APPEAL 22A-UI-11155-AD-T

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE
DECISION

WALMART INC
Employer

OC: 04/03/22
Claimant: Respondent (2)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct
Iowa Code § 96.5(1) – Voluntary Quitting
Iowa Code § 96.3(7) – Recovery of Benefit Overpayment
Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.10 – Employer/Representative Participation Fact-finding Interview

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

On May 2, 2022, Walmart Inc. (employer/appellant) filed an appeal from the Iowa Workforce Development (“IWD”) decision dated April 22, 2022 (reference 01) that allowed unemployment insurance benefits based on a finding that claimant was dismissed from work on April 7, 2022 without a showing of misconduct.

A telephone hearing was held on June 16, 2022. The parties were properly notified of the hearing. Employer participated by Store Manager Angela Swanson. Asset Protection Operations Lead Roger Kruger participated as a witness for employer. Terrell Peters (claimant/respondent) did not appear or participate. Employer’s Exhibits 1-4 were admitted. Official notice was taken of the administrative record.

ISSUE(S):

- I. Was the separation a layoff, discharge for misconduct, or voluntary quit without good cause?
- II. Was the claimant overpaid benefits? Should claimant repay benefits or should employer be charged due to employer participation in fact finding?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds:

Claimant worked for employer as a part-time overnight stocking team associate. Claimant’s first day of employment was September 2, 2021. The last day claimant worked on the job was April 1 to April 2, 2022. Claimant’s immediate supervisor was Overnight Stocking Coach Taylor Sohn. Claimant separated from employment on April 7, 2022. Claimant was discharged on that date.

Claimant was discharged for violating employer’s violence-free workplace policy. Employer’s policy prohibits “any form of violence or threat of violence in or affecting the workplace, other associates, customers/members, or suppliers/vendors.” Claimant violated the policy when during a lunch break he jumped on the hood of a car driven by another employee, shook the car, and approached the driver’s side door in a threatening manner. The other employee reported this incident and employer was able to confirm it through store video. The brief delay in discharging claimant was due to the investigation and employer wishing to take claimant’s statement prior to concluding the investigation. Claimant did not respond to employer’s many attempts to contact him for a statement.

Claimant has not received unemployment insurance benefits since the date of separation.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons set forth below, the decision dated April 22, 2022 (reference 01) that allowed unemployment insurance benefits based on a finding that claimant was dismissed from work on April 7, 2022 without a showing of misconduct is REVERSED.

- I. Was the separation a layoff, discharge for misconduct, or voluntary quit without good cause?

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual’s wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:
 - a. The disqualification shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32 provides in relevant part:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

- a. “Misconduct” is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Dep’t of Job Serv., 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979).

The employer bears the burden of proving that a claimant is disqualified from receiving benefits because of substantial misconduct within the meaning of Iowa Code section 96.5(2). Myers v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 462 N.W.2d 734, 737 (Iowa Ct. App. 1990). The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). What constitutes misconduct justifying termination of an employee and what misconduct warrants denial of unemployment insurance benefits are two separate decisions. Pierce v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 425 N.W.2d 679 (Iowa Ct. App. 1988).

Misconduct serious enough to warrant discharge is not necessarily serious enough to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits. Such misconduct must be "substantial." Newman v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 351 N.W.2d 806 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). The focus is on deliberate, intentional, or culpable acts by the employee. When based on carelessness, the carelessness must actually indicate a "wrongful intent" to be disqualifying in nature. Newman, Id. In contrast, mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute. Newman, Id.

When reviewing an alleged act of misconduct, the finder of fact may consider past acts of misconduct to determine the magnitude of the current act. Kelly v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 386 N.W.2d 552, 554 (Iowa Ct. App. 1986). However, conduct asserted to be disqualifying misconduct must be both specific and current. West v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 489 N.W.2d 731 (Iowa 1992); Greene v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 426 N.W.2d 659 (Iowa Ct. App. 1988).

Because our unemployment compensation law is designed to protect workers from financial hardships when they become unemployed through no fault of their own, we construe the provisions "liberally to carry out its humane and beneficial purpose." Bridgestone/Firestone, Inc. v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 570 N.W.2d 85, 96 (Iowa 1997). "[C]ode provisions which operate to work a forfeiture of benefits are strongly construed in favor of the claimant." Diggs v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 478 N.W.2d 432, 434 (Iowa Ct. App. 1991).

Employer has carried its burden of proving claimant is disqualified from receiving benefits because of a current act of substantial misconduct within the meaning of Iowa Code section 96.5(2). The conduct leading to discharge was a "deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment." The brief delay in discharging did not make the final incident a non-current act. Claimant is therefore disqualified from benefits effective with the date of separation.

Claimant has not received unemployment insurance benefits since the date of separation. As such the issues of overpayment and repayment need not be addressed.

DECISION:

The decision dated April 22, 2022 (reference 01) that allowed unemployment insurance benefits based on a finding that claimant was dismissed from work on April 7, 2022 without a showing of misconduct is REVERSED. Claimant's separation from employment was disqualifying. Benefits must be denied, and employer's account shall not be charged. This disqualification shall continue until claimant has earned wages for insured work equal to ten times claimant's weekly benefit amount, provided claimant is not otherwise disqualified or ineligible.
