(Decision Dated & Mailed)

Section 96.5-1-d - Voluntary Quit for Medical Reasons
Section 96.4-3 – Able and Available

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

William Van Zuiden (claimant) appealed a representative's January 13, 2006 decision (reference 01) that concluded he was not eligible to receive unemployment insurance benefits because he had voluntarily quit employment with A. V. Transportation, Inc. (employer). After hearing notices were mailed to the parties' last-known addresses of record, a telephone hearing was held on February 9, 2006. The claimant participated personally. The employer did not provide a telephone number where it could be reached and, therefore, did not participate.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

The administrative law judge, having heard the testimony and considered all of the evidence in the record, finds that: The claimant was hired on or about January 2005 as a full-time over-the-road truck driver. The claimant suffered from untreated diabetes which was not caused by his employment. The claimant became unable to work due to his eyesight and quit work on November 11, 2005. On November 25, 2005, the claimant sought medical attention and was hospitalized until November 28, 2005. The claimant became unable to hold a Commercial Drivers License when he became an insulin dependent diabetic during his hospital stay.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

The issue is whether the claimant voluntarily quit without good cause attributable to the employer. For the following reasons the administrative law judge concludes he did.

Iowa Code section 96.5-1-d provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

1. Voluntary quitting. If the individual has left work voluntarily without good cause attributable to the individual's employer, if so found by the department. But the individual shall not be disqualified if the department finds that:

d. The individual left employment because of illness, injury or pregnancy upon the advice of a licensed and practicing physician, and upon knowledge of the necessity for absence immediately notified the employer, or the employer consented to the absence, and after recovering from the illness, injury or pregnancy, when recovery was certified by a licensed and practicing physician, the individual returned to the employer and offered to perform services and the individual's regular work or comparable suitable work was not available, if so found by the department, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

A voluntary leaving of employment requires an intention to terminate the employment relationship accompanied by an overt act of carrying out that intention. Local Lodge #1426 v. Wilson Trailer, 289 N.W.2d 608, 612 (Iowa 1980). A claimant is not disqualified for leaving employment if he or she (1) left employment by reason of illness, injury or pregnancy; (2) on the advice of a licensed and practicing physician; (3) and immediately notified the employer or the employer consented to the absence; (4) and when certified as recovered by a physician, the individual returned to the employer and offered services but the regular or comparable suitable work was not available. Area Residential Care, Inc. v. Iowa Department of Job Service, 323 N.W.2d 257 (Iowa 1982).

The claimant left work because he felt ill. The employer consented to his leaving. The claimant has failed to provide the employer with certification that he has recovered. In addition the claimant has failed to offer his services to the employer. The claimant has failed to meet the requirements of the statute and, therefore, is not eligible to receive unemployment insurance benefits.

The next issue is whether the claimant was able and available for work. For the following reasons the administrative law judge concludes he is not.

871 IAC 24.23(1) provides:

Availability disqualifications. The following are reasons for a claimant being disqualified for being unavailable for work.

(1) An individual who is ill and presently not able to perform work due to illness.

When an employee is ill and unable to perform work due to that illness he is considered to be unavailable for work. The claimant was ill or in the hospital from November 11 through 25, 2005. He is considered to be unavailable for work during that time. The claimant is disqualified from receiving unemployment insurance benefits during that time due to his unavailability for work.

DECISION:

The representative's January 13, 2006 decision (reference 01) is affirmed. The claimant voluntarily left work without good cause attributable to the employer. Benefits are withheld until he has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times his weekly benefit amount, provided he is otherwise eligible. In addition, the claimant is disqualified from receiving unemployment insurance benefits during that time due to his unavailability for work.
