IN THE IOWA ADMINISTRATIVE HEARINGS DIVISION UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE APPEALS BUREAU

MICHAEL GOODALE Claimant

APPEAL 24A-UI-03204-S2

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE DECISION

GERDAU AMERISTEEL US INC

Employer

OC: 02/25/24 Claimant: Appellant (1)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The claimant filed an appeal from the March 19, 2024, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that denied benefits based upon a finding claimant was discharged for conduct not in the best interest of employer. The parties were properly notified of the hearing. An in-person hearing was held on April 18, 2024, in Davenport, Iowa. Claimant Michael Goodale participated and testified. Employer Gerdau Ameristeel US, Inc. participated through human resources manager Shannon Langengberg and melt shop superintendent Jamie Wambsganns. Employer's Exhibits 1 - 3 were received.

ISSUE:

Was the claimant discharged for disqualifying job-related misconduct?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Claimant was employed full time as a routine facilitator/shift supervisor from April 22, 2013, until February 22, 2024, when he was discharged.

In January 2024, employer notified claimant his wife was diagnosed with cancer and he needed to leave work to be with her. Claimant's supervisor Jamie Wambsganns allowed this absence, and told claimant employer world work with him if he needed time off in the future to help his wife.

Shortly before 6:00 a.m. on February 21, 2024, Mr. Wambsganns discovered melt shop operations had been down for approximately two hours. He went to find claimant to find out why, and he found claimant who appeared disoriented. He explained he had fallen asleep in his office. Claimant had not slept for 48 hours when he went to work, because he worked the overnight shift the evening before, had not slept prior to that shift, then spent the day at doctor's appointments with his wife before coming into work for another overnight shift. Mr. Wambsganss told claimant he needed to contact the safety coordinator to determine if they were going to perform a drug and alcohol test. He asked claimant to wait to leave until they made a decision.

Claimant did not wait for Mr. Wambsganss and left to go home to sleep. Employer tried to contact claimant but he was sleeping and did not return the call until 4:00 p.m. on February 21, 2024. Employer asked claimant to come in for a meeting the following day. On February 22, 2024, employer discharged claimant for sleeping and creating an unsafe working environment and for leaving work without approval. (Exhibit 3).

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes the claimant was discharged from employment due to job-related misconduct.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The disqualification shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)b, c and d provide:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

b. Provided further, if gross misconduct is established, the department shall cancel the individual's wage credits earned, prior to the date of discharge, from all employers.

c. Gross misconduct is deemed to have occurred after a claimant loses employment as a result of an act constituting an indictable offense in connection with the claimant's employment, provided the claimant is duly convicted thereof or has signed a statement admitting the commission of such an act. Determinations regarding a benefit claim may be redetermined within five years from the effective date of the claim. Any benefits paid to a claimant prior to a determination that the claimant has lost employment as a result of such act shall not be considered to have been accepted by the claimant in good faith.

d. For the purposes of this subsection, "misconduct" means a deliberate act or omission by an employee that constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of the employee's contract of employment. Misconduct is limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or even design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. Misconduct by an individual includes but is not limited to all of the following:

(1) Material falsification of the individual's employment application.

(2) Knowing violation of a reasonable and uniformly enforced rule of an employer.

(3) Intentional damage of an employer's property.

(4) Consumption of alcohol, illegal or nonprescribed prescription drugs, or an impairing substance in a manner not directed by the manufacturer, or a combination of such substances, on the employer's premises in violation of the employer's employment policies.

(5) Reporting to work under the influence of alcohol, illegal or nonprescribed prescription drugs, or an impairing substance in an off-label manner, or a combination of such substances, on the employer's premises in violation of the employer's employment policies, unless the individual if compelled to work by the employer outside of scheduled or on-call working hours.

(6) Conduct that substantially and unjustifiably endangers the personal safety of coworkers or the general public.

(7) Incarceration for an act for which one could reasonably expect to be incarcerated that result in missing work.

(8) Incarceration as a result of a misdemeanor or felony conviction by a court of competent jurisdiction.

(9) Excessive unexcused tardiness or absenteeism.

(10) Falsification of any work-related report, task, or job that could expose the employer or coworkers to legal liability or sanction for violation of health or safety laws.

(11) Failure to maintain any licenses, registration, or certification that is reasonably required by the employer or by law, or that is a functional requirement to perform the individual's regular job duties, unless the failure is not within the control of the individual.

(12) Conduct that is libelous or slanderous toward an employer or an employee of the employer if such conduct is not protected under state or federal law.

(13) Theft of an employer or coworker's funds or property.

(14) Intentional misrepresentation of time worked or work carried out that results in the individual receiving unearned wages or unearned benefits.

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. lowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (lowa 1982). The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. lowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262 (lowa Ct. App. 1984). The lowa Court of Appeals found substantial evidence of misconduct in testimony that the claimant worked slower than he was capable of working and would temporarily and briefly improve following oral reprimands. Sellers v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 531 N.W.2d 645 (lowa Ct. App. 1995). Generally, continued refusal to follow reasonable instructions constitutes misconduct. Gilliam v. Atlantic Bottling Co., 453 N.W.2d 230 (lowa Ct. App. 1990). Misconduct must be "substantial" to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits. Newman v. lowa Dep't of Job Serv., 351 N.W.2d 806 (lowa Ct. App. 1984). Poor work performance is not misconduct in the absence of evidence of intent. Miller v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 423 N.W.2d 211 (lowa Ct. App. 1988).

Given claimant's family circumstances, it is understandable he was exhausted. However, employer was aware of claimant's wife's illness and told him they would work with him if he needed time off. It previously allowed claimant to miss work for that very reason. Claimant was aware he could take time off from work if he was too tired to perform his job duties, yet he attended work knowing he had not slept for 48 hours.

Claimant was a supervisor and reasonably knew his conduct violated employer expectations, as well as set a poor example for his crew. Claimant's conduct also impacted production as his area was not in operation for over two hours. Claimant knew or should have known his conduct was contrary to the best interests of the employer. Therefore, based on the evidence presented, the claimant was discharged for misconduct, even without prior warning. Benefits are denied.

DECISION:

The March 19, 2024, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision is AFFIRMED. The claimant was discharged from employment due to job-related misconduct. Unemployment insurance benefits funded by the State of Iowa are denied until the claimant has worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times their weekly benefit amount after the February 22, 2024 separation date, and provided they are otherwise eligible.
