DECISION

WEST LIBERTY FOODS LLC

Employer

OC: 11/06/22

Claimant: Appellant (1)

Iowa Code § 96.5(1) – Voluntary Quit from Employment

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.25(20) – Quit due to Compelling Personal Reasons

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.25(23) – Quit due to Serious Family Needs

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.25(29) – Quit in Anticipation of Layoff

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

On December 8, 2022, claimant Lereco George filed an appeal from the December 5, 2022 (reference 02) unemployment insurance decision that denied benefits based on a determination that he voluntarily quit employment with West Liberty Foods LLC for personal reasons. The parties were properly notified of the hearing. A telephonic hearing was held at 8:00 a.m. on Tuesday, January 10, 2022. Claimant Lereco George participated personally. Employer West Liberty Foods LLC participated through Tracy Waterman, Human Resources Specialist. Employer's Exhibit 1 was received and admitted into the record without objection.

ISSUE:

Did the claimant voluntarily quit his employment without good cause attributable to the employer?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Claimant began working for West Liberty Foods LLC on April 4, 2022. He worked full-time hours for the employer as a decaser. Claimant's employment ended on November 4, 2022, when he quit due to family obligations.

On November 4, claimant told HR specialist Jessica Rosario that he was quitting his job due to his mother's sickness. He was going to Mississippi to be with his mother. The employer was scheduled to close its doors on May 7, 2023, but continued work was available for claimant and all other employees until that date. Claimant was not at any risk of being laid off or discharged on November 4, 2022.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes claimant's separation was without good cause attributable to the employer. Benefits are withheld.

Iowa Code §96.5(1) provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

1. Voluntary quitting. If the individual has left work voluntarily without good cause attributable to the individual's employer, if so found by the department.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.25 provides:

Voluntary quit without good cause. In general, a voluntary quit means discontinuing the employment because the employee no longer desires to remain in the relationship of an employee with the employer from whom the employee has separated. The employer has the burden of proving that the claimant is disqualified for benefits pursuant to Iowa Code section 96.5. However, the claimant has the initial burden to produce evidence that the claimant is not disqualified for benefits in cases involving Iowa Code section 96.5, subsection (1), paragraphs "a" through "i," and subsection 10. The following reasons for a voluntary quit shall be presumed to be without good cause attributable to the employer: ..

(20) The claimant left for compelling personal reasons; however, the period of absence exceeded ten working days.

(23) The claimant left voluntarily due to family responsibilities or serious family needs.

(29) The claimant left in anticipation of a layoff in the near future; however, work was still available at the time claimant left the employment.

A voluntary quitting means discontinuing the employment because the employee no longer desires to remain in the relationship of an employee with the employer and requires an intention to terminate the employment. Wills v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 447 N.W. 2d 137, 138 (Iowa 1989). A voluntary leaving of employment requires an intention to terminate the employment relationship accompanied by an overt act of carrying out that intention. Local Lodge #1426 v. Wilson Trailer, 289 N.W.2d 608, 612 (Iowa 1980); Peck v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 492 N.W.2d 438 (Iowa Ct. App. 1992).

Claimant has the burden of proving that the voluntary leaving was for good cause attributable to the employer. Iowa Code § 96.6(2). "Good cause" for leaving employment must be that which is reasonable to the average person, not the overly sensitive individual or the claimant in particular. Uniweld Products v. Indus. Relations Comm'n, 277 So.2d 827 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1973). The standard of what a reasonable person would have believed under the circumstances is applied in determining whether a claimant left work voluntarily with good cause attributable to the employer. O'Brien v. Employment Appeal Bd., 494 N.W.2d 660 (Iowa 1993).

In this case, claimant clearly communicated to the employer that he was leaving his job and ending the employment relationship. He then stopped reporting for work. This expressed intention and overt action establish claimant's voluntary quit from employment. Claimant left the employment because his mother was ill and he needed to leave the state to be with her. Claimant mistakenly believed that he would be automatically eligible for benefits because the employer was going to lay off all employees effective May 7, 2023, when the business closed. At the time claimant left his employment, the employer still had work available for him and the anticipated layoff was still six months away. While he certainly had compelling personal reasons to end his employment, these reasons are not good-cause personal reasons attributable to the employer. Benefits must be denied.

DECISION:

The December 5, 2022 (reference 02) unemployment insurance decision is affirmed. Claimant separated from employment without good cause attributable to the employer. Benefits are withheld until such time as he has worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times his weekly benefit amount, provided he is otherwise eligible.
