Claimant: Respondent (1)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a - Discharge for Misconduct
Iowa Code § 96.5(1) - Voluntary Quitting
Iowa Code § 96.3(7) - Recovery of Benefit Overpayment
Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.10 - Employer/Representative Participation Fact-finding Interview
Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)a - Discharge for Misconduct
Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.1(113)c - Discharge for Violation of Rules

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

Can Shed, LLC, employer/appellant, filed an appeal from the June 9, 2022, (reference 03), unemployment insurance decision that concluded claimant was eligible for unemployment insurance benefits as the record did not show any willful or deliberate misconduct regarding the 02/26/21 dismissal from work. Notices of hearing were mailed to the parties' last known addresses of record for a telephone hearing scheduled for July 26, 2022, at 11:00AM. Mr. Daniel Carter, claimant/respondent, personally participated. Employer participated through Ms. Julie Willard, controller. Judicial notice was taken of the administrative record, which included the appeal dated June 13, 2022, and June 17, 2022, the June 13, 2022, attachment of claimant's acknowledgement of a drug and alcohol-free workplace policy, the June 17, 2022, attachments of employer's drug and alcohol-free workplace policy, another copy of the acknowledgement, and DBRO.

ISSUES:

Was the separation a layoff, discharge for misconduct or a voluntary quit without good cause?
Was the claimant overpaid benefits?
Should claimant repay benefits and/or charge employer due to employer participation in fact finding?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having heard the testimony and reviewed the evidence in the record, the undersigned finds:

Claimant was employed by Can Shed, LLC as a fulltime set rout manager with a set schedule. His first day of work was 02/24/2021. His last day worked was 02/26/2021. Claimant was discharged on 02/26/2022. At the fact-finding level, Ms. Willard did not know whether employer submitted any documents and did not know whether employer participated in the telephone call.

Alfresco shows a Ms. Lowery participated in the telephone interview, which Ms. Willard advised that would be the assigned party to participate. Employer did not submit any documents.

Employer has an employee handbook. Claimant was given a copy of the employee handbook and acknowledged receiving it 02/26/21. There is a policy regarding employer's drug and alcohol-free workplace. Employer did provide a copy of this policy and Subsection E is what employer relies upon. However, employer had already hired claimant, but still needed claimant to pass a drug test to continue as an employee versus having a prospective employee pass a drug test.

Employer arranged to have claimant give a urine specimen at Unity Point, which claimant provided a sample. This sample was rejected by Unity Point. The employer did not recall why initially, but claimant said it was due to a temperature issue, which at that time, employer did recall the temperature was off, but could point to no submitted policy or documentation as to how this invalidated the specimen. Claimant was given a three-hour window to submit a second specimen. Employer initially thought claimant refused to do so, but claimant advised he did provide a second specimen, but the female nurse summarily rejected the sample without specifying why she did so. Employer then advised that a second sample was provided but was not certain as to why it was rejected. Unity Point advised employer that claimant failed the first test and refused to submit a second sample and as such was deemed a fail. Employer discharged claimant for that reason. Employer was unable to point to where in their policy the issues of temperature, and two tests come into play. Further, there is a discrepancy as whether a second sample was provided and/or why it was rejected.

Claimant filed a claim for unemployment benefits with an original claim date of 04/12/20 and has a weekly benefit amount (WBA) of $390.00. Claimant submitted a claim for the benefit weeks ending February 27, March 6, 13, 20, and 27, and April 3, and 10, 2021, resulting in claimant being paid $2,730.00 in PEUC benefits and $2,100.00 in FPUC benefits.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes the claimant was not discharged from employment due to job-related misconduct for violating a known company rule.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The individual shall be disqualified for benefits until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

871 IAC 24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.1(113)c provides:

(113) Separations. All terminations of employment, generally classifiable as layoffs, quits, discharges, or other separations.

c. Discharge. A discharge is a termination of employment initiated by the employer for such reasons as incompetence, violation of rules, dishonesty, laziness, absenteeism, insubordination, failure to pass probationary period.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Department of Job Service, 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979).

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). The Iowa Court of Appeals found substantial evidence of misconduct in testimony that the claimant worked slower than he was capable of working and would temporarily and briefly improve following oral reprimands. Sellers v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 531 N.W.2d 645 (Iowa Ct. App. 1995). Generally, continued refusal to follow reasonable instructions constitutes misconduct. Gilliam v. Atlantic Bottling Co., 453 N.W.2d 230 (Iowa Ct. App. 1990). Misconduct must be "substantial" to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits. Newman v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 351 N.W.2d 806 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). Poor work performance is not misconduct in the absence of evidence of intent. Miller v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 423 N.W.2d 211 (Iowa Ct. App. 1988).

