However, the evidence must first establish that the most recent absence that prompted the decision to discharge the employee was unexcused. See Iowa Administrative Code rule 871-24.32(8). Absences related to issues of personal responsibility such as transportation and oversleeping are considered unexcused. On the other hand, absences related to illness are considered excused, provided the employee has complied with the employer's policy regarding notifying the employer of the absence. Tardiness is a form of absence. See Higgins v. Iowa Department of Job Service, 350 N.W.2d 187 (Iowa 1984). Employers may not graft on additional requirements to what is an excused absence under the law. See Gaborit v. Employment Appeal Board, 743 N.W.2d 554 (Iowa Ct. App. 2007). For example, an employee's failure to provide a doctor's note in connection with an absence that was due to illness properly reported to the employer will not alter the fact that such an illness would be an excused absence under the law. Gaborit, 743 N.W.2d at 557.

The evidence in the record establishes an August 1, 2023 discharge for no disqualifying reason. All of the absences the employer considered, but for the no-call/no-show absence on July 27, 2023, were due to illness, were properly reported to the employer, and were excused absences under the applicable law. The excused absences cannot be considered against the claimant when determining eligibility for unemployment insurance benefits. The excused absences included the July 29, 2023 final absence. Because the final absence that factored in the discharge was an excused absence under the applicable law, the evidence fails to establish a "current act" of misconduct and the administrative law judge need not further consider the other absences that factored in the discharge. In any event, the evidence establishes only a single unexcused absence with no aggravating factors, rather than excessive unexcused absences. The claimant is eligible for benefits, provided he is otherwise eligible. The employer's account may be charged for benefits.

DECISION:

The May 15, 2023 (reference 07) decision is AFFIRMED. The claimant was discharged for no disqualifying reason. The discharge occurred on August 1, 2022. The claimant is eligible for benefits, provided he is otherwise eligible. The employer's account may be charged.
