(Decision Dated & Mailed)

Section 96.5-1 - Voluntary Quit
Section 96.3-7 - Overpayment

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

G & K Services Company (employer) appealed a representative's November 1, 2004 decision (reference 01) that concluded Jessica Mendez (claimant) was eligible to receive unemployment insurance benefits. After hearing notices were mailed to the parties' last-known addresses of record, a telephone hearing was held on December 9, 2004. The claimant participated personally. The employer participated by Lauri Graham, Plant Manager; Wendy DePauw, Human Resources Administrator; and Jamie VanDeVoorde, Dry Fold Lead.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

The administrative law judge, having heard the testimony and considered all of the evidence in the record, finds that: The claimant was hired on April 10, 2004, as a full-time continuous roll towel flaker. On September 28, 2004, the employer issued the claimant a reprimand for performance issues. The claimant submitted her resignation effective October 15, 2004. The claimant quit because she had a personality conflict with her supervisor, the employer did not transfer her to another job even though she was not eligible for transfer and she thought she would be fired due to her job performance. Continued work was available to the claimant had she not resigned.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

The issue is whether the claimant voluntarily quit without good cause attributable to the employer. For the following reasons, the administrative law judge concludes she did.

Iowa Code section 96.5-1 provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

1. Voluntary quitting. If the individual has left work voluntarily without good cause attributable to the individual's employer, if so found by the department.

A voluntary leaving of employment requires an intention to terminate the employment relationship accompanied by an overt act of carrying out that intention. Local Lodge #1426 v. Wilson Trailer, 289 N.W.2d 608, 612 (Iowa 1980). The claimant's intention to voluntarily leave work was evidenced by her words and actions. She told the employer that she was leaving and quit work. When an employee quits work because of a personality conflict with a supervisor, her leaving is without good cause attributable to the employer. Likewise when an employee quits work rather than be terminated even though work is still available, her leaving is without good cause attributable to the employer. The claimant left work because of a personality conflict with her supervisor and she thought she would be terminated even though work was available. Her leaving was without good cause attributable to the employer. The claimant voluntarily quit without good cause attributable to the employer. Benefits are denied.

Iowa Code section 96.3-7 provides:

7. Recovery of overpayment of benefits. If an individual receives benefits for which the individual is subsequently determined to be ineligible, even though the individual acts in good faith and is not otherwise at fault, the benefits shall be recovered. The department in its discretion may recover the overpayment of benefits either by having a sum equal to the overpayment deducted from any future benefits payable to the individual or by having the individual pay to the department a sum equal to the overpayment.

If the department determines that an overpayment has been made, the charge for the overpayment against the employer's account shall be removed and the account shall be credited with an amount equal to the overpayment from the unemployment compensation trust fund and this credit shall include both contributory and reimbursable employers, notwithstanding section 96.8, subsection 5.

The claimant has received benefits in the amount of $1,428.00 since filing her claim herein. Pursuant to this decision, those benefits now constitute an overpayment which must be repaid.

DECISION:

The representative's November 1, 2004 decision (reference 01) is reversed. The claimant voluntarily left work without good cause attributable to the employer. Benefits are withheld until she has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times her weekly benefit amount, provided she is otherwise eligible. The claimant is overpaid benefits in the amount of $1,428.00.
