APPEAL 23A-UI-10512-DZ-T
ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE DECISION

OC: 10/01/23
Claimant: Respondent (2)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

Amazon.com Services, Inc., the employer/appellant,¹ appealed the Iowa Workforce Development (IWD) October 31, 2023 (reference 01) unemployment insurance (UI) decision. IWD found Mr. Pedroso eligible for REGULAR (state) UI benefits because IWD concluded the employer dismissed him from work on September 29, 2023 for a reason that did not disqualify him from receiving UI benefits. On November 9, 2023 the Iowa Department of Inspections, Appeals, and Licensing (DIAL), UI Appeals Bureau mailed a notice of hearing to the employer and Mr. Pedroso for a telephone hearing scheduled for November 28, 2023.

The undersigned administrative law judge held a telephone hearing on November 28, 2023. The employer participated in the hearing through Miraldo Michel, human resources business partner. Mr. Pedroso did not participate in the hearing. The undersigned took official notice of the administrative record.

ISSUES:

Did the employer discharge Mr. Pedroso from employment for disqualifying job-related misconduct?

Did IWD overpay Mr. Pedroso UI benefits?

If so, should he repay the benefits?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Mr. Pedroso began working for the employer in February 2023. He worked as a full-time fulfillment associate. His employment ended on September 29, 2023.

The employer gives employees paid-time-off (PTO), vacation leave, and unpaid-time-off (UTO). The employer's policy provides that the employer will terminate the employment of any employee who uses more UTO than the employee's UTO balance. The employer gave Mr. Pedroso a copy of the policy in writing on, or about, his hire date and talked with him about the policy during orientation. An employee can see their UTO balance in the employer's application

(app). The app notifies an employee when the employee's UTO balance is low and when the employee's UTO balance is negative.

The employer notified Mr. Pedroso on September 18 and again on September 20 about a low UTO balance. On September 27, Mr. Pedroso used UTO, but his UTO balance was negative. The employer's human resources staff tried to contact Mr. Pedroso twice to learn why his UTO balance was negative. Mr. Pedroso did not respond. The employer terminated Mr. Pedroso's employment on September 29 for violating the employer's attendance policy.

IWD paid Mr. Pedroso REGULAR (state) UI benefits in the total gross amount of $1,647.00 for 3 weeks between October 15, 2023 and November 4, 2023. The employer participated in the fact-finding interview.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the undersigned concludes the employer discharged Mr. Pedroso from employment for job-related misconduct.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)(a) and (d) provide, in relevant part:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The individual shall be disqualified for benefits until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

d. For the purposes of this subsection, "misconduct" means a deliberate act or omission by an employee that constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of the employee's contract of employment. Misconduct is limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer.

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct.² The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating the claimant from employment, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits.³ Misconduct must be "substantial" to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits.⁴

The employer may establish reasonable work rules and expect employees to abide by them. The employer has presented credible evidence that Mr. Pedroso violated the employer's policy by having a negative UTO balance. When the employer contacted Mr. Pedroso to learn why his balance was negative, Mr. Pedroso did not respond. The employer has established disqualifying job-related misconduct, so Mr. Pedroso is not eligible for UI benefits.

The administrative law judge further concludes IWD overpaid Mr. Pedroso REGULAR (state) UI benefits in the total gross amount of $1,647.00.

Iowa Code §96.3(7) provides, in relevant part:

7. Recovery of overpayment of benefits.

a. If an individual receives benefits for which the individual is subsequently determined to be ineligible, even though the individual acts in good faith and is not otherwise at fault, the benefits shall be recovered. The department in its discretion may recover the overpayment of benefits either by having a sum equal to the overpayment deducted from any future benefits payable to the individual or by having the individual pay to the department a sum equal to the overpayment.

b. (1) (a) If the department determines that an overpayment has been made, the charge for the overpayment against the employer's account shall be removed and the account shall be credited with an amount equal to the overpayment from the unemployment compensation trust fund and this credit shall include both contributory and reimbursable employers, notwithstanding section 96.8, subsection 5. The employer shall not be relieved of charges if benefits are paid because the employer or an agent of the employer failed to respond timely or adequately to the department's request for information relating to the payment of benefits. This prohibition against relief of charges shall apply to both contributory and reimbursable employers. If the department determines that an employer's failure to respond timely or adequately was due to insufficient notification from the department, the employer's account shall not be charged for the overpayment.