Misconduct serious enough to warrant discharge is not necessarily serious enough to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits. Such misconduct must be "substantial." Newman v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 351 N.W.2d 806 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). The focus of the administrative code definition of misconduct is on deliberate, intentional or culpable acts by the employee. Id.

When based on carelessness, the carelessness must actually indicate a "wrongful intent" to be disqualifying in nature. Id. Negligence does not constitute misconduct unless recurrent in nature; a single act is not disqualifying unless indicative of a deliberate disregard of the employer's interests. Henry v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 391 N.W.2d 731 (Iowa Ct. App. 1986).

Further, poor work performance is not misconduct in the absence of evidence of intent. Miller v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 423 N.W.2d 211 (Iowa Ct. App. 1988). The law limits disqualifying misconduct to substantial and willful wrongdoing or repeated carelessness or negligence that equals willful misconduct in culpability. Lee v. Employment Appeal Bd., 616 N.W.2d 661 (Iowa 2000).

Employer failed to meet their burden of proof that claimant's action was disqualifying misconduct. Employer failed to prove if the policy was violated and if so, how the policy was violated. The policy provided addressed in part a preemployment test, but claimant was hired prior to the test being performed and then employer was not prepared as to what happened, especially regarding whether a second test was performed or not and if performed, under what grounds it was rejected. Employer basically stated they rely upon Unity Point to properly administer the testing and if they (Unity Point) tell us, the employer, it is a failure, then we accept it as a failure and act accordingly, which here is the termination of claimant for not meeting the preemployment requirement to pass drug testing.

While employer may have had good reasons to discharge claimant, they were not disqualifying reasons, in that employer could not specifically address whether a second sample was or was not given and if given what grounds it got rejected, nor where in their policies the issues they relied upon violated the policy specifically, other than the broader policy of failing the test. Therefore, claimant is eligible to receive benefits, so long as she meets all other eligibility requirements.

The next issues are whether claimant has been overpaid benefits and whether the employer adequately participated in fact-finding and their account should be charged.

Iowa Code § 96.3(7)a-b, as amended in 2008, provides:

7. Recovery of overpayment of benefits.

a. If an individual receives benefits for which the individual is subsequently determined to be ineligible, even though the individual acts in good faith and is not otherwise at fault, the benefits shall be recovered. The department in its discretion may recover the overpayment of benefits either by having a sum equal to the overpayment deducted from any future benefits payable to the individual or by having the individual pay to the department a sum equal to the overpayment.

b. (1)(a) If the department determines that an overpayment has been made, the charge for the overpayment against the employer's account shall be removed and the account shall be credited with an amount equal to the overpayment from the unemployment compensation trust fund and this credit shall include both contributory and reimbursable employers, notwithstanding section 96.8, subsection 5. The employer shall not be relieved of charges if benefits are paid because the employer or an agent of the employer failed to respond timely or adequately to the department's request for information relating to the payment of benefits. This prohibition against relief of charges shall apply to both contributory and reimbursable employers.

(b) However, provided the benefits were not received as the result of fraud or willful misrepresentation by the individual, benefits shall not be recovered from an individual if the employer did not participate in the initial determination to award benefits pursuant to section 96.6, subsection 2, and an overpayment occurred because of a subsequent reversal on appeal regarding the issue of the individual's separation from employment.

(2) An accounting firm, agent, unemployment insurance accounting firm, or other entity that represents an employer in unemployment claim matters and demonstrates a continuous pattern of failing to participate in the initial determinations to award benefits, as determined and defined by rule by the department, shall be denied permission by the department to represent any employers in unemployment insurance matters. This subparagraph does not apply to attorneys or counselors admitted to practice in the courts of this state pursuant to section 602.10101.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.10 provides:

Employer and employer representative participation in fact-finding interviews.

(1) "Participate," as the term is used for employers in the context of the initial determination to award benefits pursuant to Iowa Code section 96.6, subsection 2, means submitting detailed factual information of the quantity and quality that if unrebutted would be sufficient to result in a decision favorable to the employer. The most effective means to participate is to provide live testimony at the interview from a witness with firsthand knowledge of the events leading to the separation. If no live testimony is provided, the employer must provide the name and telephone number of an employee with firsthand information who may be contacted, if necessary, for rebuttal. A party may also participate by providing detailed written statements or documents that provide detailed factual information of the events leading to separation. At a minimum, the information provided by the employer or the employer's representative must identify the dates and particular circumstances of the incident or incidents, including, in the case of discharge, the act or omissions of the claimant or, in the event of a voluntary separation, the stated reason for the quit. The specific rule or policy must be submitted if the claimant was discharged for violating such rule or policy. In the case of discharge for attendance violations, the information must include the circumstances of all incidents the employer or the employer's representative contends meet the definition of unexcused absences as set forth in 871-subrule 24.32(7). On the other hand, written or oral statements or general conclusions without supporting detailed factual information and information submitted after the fact-finding decision has been issued are not considered participation within the meaning of the statute.

