(Decision Dated & Mailed)

Section 96.6-2 - Timeliness of Appeal
Section 871 IAC 24.1(113)a - Separation Due to Layoff

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

Maria Van Dyke (claimant) appealed an unemployment insurance decision dated August 10, 2004, reference 02, which held that she was not eligible for unemployment insurance benefits because she voluntarily quit her employment with Remedy Temporary Services (employer) without good cause attributable to the employer. Due notice was issued scheduling the matter for a telephone hearing to be held September 14, 2004. The employer mistakenly submitted a withdrawal notice since the original information was incorrect and the claimant should have been eligible for unemployment insurance benefits. A withdrawal decision, which is hereby null and void, was subsequently issued in error on September 22, 2004. Because a decision fully favorable to the claimant could be made based on the information provided by the employer, a hearing was deemed unnecessary.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

The administrative law judge, having reviewed and considered the evidence in the record, finds that: A disqualification decision was mailed to the claimant's last-known address of record on August 10, 2004. The claimant received the decision. The decision contained a warning that an appeal must be postmarked or received by the Appeals Section by August 20, 2004. The appeal was not filed until August 23, 2004, which is after the date noticed on the disqualification decision. The claimant's appeal was late as she relied on information provided to her employer by Iowa Workforce Development, in which the error was said to be resolved.

The claimant was laid off for lack of work for four weeks ending July 31, 2004 and for two weeks ending September 4, 2004.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

Iowa Code Section 96.6-2 provides:

2. Initial determination. A representative designated by the director shall promptly notify all interested parties to the claim of its filing, and the parties have ten days from the date of mailing the notice of the filing of the claim by ordinary mail to the last known address to protest payment of benefits to the claimant. The representative shall promptly examine the claim and any protest, take the initiative to ascertain relevant information concerning the claim, and, on the basis of the facts found by the representative, shall determine whether or not the claim is valid, the week with respect to which benefits shall commence, the weekly benefit amount payable and its maximum duration, and whether any disqualification shall be imposed. The claimant has the burden of proving that the claimant meets the basic eligibility conditions of section 96.4. The employer has the burden of proving that the claimant is disqualified for benefits pursuant to section 96.5, except as provided by this subsection. The claimant has the initial burden to produce evidence showing that the claimant is not disqualified for benefits in cases involving section 96.5, subsection 10, and has the burden of proving that a voluntary quit pursuant to section 96.5, subsection 1, was for good cause attributable to the employer and that the claimant is not disqualified for benefits in cases involving section 96.5, subsection 1, paragraphs "a" through "h". Unless the claimant or other interested party, after notification or within ten calendar days after notification was mailed to the claimant's last known address, files an appeal from the decision, the decision is final and benefits shall be paid or denied in accordance with the decision. If an administrative law judge affirms a decision of the representative, or the appeal board affirms a decision of the administrative law judge allowing benefits, the benefits shall be paid regardless of any appeal which is thereafter taken, but if the decision is finally reversed, no employer's account shall be charged with benefits so paid and this relief from charges shall apply to both contributory and reimbursable employers, notwithstanding section 96.8, subsection 5.

The ten calendar days for appeal begins running on the mailing date. The "decision date" found in the upper right-hand portion of the representative's decision, unless otherwise corrected immediately below that entry, is presumptive evidence of the date of mailing.

Gaskins v. Unempl. Comp. Bd. of Rev., 429 A.2d 138 (Pa. Comm. 1981); Johnson v. Board of Adjustment, 239 N.W.2d 873, 92 A.L.R.3d 304 (Iowa 1976).

Pursuant to rules 871 IAC 26.2(96)(1) and 871 IAC 24.35(96)(1), appeals are considered filed when postmarked, if mailed. Messina v. IDJS, 341 N.W.2d 52 (Iowa 1983).

The record in this case shows that more than ten calendar days elapsed between the mailing date and the date this appeal was filed. The Iowa Supreme Court has declared that there is a mandatory duty to file appeals from representatives' decisions within the time allotted by statute, and that the administrative law judge has no authority to change the decision of a representative if a timely appeal is not filed. Franklin v. IDJS, 277 N.W.2d 877, 881 (Iowa 1979). Compliance with appeal notice provisions is jurisdictional unless the facts of a case show that the notice was invalid. Beardslee v. IDJS, 276 N.W.2d 373, 377 (Iowa 1979); see also In re Appeal of Elliott, 319 N.W.2d 244, 247 (Iowa 1982). The question in this case thus becomes whether the appellant was deprived of a reasonable opportunity to assert an appeal in a timely fashion. Hendren v. IESC, 217 N.W.2d 255 (Iowa 1974); Smith v. IESC, 212 N.W.2d 471, 472 (Iowa 1973). The record shows that the appellant did not have a reasonable opportunity to file a timely appeal.

The administrative law judge concludes that failure to file a timely appeal within the time prescribed by the Iowa Employment Security Law was not due to any Agency error or misinformation pursuant to 871 IAC 24.35(2). The administrative law judge further concludes that the appeal was timely filed pursuant to Iowa Code Section 96.6-2, and the administrative law judge has jurisdiction to make a determination with respect to the nature of the appeal. See, Beardslee v. IDJS, 276 N.W.2d 373 (Iowa 1979) and Franklin v. IDJS, 277 N.W.2d 877 (Iowa 1979).

The next issue to be resolved in this case is whether the reasons for the claimant's separation from employment qualify her to receive unemployment insurance benefits. All terminations of employment are generally classified as layoffs, quits, discharges or other separations. 871 IAC 24.1(113)(a). A claimant is not qualified to receive unemployment insurance benefits if she voluntarily quits employment without good cause attributable to the employer or an employer has discharged the claimant for work-connected misconduct. Iowa Code Sections 96.5-1 and 96.5-2-a.

The evidence establishes the claimant was laid off for four weeks ending July 31, 2004 and an additional two weeks ending September 4, 2004. When an employer initiates a separation, the reasons for the separation must constitute work-connected misconduct before a claimant can be denied unemployment insurance benefits. A layoff does not constitute work-connected misconduct. The claimant's separation from employment was not due to any misconduct on her part nor did she quit her job. The claimant is qualified to receive unemployment insurance benefits, provided she is otherwise eligible.

DECISION:

The claimant's appeal is found timely. The unemployment insurance decision dated August 10, 2004, reference 02, is reversed. The claimant is qualified for unemployment insurance benefits, provided she is otherwise eligible and there is no overpayment.
