CASEY'S MARKETING COMPANY
Employer

APPEAL 23A-UI-11565-AR-T

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE
DECISION

OC: 08/21/22
Claimant: Respondent (1R)

Iowa Code § 96.6(2) – Timeliness of Protest
Iowa Code § 96.7(2)a(6) – Appeal from the Statement of Charges

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

On December 6, 2023, Casey's Marketing Company (employer) filed an appeal from the statement of charges dated November 9, 2023, (reference 08), for the third quarter of 2023. A hearing was scheduled for January 4, 2024, pursuant to due notice. However, there was sufficient information in the administrative record for a decision to be issued without additional testimony. Therefore, no hearing was held.

ISSUES:

Was the employer's protest timely?
Was the employer's appeal from the statement of charges timely?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: The claimant separated from employment and filed a claim for benefits effective August 21, 2022. The notice of claim was sent to the employer via the online SIDES system on August 24, 2022. The employer responded with a statement of protest on September 6, 2022. Iowa Workforce Development (IWD) then held a fact-finding interview on September 8, 2022.

Following the fact-finding interview, IWD issued two unemployment insurance decisions relevant to this matter. First, IWD issued the unemployment insurance decision dated September 9, 2022, (reference 01) denying benefits. Then, on October 5, 2023, IWD issued an unemployment insurance decision (reference 07) that found claimant had requalified for benefits since the separation from employment and relieved the employer's account of charges. Additionally, in the interim, the employer also appealed the statement of charges for the second quarter of 2023, and it participated in the hearing that resulted from that appeal. See 23A-UI-08558-AR-T.

The next notice the employer received that its account had been subject to charge was the statement of charges mailed November 9, 2023, (reference 08) for the third quarter of 2023. The employer filed its appeal of the statement of charges on December 6, 2023.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes the employer has not appropriately appealed the statement of charges.

Iowa Code section 96.6(2) provides, in pertinent part:

2. Initial determination. A representative designated by the director shall promptly notify all interested parties to the claim of its filing, and the parties have ten days from the date of mailing the notice of the filing of the claim by ordinary mail to the last known address to protest payment of benefits to the claimant.

Iowa Code section 96.7(2)a(6) provides:

2. Contribution rates based on benefit experience.

a. (6) Within forty days after the close of each calendar quarter, the department shall notify each employer of the amount of benefits charged to the employer's account during that quarter. The notification shall show the name of each individual to whom benefits were paid, the individual's social security number, and the amount of benefits paid to the individual. An employer which has not been notified as provided in section 96.6, subsection 2, of the allowance of benefits to an individual, may within thirty days after the date of mailing of the notification appeal to the department for a hearing to determine the eligibility of the individual to receive benefits. The appeal shall be referred to an administrative law judge for hearing and the employer and the individual shall receive notice of the time and place of the hearing. [Emphasis added.]

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871—26.4 provides, in relevant part:

2. An appeal from an initial decision concerning the allowance or denial of benefits shall be filed, by mail, facsimile, or e-mail, online, or in person, not later than ten calendar days, as determined by the postmark or the date stamp after the decision was mailed to the party at its last-known address and shall state the following:

- a. The name, address and social security number of the claimant;
- b. A reference to the decision from which appeal is taken; and,
- c. The grounds upon which the appeal is based.

3. Notwithstanding the provisions of subrule 26.4(2), a contributory employer, which has not previously received a notice of the filing of a valid claim for benefits, may appeal an individual's eligibility to receive benefits within 30 days from the mailing date of the quarterly statement of benefit charges.

4. Also notwithstanding the provisions of subrule 26.4(2), a reimbursable employer, which has not previously received a notice of the filing of a valid claim for benefits, may appeal an individual's eligibility to receive benefits within 15 days of the mailing date of the quarterly billing of benefit charges.

An employer may only appeal a claimant's eligibility for benefits through the quarterly statement of charges when it has not previously received notice of the filing of a valid claim for benefits. In this case, the employer received and responded to the notice of claimant's unemployment insurance claim. Additionally, it appealed a prior statement of charges. Therefore, the employer may not appeal the quarterly statement of charges. While the appeal is timely, it is not appropriate.

However, the employer was charged for benefits when it should not have been. To correct this issue, the matter will be remanded to the Tax Bureau to ensure a credit back to the employer on a future statement of charges consistent with the reference 07 requalification decision.

DECISION:

The November 9, 2023, (reference 08), statement of charges for the third quarter of 2023 is AFFIRMED, pending the outcome of the remanded issue. An appeal of the statement of charges, while timely, is not appropriate at this juncture, because the employer has responded to the notice of claim and has participated in the fact-finding process.

REMAND:

This matter is remanded to the Tax Bureau of Iowa Workforce Development to ensure a credit back to the employer on a future statement of charges consistent with the reference 07 requalification decision.