(b) However, provided the benefits were not received as the result of fraud or willful misrepresentation by the individual, benefits shall not be recovered from an individual if the employer did not participate in the initial determination to award benefits pursuant to section 96.6, subsection 2, and an overpayment occurred because of a subsequent reversal on appeal regarding the issue of the individual's separation from employment.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.10 provides:

Employer and employer representative participation in fact-finding interviews.

(1) "Participate," as the term is used for employers in the context of the initial determination to award benefits pursuant to Iowa Code section 96.6, subsection 2, means submitting detailed factual information of the quantity and quality that if un rebutted would be sufficient to result in a decision favorable to the employer. The most effective means to participate is to provide live testimony at the interview from a witness with firsthand knowledge of the events leading to the separation. If no live testimony is provided, the employer must provide the name and telephone number of an employee with firsthand information who may be contacted, if necessary, for rebuttal. A party may also participate by providing detailed written statements or documents that provide detailed factual information of the events leading to separation. At a minimum, the information provided by the employer or the employer's representative must identify the dates and particular circumstances of the incident or incidents, including, in the case of discharge, the act or omissions of the claimant or, in the event of a voluntary separation, the stated reason for the quit. The specific rule or policy must be submitted if the claimant was discharged for violating such rule or policy. In the case of discharge for attendance violations, the information must include the circumstances of all incidents the employer or the employer's representative contends meet the definition of unexcused absences as set forth in 871—subrule 24.32(7). On the other hand, written or oral statements or general conclusions without supporting detailed factual information and information submitted after the fact-finding decision has been issued are not considered participation within the meaning of the statute.

(2) "A continuous pattern of nonparticipation in the initial determination to award benefits," pursuant to Iowa Code section 96.6, subsection 2, as the term is used for an entity representing employers, means on 25 or more occasions in a calendar quarter beginning with the first calendar quarter of 2009, the entity files appeals after failing to participate. Appeals filed but withdrawn before the day of the contested case hearing will not be considered in determining if a continuous pattern of nonparticipation exists. The division administrator shall notify the employer's representative in writing after each such appeal.

(3) If the division administrator finds that an entity representing employers as defined in Iowa Code section 96.6, subsection 2, has engaged in a continuous pattern of nonparticipation, the division administrator shall suspend said representative for a period of up to six months on the first occasion, up to one year on the second occasion and up to ten years on the third or subsequent occasion. Suspension by the division administrator constitutes final agency action and may be appealed pursuant to Iowa Code section 17A.19.

(4) "Fraud or willful misrepresentation by the individual," as the term is used for claimants in the context of the initial determination to award benefits pursuant to Iowa Code section 96.6, subsection 2, means providing knowingly false statements or knowingly false denials of material facts for the purpose of obtaining unemployment insurance benefits. Statements or denials may be either oral or written by the claimant. Inadvertent misstatements or mistakes made in good faith are not considered fraud or willful misrepresentation.

This rule is intended to implement Iowa Code section 96.3(7)"b" as amended by 2008 Iowa Acts, Senate File 2160.

Since Mr. Pedroso is not eligible for UI benefits based on how his job ended with the employer, he is not eligible for the UI benefits IWD already sent him. IWD overpaid Mr. Pedroso REGULAR (state) UI benefits in the total gross amount of $1,647.00 for 3 weeks between October 15, 2023 and November 4, 2023. Since the employer participated in the fact-finding interview, Mr. Pedroso is required to repay these UI benefits.

DECISION:

The October 31, 2023 (reference 01) UI decision is REVERSED. The employer discharged Mr. Pedroso from employment for job-related misconduct. Mr. Pedroso is not eligible for UI benefits until he has worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times his weekly UI benefit amount, as long as no other decision denies him UI benefits.

IWD overpaid Mr. Pedroso REGULAR (state) UI benefits in the gross amount of $1,647.00 for three weeks between October 15, 2023 and November 4, 2023. Since the employer participated in the fact-finding interview, Mr. Pedroso is required to repay these UI benefits.
