OC: 04/17/22
Claimant: Appellant (1)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2) a – Discharge for Misconduct

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The claimant/appellant filed an appeal from the May 11, 2022 (reference 02) unemployment insurance decision that denied unemployment insurance benefits to the claimant based upon a separation from work. The parties were properly notified of the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on July 11, 2022, following due notice. The claimant participated personally. The employer participated through witnesses Kathleen Joblinske and Laural Beaty. The administrative law judge took official notice of the claimant's unemployment insurance benefits records.

ISSUE:

Was the claimant's separation from employment disqualifying?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Claimant was employed full-time as a production operator technician and placed on assignment at Danfoss Power Solutions on November 15, 2021. Claimant received a copy of Danfoss's attendance policy, which provided that if a worker has six unplanned absences in a rolling six-month period, they can be subject to discharge. Claimant's last day physically worked on the job was April 12, 2022. He was discharged from employment by Ms. Beaty via email on April 12, 2022, for violation of the Danfoss attendance policy.

Claimant was tardy to work on April 12, 2022 and failed to notify his supervisor, Mackenzie Cross, that he would be late to work. Claimant was tardy to work on April 11, 2022 for a doctor's appointment and did notify his supervisor he would be tardy. Claimant left early on April 8, 2022 due to lack of work. Claimant was tardy to work for an unknown reason on April 7, 2022. Claimant left work early on April 6, 2022 due to lack of work. Claimant was tardy to work on April 5, 2022 for an unknown reason. Claimant was tardy to work on April 4, 2022 for an unknown reason. Claimant left early on April 1, 2022 due to lack of work.

Claimant had received previous discipline regarding his attendance violations. He received a verbal warning on February 15, 2022; a written warning on February 21, 2022; and a written final warning on March 4, 2022. The written warnings stated that continued violations of the attendance policy could lead to discharge from employment.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes as follows:

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The disqualification shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979).

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(4) provides:

(4) Report required. The claimant's statement and employer's statement must give detailed facts as to the specific reason for the claimant's discharge. Allegations of misconduct or dishonesty without additional evidence shall not be sufficient to result in disqualification. If the employer is unwilling to furnish available evidence to corroborate the allegation, misconduct cannot be established. In cases where a suspension or disciplinary layoff exists, the claimant is considered as discharged, and the issue of misconduct shall be resolved.

Iowa Admin. Code r.871-24.32(8) provides:

(8) Past acts of misconduct. While past acts and warnings can be used to determine the magnitude of a current act of misconduct, a discharge for misconduct cannot be based on such past act or acts. The termination of employment must be based on a current act.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(7) provides:

(7) Excessive unexcused absenteeism. Excessive unexcused absenteeism is an intentional disregard of the duty owed by the claimant to the employer and shall be considered misconduct except for illness or other reasonable grounds for which the employee was absent and that were properly reported to the employer.

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). Excessive absences are not considered misconduct unless unexcused. Id. at 10. Absences due to properly reported illness cannot constitute work-connected misconduct since they are not volitional, even if the employer was fully within its rights to assess points or impose discipline up to or including discharge for the absence under its attendance policy. Gaborit v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 743 N.W.2d 554 (Iowa Ct. App. 2007). Medical documentation is not essential to a determination that an absence due to illness should be treated as excused. Id. at 558.

Excessive unexcused absenteeism is an intentional disregard of the duty owed by the claimant to the employer and shall be considered misconduct except for illness or other reasonable grounds for which the employee was absent and that were properly reported to the employer. Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(7) (emphasis added); see Higgins v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 350 N.W.2d 187, 190, n. 1 (Iowa 1984) holding "rule [2]4.32(7)...accurately states the law." The requirements for a finding of misconduct based on absences are therefore twofold. First, the absences must be excessive. Sallis v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 437 N.W.2d 895 (Iowa 1989). The determination of whether unexcused absenteeism is excessive necessarily requires consideration of past acts and warnings. Higgins, 350 N.W.2d at 192 (Iowa 1984). Second, the absences must be unexcused. Cosper, 321 N.W.2d at 10 (Iowa 1982). The requirement of "unexcused" can be satisfied in two ways. An absence can be unexcused either because it was not for "reasonable grounds," Higgins, 350 N.W.2d at 191 or because it was not "properly reported." Higgins, 350 N.W.2d at 191 (Iowa 1984) and Cosper, 321 N.W.2d at 10 (Iowa 1982). Excused absences are those "with appropriate notice." Cosper, 321 N.W.2d at 10 (Iowa 1982).

The term "absenteeism" also encompasses conduct that is more accurately referred to as "tardiness." An absence is an extended tardiness and an incident of tardiness is a limited absence. Higgins, 350 N.W.2d at 190 (Iowa 1984). Absences related to issues of personal responsibility such as transportation, lack of childcare, and oversleeping is not considered excused. Id. at 191. Absences due to illness or injury must be properly reported in order to be excused. Cosper, 321 N.W.2d at 10-11 (Iowa 1982). Absences in good faith, for good cause, with appropriate notice, are not misconduct. Id. at 10. They may be grounds for discharge but not for disqualification of benefits because substantial disregard for the employer's interest is not shown and this is essential to a finding of misconduct. Id. Excessive absenteeism has been found when there have been seven unexcused absences in five months; five unexcused absences and three instances of tardiness in eight months; three unexcused absences over an eight-month period; three unexcused absences over seven months; and missing three times after being warned. See Higgins, 350 N.W.2d at 192 (Iowa 1984); Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa App. 1984); Armel v. EAB, 2007 WL 3376929*3 (Iowa App. Nov.

15, 2007); Hiland v. EAB, No. 12-2300 (Iowa App. July 10, 2013); and Clark v. Iowa Dept of Job Serv., 317 N.W.2d 517 (Iowa App. 1982).

In this case, the claimant had four unexcused absences from work (tardiness) between April 1, 2022 and April 12, 2022. Claimant was aware that Danfoss had a policy prohibiting excessive absenteeism. Claimant violated the policy even after being disciplined on three separate occasions. This number of unexcused absences is considered excessive. This was a material breach of the claimant's duties and obligations that arose out of the contract of employment with the employer. The employer has established that the claimant was discharged for substantial job-related misconduct. As such, unemployment insurance benefits are denied as the separation from employment is disqualifying.

DECISION:

The May 11, 2022 (reference 02) unemployment insurance decision is affirmed. Claimant was discharged from employment for substantial job-related misconduct. The separation from employment is disqualifying and benefits are denied until claimant has worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the weekly benefit amount after the separation date, and provided they are otherwise eligible.
