Iowa Code §96.5(2)a-Discharge/Misconduct
Iowa Code § 96.3(7) – Recovery of Benefit Overpayment
Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.10 – Employer/Representative Participation Fact-finding Interview

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

On July 12, 2023, the employer/appellant filed an appeal from the July 5, 2023, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that allowed benefits based on claimant being dismissed on February 20, 2023. The Iowa Workforce Development representative determined there was no evidence of willful or deliberate misconduct. The parties were properly notified about the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on July 31, 2023. Claimant participated. Employer participated through Regional Manager of Operations-Midwest, Jeremy Larsen. Administrative Assistant, Kathy Bond, testified on behalf of the employer. Employer's Exhibits 1 and 2 were admitted into the record. Administrative notice was taken of claimant's unemployment insurance benefits records.

ISSUES:

- I. Was the separation a layoff, discharge for misconduct, or voluntary quit without good cause?
- II. Should claimant repay benefits?
- III. Should the employer be charged due to employer participation in fact finding?
- IV. Is the claimant overpaid benefits?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

It is the duty of the administrative law judge as the trier of fact in this case, to determine the credibility of witnesses, weigh the evidence and decide the facts in issue. Arndt v. City of LeClaire, 728 N.W.2d 389, 394-395 (Iowa 2007). The administrative law judge may believe all, part or none of any witness's testimony. State v. Holtz, 548 N.W.2d 162, 163 (Iowa App. 1996). In assessing the credibility of witnesses, the administrative law judge should consider the evidence using his or her own observations, common sense and experience. Id. In determining the facts, and deciding what testimony to believe, the fact finder may consider the following factors: whether the testimony is reasonable and consistent with other believable evidence; whether a witness has made inconsistent statements; the witness's appearance, conduct, age, intelligence, memory and knowledge of the facts; and the witness's interest in the trial, their motive, candor, bias and prejudice. Id.

After assessing the credibility of the witnesses who testified during the hearing, considering the applicable factors listed above, and using her own common sense and experience, the administrative law judge finds the following:

Claimant began working for employer on February 17, 2014. Claimant last worked as a full-time lead manufacturing tech 4. Claimant last performed work for the employer on November 17, 2022, due to going on medical leave.

The employer has a policy that states: "Team members may not remove company property from company premises or otherwise use company property for outside employment or personal purposes without preauthorization from the supervisor. Unauthorized possession or use of company property may result in corrective action up to and including termination of employment. All company property must be returned upon separation from employment or the team member may be subject to legal action." Claimant denies being informed of this policy.

Claimant works for the employer and also owns a scrap metal business. Claimant and the employer have a history of claimant taking the scrap metal and claimant buying it. Claimant gives the employer money for the scrap metal he takes from the employer. A couple years ago Mr. Larsen observed claimant taking scrap metal off of the employer's premises. Mr. Larsen warned claimant that he could no longer take scrap metal off the employer's premises unless he had the approval of the plant manager, Mike Francis.

Claimant's brother notified him that the employer's scrap metal bin was overflowing and needed emptied. Claimant's brother is a supervisor for the employer but is not claimant's supervisor. On February 28, 2023, while claimant was still on medical leave, claimant was observed by another employee taking scrap metal off of the employer's premises at 6:40 p.m.

On March 3, 2023, the employer contacted claimant about the scrap metal. Claimant admitted he used the employer's forklift to transfer the scrap metal into his vehicle and took it off the employer's property. On March 16, 2023, claimant brought the employer a check for the scrap metal. On March 20, 2023, claimant was discharged by the employer for dishonesty and for theft of company property. (Exhibit 1 and 2).

Claimant filed for benefits the week of June 11, 2023. Claimant's gross weekly benefit amount is $572.00. Claimant has received a gross total of $1,630.20 in unemployment insurance benefits for the weeks between July 2, 2023 through July 22, 2023.

