Claimant: Respondent (1)

Iowa Code §96.5(2)a-Discharge/Misconduct
Iowa Code §96.5(1)- Voluntary Quit
Iowa Code § 96.3(7) – Recovery of Benefit Overpayment
Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.10 – Employer/Representative Participation Fact-finding Interview

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

On September 9, 2022, the employer/appellant filed an appeal from the August 30, 2022, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that allowed benefits based on claimant being dismissed on August 5, 2022 for excessive absences. The Iowa Workforce Development representative found the absences were due to illness and properly reported. The parties were properly notified about the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on October 4, 2022. Claimant participated. Employer participated through hearing representative, Jackie Boudreaux. District Manager, Nino Biscanin, was called as a witness. Administrative notice was taken of claimant's unemployment insurance benefits.

ISSUES:

- I. Was the separation a layoff, discharge for misconduct, or voluntary quit without good cause?
- II. Should claimant repay benefits?
- III. Should the employer be charged due to employer participation in fact finding?
- IV. Is the claimant overpaid benefits?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Claimant began working for employer on February 9, 2021. Claimant last worked as a full-time store manager. Claimant was separated from employment on August 8, 2022, when he was discharged.

Claimant called into work prior to his shift on August 6, 2022 to inform the employer that he would be absent due to illness. Claimant called into work prior to his shift on August 7, 2022, due to being ill and informed employer that he would be taking a COVID test. On August 8, 2022, claimant informed the employer that he took a COVID test and was waiting for the results. Mr. Biscanin and claimant had a discussion on whether claimant needed to come into work to process payroll and Mr. Biscanin informed him that he did not need to come in. On August 9, 2022, claimant received his COVID test results at 10:30 p.m. Claimant tested positive for COVID. Claimant sent the COVID results to Mr. Biscanin on August 10, 2022. Mr. Biscanin attempted to contact claimant through text but claimant did not immediately respond. On August 10, 2022, Mr. Biscanin informed claimant he was discharged. Claimant contacted Human Resources and they informed him he had been terminated on August 8, 2022.

Claimant was unaware of the employer's attendance policy. The employer did not provide proof claimant had received the policy. Mr. Biscanini testified that employees were required to call in two hours prior to their scheduled shift but that they were flexible on the attendance policy. Claimant received a prior written warning for his attendance in March 2022, April 27, 2022, and July 27, 2022. Claimant was put on notice that any further absences would result in his termination. After claimant's last written warning he was only absent due to his COVID illness.

The employer also had a COVID policy that required employees to be absent for a minimum of five days if they tested positive for COVID. The employee was allowed to return to work once they were fever free for 24 hours.

Claimant filed for benefits with an effective date of August 7, 2022. Claimant's gross weekly benefit amount is $501.00. Claimant began receiving benefits the week ending September 3, 2022. Claimant has received a gross total of $2,505.00 in unemployment benefits.

The employer did not call in to the fact-finding interview with Iowa Workforce Development. Employer submitted the March and April 2022 written warnings and the employer's policy.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes claimant was discharged from employment for no disqualifying reason.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The disqualification shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2) d provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

d. For the purposes of this subsection, “misconduct” means a deliberate act or omission by an employee that constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of the employee’s contract of employment. Misconduct is limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer’s interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or even design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer’s interests or of the employee’s duties and obligations to the employer. Misconduct by an individual includes but is not limited to all of the following:

- (1) Material falsification of the individual’s employment application.
- (2) Knowing violation of a reasonable and uniformly enforced rule of an employer.
- (3) Intentional damage of an employer’s property.
- (4) Consumption of alcohol, illegal or nonprescribed prescription drugs, or an impairing substance in a manner not directed by the manufacturer or a combination of such substances, on the employer’s premises in violation of the employer’s employment policies.
- (5) Reporting to work under the influence of alcohol, illegal or nonprescribed prescription drugs, or an impairing substance in an off-label manner, or a combination of such substances, on the employer’s premises in violation of the employer’s employment policies, unless the individual is compelled to work by the employer outside of scheduled or on-call working hours.
- (6) Conduct that substantially and unjustifiably endangers the personal safety of coworkers or the general public.
- (7) Incarceration for an act for which one could reasonably expect to be incarcerated that result in missing work.
- (8) Incarceration as a result of a misdemeanor or felony conviction by a court of competent jurisdiction.
- (9) Excessive unexcused tardiness or absenteeism.
- (10) Falsification of any work-related report, task, or job that could expose the employer or coworkers to legal liability or sanction for violation of health or safety laws.
- (11) Failure to maintain any licenses, registration, or certification that is reasonably required by the employer or by law, or that is a functional requirement to perform the individual’s regular job duties, unless the failure is not within the control of the individual.
- (12) Conduct that is libelous or slanderous toward an employer or an employee of the employer if such conduct is not protected under state or federal law.
- (13) Theft of an employer or coworker’s funds or property.
- (14) Intentional misrepresentation of time worked or work carried out that results in the individual receiving unearned wages or unearned benefits.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(7) provides:

(7) Excessive unexcused absenteeism. Excessive unexcused absenteeism is an intentional disregard of the duty owed by the claimant to the employer and shall be considered misconduct except for illness or other reasonable grounds for which the employee was absent and that were properly reported to the employer.

The employer has the burden to prove the claimant was discharged for work-connected misconduct as defined by the unemployment insurance law. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). What constitutes misconduct justifying termination of an employee and what misconduct warrants denial of unemployment insurance benefits are two separate decisions. Pierce v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 425 N.W.2d 679 (Iowa Ct. App. 1988). Excessive absences are not considered misconduct unless unexcused. Absences due to properly reported illness cannot constitute work-connected misconduct since they are not volitional, even if the employer was fully within its rights to assess points or impose discipline up to or including discharge for the absence under its attendance policy. Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(7); Cosper, supra; Gaborit v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 734 N.W.2d 554 (Iowa Ct. App. 2007). Medical documentation is not essential to a determination that an absence due to illness should be treated as excused. Gaborit, supra.

The requirements for a finding of misconduct based on absences are therefore twofold. First, the absences must be excessive. Sallis v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 437 N.W.2d 895 (Iowa 1989). The determination of whether unexcused absenteeism is excessive necessarily requires consideration of past acts and warnings. Higgins at 192. Second, the absences must be unexcused. Cosper at 10. The requirement of "unexcused" can be satisfied in two ways. An absence can be unexcused either because it was not for "reasonable grounds," Higgins at 191, or because it was not "properly reported," holding excused absences are those "with appropriate notice." Cosper at 10.

An employer's no-fault absenteeism policy or point system is not dispositive of the issue of qualification for unemployment insurance benefits. A properly reported absence related to illness or injury is excused for the purpose of Iowa Employment Security Law because it is not volitional. Excessive absences are not necessarily unexcused. Absences must be both excessive and unexcused to result in a finding of misconduct. A failure to report to work without notification to the employer is generally considered an unexcused absence. However, one unexcused absence is not disqualifying since it does not meet the excessiveness standard. In this case claimant notified employer prior to his shifts on August 6, 7, and 8th that he would be absent due to illness. The employer was aware claimant was awaiting his COVID test results and decided to terminate him because of his absences. Because his absences were otherwise related to properly reported illness or other reasonable grounds, no final or current incident of unexcused absenteeism occurred which establishes work-connected misconduct and no disqualification is imposed. Claimant is eligible for benefits and the employer's account is subject to charge.

The issue of whether claimant has been overpaid benefits and whether he should repay benefits is moot since claimant is eligible for benefits.

DECISION:

The August 30, 2022, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision is AFFIRMED. Claimant was discharged from employment for no disqualifying reason. Benefits are allowed, provided he is otherwise eligible. The employer's account is subject to charge.

The issues of whether claimant was overpaid benefits and whether he should repay benefits is moot.
