ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE
DECISION

OC: 10/15/23
Claimant: Appellant (1)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The claimant filed an appeal from the November 6, 2023, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that denied benefits based upon a finding claimant was discharged for excessive unexcused absenteeism after being warned. After due notice was issued, a hearing was scheduled for December 5, 2023. Claimant requested a continuance due to a scheduling conflict. The request was granted. The parties were properly notified of the rescheduled hearing. A telephone hearing was held on December 22, 2023. Claimant Joshua Wassell participated and testified. Employer Custom-Pak Inc. – LP2 participated through witness vice president Ron Zimmer. Human resources coordinator Vicki Rixen and Aleigha Robinson observed. Employer's Exhibits 1 – 7 were received.

ISSUE:

Was the claimant discharged for disqualifying job-related misconduct?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Claimant was employed full time as a manufacturing team member and coach trainee from October 12, 2015, until October 17, 2023, when he was discharged.

Employer has a no-fault attendance policy, which designates occurrences to attendance infractions. An employee is subject to discharge if they incur eight occurrences within a six-month rolling period. (Exhibit 2). Each absence, tardy, or early leave counts as an occurrence. An employee will receive a verbal warning at five occurrences, a written warning at six occurrences, and a final written warning at seven occurrences. Employees are also expected to notify employer by telephone at least 30 minutes prior to a shift if they are unable to work. Claimant was aware of the policy.

Employer assessed one occurrence to claimant for each of the following absences:

April 26, 2023: absent (personal)

May 5, 2023: absent (tired because up with a sick child at night)

May 8, 2023: absent (forgot to come in for overtime hours)
May 17, 2023: absent (transportation issues)
June 7, 2023: tardy (problem with his punch card)
June 9, 2023: absent (out of town)
June 25, 2023: absent (sick)
August 16, 2023: tardy (overslept)
August 24, 2023: tardy (pulled over on way to work)
October 2, 2023: absent (personal)
October 9, 2023: left early (family emergency)

Claimant properly reported his absences. The final absence occurred on October 15, 2023, when claimant was six minutes late to work due to a road closure. Employer discharged claimant on October 17, 2023, for exceeding seven occurrences and for his habitual attendance issues.

Claimant received written disciplinary actions for attendance issues on June 26, 2023, and August 24, 2023.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes the claimant was discharged from employment due to job-related misconduct.

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:
 - a. The individual shall be disqualified for benefits until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

- a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979).

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(7) provides:

(7) Excessive unexcused absenteeism. Excessive unexcused absenteeism is an intentional disregard of the duty owed by the claimant to the employer and shall be considered misconduct except for illness or other reasonable grounds for which the employee was absent and that were properly reported to the employer.

Excessive absences are not considered misconduct unless unexcused. Absences due to properly reported illness cannot constitute work-connected misconduct since they are not volitional, even if the employer was fully within its rights to assess points or impose discipline up to or including discharge for the absence under its attendance policy. Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(7); Gaborit v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 734 N.W.2d 554 (Iowa Ct. App. 2007). Medical documentation is not essential to a determination that an absence due to illness should be treated as excused. Gaborit, supra. Excessive unexcused absenteeism is an intentional disregard of the duty owed by the claimant to the employer and shall be considered misconduct except for illness or other reasonable grounds for which the employee was absent and that were properly reported to the employer. Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(7) (emphasis added); see Higgins v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 350 N.W.2d 187, 190, n. 1 (Iowa 1984) holding "rule [2]4.32(7)...accurately states the law." The requirements for a finding of misconduct based on absences are therefore twofold. First, the absences must be excessive. Sallis v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 437 N.W.2d 895 (Iowa 1989). The determination of whether unexcused absenteeism is excessive necessarily requires consideration of past acts and warnings. Higgins at 192. Second, the absences must be unexcused. Cosper v. Iowa Dept. of Job Serv., 321 N.W. 2d 10 (Iowa 1982). The requirement of "unexcused" can be satisfied in two ways. An absence can be unexcused either because it was not for "reasonable grounds," Higgins at 191, or because it was not "properly reported," holding excused absences are those "with appropriate notice." Cosper at 10.

The determination of whether unexcused absenteeism is excessive necessarily requires consideration of past acts and warnings. The term "absenteeism" also encompasses conduct that is more accurately referred to as "tardiness." An absence is an extended tardiness and an incident of tardiness is a limited absence. Higgins, 350 N.W.2d at 190 (Iowa 1984). Absences related to issues of personal responsibility such as transportation, lack of childcare, and oversleeping is not considered excused. Id. at 191. Absences due to illness or injury must be properly reported in order to be excused. Cosper, 321 N.W.2d at 10-11 (Iowa 1982). Absences in good faith, for good cause, with appropriate notice, are not misconduct. Id. at 10. They may be grounds for discharge but not for disqualification of benefits because substantial disregard for the employer's interest is not shown and this is essential to a finding of misconduct. Id. Excessive absenteeism has been found when there have been seven unexcused absences in five months; five unexcused absences and three instances of tardiness in eight months; three unexcused absences over an eight-month period; three unexcused absences over seven months; and missing three times after being warned. See Higgins, 350 N.W.2d at 192 (Iowa 1984); Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa App. 1984); Armel v. EAB, 2007 WL 3376929*3 (Iowa App. Nov. 15, 2007); Hiland v. EAB, No. 12-2300 (Iowa App. July 10, 2013); and Clark v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 317 N.W.2d 517 (Iowa App. 1982).

An employer's point system or no-fault absenteeism policy is not dispositive of the issue of qualification for benefits; however, an employer is entitled to expect its employees to report to work as scheduled or to be notified as to when and why the employee is unable to report to work. Three absences, when claimant was sick or had a family emergency, are considered excused. Claimant argues that four of his absences should not have been counted as occurrences because he made up the hours or had approval to take the days off. However, even if those four absences are not included, claimant still had five unexcused absences within a five-month period. Claimant further argues that his attendance had improved since the prior year. While this is true, employer has established that the claimant was warned on two occasions since June 2023 that further unexcused absences could result in termination of employment. The final absence, on October 15, 2023, was not excused. The final absence, in combination with the claimant's history of unexcused absenteeism, is considered excessive. Benefits are withheld.

DECISION:

The November 6, 2023, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision is affirmed. The claimant was discharged from employment due to excessive, unexcused absenteeism. Benefits are withheld until such time as he has worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times his weekly benefit amount, provided he is otherwise eligible.