The employer received a notice of fact-finding interview with Iowa Workforce Development (IWD) scheduled for July 3, 2023 at 3:20 p.m. The employer called the number at the time of the interview but no one answered. IWD called employer's number at 4:06 p.m. and left a voice mail for the employer to call them within the half hour. The employer called IWD within the half hour and the representative did not answer the employer's phone call.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes the claimant was discharged from employment due to job-related misconduct. Benefits are denied.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The individual shall be disqualified for benefits until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)d(2) and (13) provide:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

d. For the purposes of this subsection, "misconduct" means a deliberate act or omission by an employee that constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of the employee's contract of employment. Misconduct is limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. Misconduct by an individual includes but is not limited to all of the following:

(2) Knowing violation of a reasonable and uniformly enforced rule of an employer.

(13) Theft of an employer or coworker's funds or property.

871 IAC 24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Department of Job Service, 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979).

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). Misconduct must be "substantial" to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits. Newman v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 351 N.W.2d 806 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). Negligence does not constitute misconduct unless recurrent in nature; a single act is not disqualifying unless indicative of a deliberate disregard of the employer's interests. Henry v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 391 N.W.2d 731 (Iowa Ct. App. 1986).

In this case claimant had been notified by Mr. Larsen that he could not take company property unless he got prior authorization from the plant manager Mike Francis. Claimant did not get approval and went to the employer's property while he was on medical leave to get the scrap metal. Taking company property off of the premises without receiving the proper authorization is theft from the employer. Theft from an employer is generally disqualifying misconduct. Ringland Johnson, Inc. v. Hunecke, 585 N.W.2d 269, 272 (Iowa 1998). In this case, the claimant deliberately disregarded the employer's interest and knowingly violated a company policy after being warned. Benefits are denied.

Because claimant's separation was disqualifying, benefits were paid to him which he was not entitled. The administrative law judge finds claimant has been overpaid state unemployment insurance benefits in the amount of $1,630.20 for three weeks between July 2, 2023 and July 22, 2023. Claimant is not required to repay the regular state unemployment benefits because the employer did not participate in the fact-finding interview.

Iowa Code section 96.3(7)a-b, as amended in 2008, provides, in pertinent part :

7. Recovery of overpayment of benefits.

a. If an individual receives benefits for which the individual is subsequently determined to be ineligible, even though the individual acts in good faith and is not otherwise at fault, the benefits shall be recovered. The department in its discretion may recover the overpayment of benefits either by having a sum equal to the overpayment deducted from any future benefits payable to the individual or by having the individual pay to the department a sum equal to the overpayment.

b. (1) (a) If the department determines that an overpayment has been made, the charge for the overpayment against the employer's account shall be removed and the account shall be credited with an amount equal to the overpayment from the unemployment compensation trust fund and this credit shall include both contributory and reimbursable employers, notwithstanding section 96.8, subsection 5. The employer shall not be relieved of charges if benefits are paid because the employer or an agent of the employer failed to respond timely or adequately to the department's request for information relating to the payment of benefits. This prohibition against relief of charges shall apply to both contributory and reimbursable employers. If the department determines that an employer's failure to respond timely or adequately was due to insufficient notification from the department, the employer's account shall not be charged for the overpayment.

(b) However, provided the benefits were not received as the result of fraud or willful misrepresentation by the individual, benefits shall not be recovered from an individual if the employer did not participate in the initial determination to award benefits pursuant to section 96.6, subsection 2, and an overpayment occurred because of a subsequent reversal on appeal regarding the issue of the individual's separation from employment.

(2) An accounting firm, agent, unemployment insurance accounting firm, or other entity that represents an employer in unemployment claim matters and demonstrates a continuous pattern of failing to participate in the initial determinations to award benefits, as determined and defined by rule by the department, shall be denied permission by the department to represent any employers in unemployment insurance matters. This subparagraph does not apply to attorneys or counselors admitted to practice in the courts of this state pursuant to section 602.10101.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.10 provides:

Employer and employer representative participation in fact-finding interviews.

