APPEAL 22A-UI-08514-SN-T
ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE
DECISION

OC: 03/06/22
Claimant: Appellant (2)

Iowa Code § 96.5(1) – Voluntary Quit
Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.26(4) – Intolerable working conditions

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The claimant filed an appeal from the April 1, 2022, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that denied benefits based upon her voluntary resignation. The parties were properly notified about the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on May 17, 2022. Claimant participated and testified. The employer did not participate. Official notice was taken of the administrative records.

ISSUE:

Was the separation a layoff, discharge for misconduct or voluntary quit without good cause attributable to the employer?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds:

The claimant was employed full-time as a collections specialist from early September 2021, until she was separated from employment on March 7, 2022, when she quit. The claimant's immediate supervisor was Supervisor Jessica Staggs.

The employer has a policy that partially paid for employees who are experiencing technical issues attributable to the employer. If an employee is unable to login to their applications due to their own Internet problems, then they are not paid.

In the week before her resignation, the claimant attempted to log on her work computer. The claimant could not access any of the applications to perform her work. In that final week, the claimant informed Ms. Staggs and the Information Technology Department of this problem. The claimant was told that the issue was due to her Internet provider, Windstream. The claimant called Windstream. Windstream said the claimant's Internet service was functioning. The claimant informed Ms. Staggs and the IT Department of Windstream's conclusions. Ms. Staggs and the IT Department remained resolute in their determination that the cause of the issue was due to the claimant's Internet provider. The claimant is ordinarily paid approximately $800.00 a week. Ms. Staggs informed the claimant that she would not be paid even partially for the period she was experiencing this issue because the employer thought it was due to Windstream.

On March 7, 2022, the claimant quit because Ms. Staggs and the IT Department did not appear to know how to solve the problem. Furthermore, the claimant had no hope of receiving even partial payment unless or until this issue was solved.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes claimant's separation from the employment was with good cause attributable to the employer.

Iowa Code §96.5(1) provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

1. Voluntary quitting. If the individual has left work voluntarily without good cause attributable to the individual's employer, if so found by the department.

Claimant had an intention to quit and carried out that intention by tendering a written resignation. As such, claimant has the burden of proving that the voluntary leaving was for good cause attributable to the employer. Iowa Code § 96.6(2). "Good cause" for leaving employment must be that which is reasonable to the average person, not the overly sensitive individual or the claimant in particular. Uniweld Products v. Indus. Relations Comm'n, 277 So.2d 827 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1973).

"Good cause attributable to the employer" does not require fault, negligence, wrongdoing or bad faith by the employer. Dehmel v. Employment Appeal Bd., 433 N.W.2d 700, 702 (Iowa 1988)("[G]ood cause attributable to the employer can exist even though the employer is free from all negligence or wrongdoing in connection therewith"); Shontz v. Iowa Employment Sec. Commission, 248 N.W.2d 88, 91 (Iowa 1976)(benefits payable even though employer "free from fault"); Raffety v. Iowa Employment Security Commission, 76 N.W.2d 787, 788 (Iowa 1956)("The good cause attributable to the employer need not be based upon a fault or wrong of such employer."). Good cause may be attributable to "the employment itself" rather than the employer personally and still satisfy the requirements of the Act. Raffety, 76 N.W.2d at 788 (Iowa 1956).

The claimant contends that she voluntarily quit due to intolerable working conditions because she was not able to access her equipment and she had no reasonable expectation of getting paid unless or until this issue was fixed. As such, if claimant establishes that she left due to intolerable or detrimental or unsafe working conditions, benefits would be allowed.

Generally, notice of an intent to quit is required by Cobb v. Employment Appeal Board, 506 N.W.2d 445, 447-78 (Iowa 1993), Suluki v. Employment Appeal Bd., 503 N.W.2d 402, 405 (Iowa 1993), and Swanson v. Employment Appeal Bd., 554 N.W.2d 294, 296 (Iowa Ct. App. 1996). These cases require an employee to give an employer notice of intent to quit, thus giving the employer an opportunity to cure working conditions. Accordingly, in 1995, the Iowa Administrative Code was amended to include an intent-to-quit requirement. The requirement was only added, however, to rule 871-24.26(6)(b), the provision addressing work-related health problems. No intent-to-quit requirement was added to rule 871-24.26(4), the intolerable working conditions provision. Our supreme court concluded that, because the intent-to-quit requirement was added to 871-24.26(6)(b) but not 871-24.26(4), notice of intent to quit is not required for intolerable working conditions. Hy-Vee, Inc. v. Employment Appeal Bd., 710 N.W.2d 1 (Iowa 2005).

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.26(4) provides:

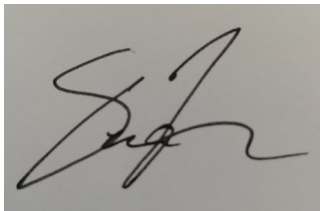

Voluntary quit with good cause attributable to the employer and separations not considered to be voluntary quits. The following are reasons for a claimant leaving employment with good cause attributable to the employer:

(4) The claimant left due to intolerable or detrimental working conditions.

The administrative law judge finds the claimant quit due to intolerable working conditions. At the time of the claimant's resignation, she could not access the equipment necessary to work her position and she was told she would not be paid unless or until the issue was fixed. These are intolerable working conditions because a reasonable worker would find continuing to work for an employer who does not provide functioning equipment intolerable. Furthermore, the claimant was not paid on time and has no expectation to be paid even partially any time in the future. Benefits are granted.

DECISION:

The April 1, 2022, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision is reversed. The claimant quit with good cause attributable to the employer. Benefits are granted, provided she is otherwise eligible.