(2) "A continuous pattern of nonparticipation in the initial determination to award benefits," pursuant to Iowa Code section 96.6, subsection 2, as the term is used for an entity representing employers, means on 25 or more occasions in a calendar quarter beginning with the first calendar quarter of 2009, the entity files appeals after failing to participate. Appeals filed but withdrawn before the day of the contested case hearing will not be considered in determining if a continuous pattern of nonparticipation exists. The division administrator shall notify the employer's representative in writing after each such appeal.

(3) If the division administrator finds that an entity representing employers as defined in Iowa Code section 96.6, subsection 2, has engaged in a continuous pattern of nonparticipation, the division administrator shall suspend said representative for a period of up to six months on the first occasion, up to one year on the second occasion and up to ten years on the third or subsequent occasion. Suspension by the division administrator constitutes final agency action and may be appealed pursuant to Iowa Code section 17A.19.

(4) "Fraud or willful misrepresentation by the individual," as the term is used for claimants in the context of the initial determination to award benefits pursuant to Iowa Code section 96.6, subsection 2, means providing knowingly false statements or knowingly false denials of material facts for the purpose of obtaining unemployment insurance benefits. Statements or denials may be either oral or written by the claimant. Inadvertent misstatements or mistakes made in good faith are not considered fraud or willful misrepresentation.

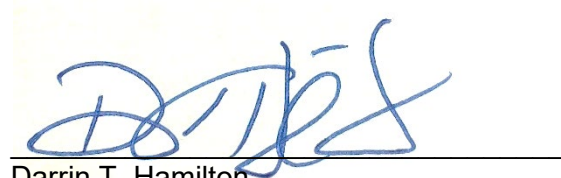

This rule is intended to implement Iowa Code section 96.3(7)"b" as amended by 2008 Iowa Acts, Senate File 2160.

Because the claimant's separation was not disqualifying, any benefits paid on the claim would be benefits to which they were entitled, so long as they met all other eligibility requirements. The unemployment insurance law provides that benefits must be recovered from a claimant who receives benefits and is later determined to be ineligible for benefits, even though the claimant acted in good faith and was not otherwise at fault. However, the overpayment will not be recovered when it is based on a reversal on appeal of an initial determination to award benefits on an issue regarding the claimant's employment separation if: (1) the benefits were not received due to any fraud or willful misrepresentation by the claimant and (2) the employer did not participate in the initial proceeding to award benefits.

Since claimant's separation was not disqualifying, any benefits paid on the claim would be benefits to which they were entitled, so long as they met all other eligibility requirements, there was no overpayment and the issues of repayment and employer's participation in factfinding are moot.

DECISION:

The June 9, 2022, (reference 03), unemployment insurance decision that concluded claimant was eligible for unemployment insurance benefits as the record did not show any willful or deliberate misconduct regarding the 02/26/21 dismissal from work is AFFIRMED. The issues of overpayment, repayment and employer's participation in fact finding are moot. Employer's account to be charge as claimant is eligible for benefits.

APPEAL RIGHTS. If you disagree with the decision, you or any interested party may:

1. Appeal to the Employment Appeal Board within fifteen (15) days of the date under the judge's signature by submitting a written appeal via mail, fax, or online to:

Employment Appeal Board
4th Floor – Lucas Building
Des Moines, Iowa 50319
Fax: (515)281-7191
Online: eab.iowa.gov

The appeal period will be extended to the next business day if the last day to appeal falls on a weekend or a legal holiday.

AN APPEAL TO THE BOARD SHALL STATE CLEARLY:

- 1) The name, address, and social security number of the claimant.
- 2) A reference to the decision from which the appeal is taken.
- 3) That an appeal from such decision is being made and such appeal is signed.
- 4) The grounds upon which such appeal is based.

An Employment Appeal Board decision is final agency action. If a party disagrees with the Employment Appeal Board decision, they may then file a petition for judicial review in district court.

2. If no one files an appeal of the judge's decision with the Employment Appeal Board within fifteen (15) days, the decision becomes final agency action, and you have the option to file a petition for judicial review in District Court within thirty (30) days after the decision becomes final. Additional information on how to file a petition can be found at Iowa Code §17A.19, which is online at <https://www.legis.iowa.gov/docs/code/17A.19.pdf> or by contacting the District Court Clerk of Court <https://www.iowacourts.gov/iowa-courts/court-directory/>.

Note to Parties: YOU MAY REPRESENT yourself in the appeal or obtain a lawyer or other interested party to do so provided there is no expense to Workforce Development. If you wish to be represented by a lawyer, you may obtain the services of either a private attorney or one whose services are paid for with public funds.

Note to Claimant: It is important that you file your weekly claim as directed, while this appeal is pending, to protect your continuing right to benefits.