(1) "Participate," as the term is used for employers in the context of the initial determination to award benefits pursuant to Iowa Code section 96.6, subsection 2, means submitting detailed factual information of the quantity and quality that if unrebutted would be sufficient to result in a decision favorable to the employer. The most effective means to participate is to provide live testimony at the interview from a witness with firsthand knowledge of the events leading to the separation. If no live testimony is provided, the employer must provide the name and telephone number of an employee with firsthand information who may be contacted, if necessary, for rebuttal. A party may also participate by providing detailed written statements or documents that provide detailed factual information of the events leading to separation. At a minimum, the information provided by the employer or the employer's representative must identify the dates and particular circumstances of the incident or incidents, including, in the case of discharge, the act or omissions of the claimant or, in the event of a voluntary separation, the stated reason for the quit. The specific rule or policy must be submitted if the claimant was discharged for violating such rule or policy. In the case of discharge for attendance violations, the information must include the circumstances of all incidents the employer or the employer's representative contends meet the definition of unexcused absences as set forth in 871—subrule 24.32(7). On the other hand, written or oral statements or general conclusions without supporting detailed factual information and information submitted after the fact-finding decision has been issued are not considered participation within the meaning of the statute.

(2) "A continuous pattern of nonparticipation in the initial determination to award benefits," pursuant to Iowa Code section 96.6, subsection 2, as the term is used for an entity representing employers, means on 25 or more occasions in a calendar quarter beginning with the first calendar quarter of 2009, the entity files appeals after failing to participate. Appeals filed but withdrawn before the day of the contested case hearing will not be considered in determining if a continuous pattern of nonparticipation exists. The division administrator shall notify the employer's representative in writing after each such appeal.

(3) If the division administrator finds that an entity representing employers as defined in Iowa Code section 96.6, subsection 2, has engaged in a continuous pattern of nonparticipation, the division administrator shall suspend said representative for a period of up to six months on the first occasion, up to one year on the second occasion and up to ten years on the third or subsequent occasion. Suspension by the division administrator constitutes final agency action and may be appealed pursuant to Iowa Code section 17A.19.

(4) "Fraud or willful misrepresentation by the individual," as the term is used for claimants in the context of the initial determination to award benefits pursuant to Iowa Code section 96.6, subsection 2, means providing knowingly false statements or knowingly false denials of material facts for the purpose of obtaining unemployment insurance benefits. Statements or denials may be either oral or written by the claimant. Inadvertent misstatements or mistakes made in good faith are not considered fraud or willful misrepresentation.

This rule is intended to implement Iowa Code section 96.3(7)"b" as amended by 2008 Iowa Acts, Senate File 2160.

Claimant has been overpaid unemployment insurance benefits in the amount of $1,630.20 from July 2, 2023 through July 22, 2023. The benefits were not received due to any fraud or willful misrepresentation by the claimant and the employer did not participate in the initial proceeding to award benefits. As such, the claimant is not obligated to repay to the agency benefits he received in connection with this employer's account.

The employer's account shall not be charged because the employer's failure to participate was a result of IWD not responding at the time set forth in the notice sent to the employer. Additionally, IWD did not accept claimant's call within the half hour deadline given to employer to participate.

As a result, the benefits paid to claimant were not because the employer failed to respond timely or adequately to the department's request for information. As such, the employer cannot be charged for the overpayment and the overpayment shall be absorbed by the fund.

DECISION:

The July 5, 2023, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision is REVERSED. The claimant was discharged from employment due to job-related misconduct. Benefits are withheld until such time as he has worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times his weekly benefit amount, provided he is otherwise eligible.

The claimant has been overpaid unemployment insurance benefits in the amount of $1,630.20 but is not obligated to repay the agency those benefits. Further, the employer's account shall not be charged because their failure to participate was due to IWD. Instead, the overpayment in this matter is chargeable to the fund.
