DECISION

OC: 02/27/22
Claimant: Respondent (2)

Iowa Code Section 96.5(2)(a) – Discharge for Misconduct

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

On December 15, 2022, the employer filed a timely appeal from the December 8, 2022 (reference 01) decision that allowed benefits to the claimant, provided the claimant met all other eligibility requirements, and that held the employer's account could be charged for benefits, based on the deputy's conclusion that the claimant was discharged on October 21, 2022 for no disqualifying reason. After due notice was issued, a hearing was held on January 12, 2023. Darold Baker (claimant) did not comply with the hearing notice instructions to call the designated toll-free number at the time of the hearing and did not participate. Abby Stensland represented the employer. Exhibit 1, the online appeal, was received into evidence. The administrative law judge took official notice of the Agency's record of benefits disbursed to the claimant (DBRO), which record reflects no benefits have been disbursed to the claimant since the October 2022 employment separation.

ISSUE:

Whether the claimant was discharged for misconduct in connection with the employment.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Darold Baker (claimant) was employed by Stensland Sod, Inc. as a full-time installation laborer from March 2021 until October 24, 2022, when the employer discharged him from the employment for attendance. The claimant last performed work for the employer on October 21, 2022. Tony Stensland, Vice President, was the claimant's supervisor. If the claimant needed to be absent from work, the claimant was required to give notice by sending a text message to Mr. Stensland.

The final absence that triggered the discharge occurred on October 22, 2022, when the claimant was absent without notice to the employer. This no-call/no-show absences followed 11 additional no-call/no-show absences between June 8, 2022 and October 14, 2022. The prior no-call/no-show absences occurred on June 8, June 15, June 24, July 11, August 17, August 30, September 9, September 12, September 22, October 13 and October 14, 2022. The employer verbally addressed the attendance concern with the claimant as the absences occurred, but did not issue any written reprimands prior to discharging the claimant from the employment.

The claimant established an original claim for benefits that was effective February 27, 2022 and an additional claim for benefits that was effective November 13, 2022. The claimant has not received any unemployment insurance benefits since the October 2022 separation from the employment.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)(a) provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The disqualification shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)(a) provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979). The Legislature recently codified the misconduct definition along with a list of types of disqualifying misconduct. See Iowa Code section 96.5(2)(d).

The employer has the burden of proof in this matter. See Iowa Code section 96.6(2). Misconduct must be substantial in order to justify a denial of unemployment benefits. Misconduct serious enough to warrant the discharge of an employee is not necessarily serious enough to warrant a denial of unemployment benefits. See Lee v. Employment Appeal Board, 616 N.W.2d 661 (Iowa 2000). The focus is on deliberate, intentional, or culpable acts by the employee. See Gimbel v. Employment Appeal Board, 489 N.W.2d 36, 39 (Iowa Ct. App. 1992).

While past acts and warnings can be used to determine the magnitude of the current act of misconduct, a discharge for misconduct cannot be based on such past act(s). The termination of employment must be based on a current act. See Iowa Admin. Code r.871-24.32(8). In determining whether the conduct that prompted the discharge constituted a “current act,” the administrative law judge considers the date on which the conduct came to the attention of the employer and the date on which the employer notified the claimant that the conduct subjected the claimant to possible discharge. See also Greene v. EAB, 426 N.W.2d 659, 662 (Iowa App. 1988).

Allegations of misconduct or dishonesty without additional evidence shall not be sufficient to result in disqualification. If the employer is unwilling to furnish available evidence to corroborate the allegation, misconduct cannot be established. See 871 IAC 24.32(4).

In order for a claimant's absences to constitute misconduct that would disqualify the claimant from receiving unemployment insurance benefits, the evidence must establish that the claimant's unexcused absences were excessive. See Iowa Administrative Code rule 871-24.32(7). The determination of whether absenteeism is excessive necessarily requires consideration of past acts and warnings. However, the evidence must first establish that the most recent absence that prompted the decision to discharge the employee was unexcused. See Iowa Administrative Code rule 871-24.32(8). Absences related to issues of personal responsibility such as transportation and oversleeping are considered unexcused. On the other hand, absences related to illness are considered excused, provided the employee has complied with the employer's policy regarding notifying the employer of the absence. Tardiness is a form of absence. See Higgins v. Iowa Department of Job Service, 350 N.W.2d 187 (Iowa 1984). Employers may not graft on additional requirements to what is an excused absence under the law. See Gaborit v. Employment Appeal Board, 743 N.W.2d 554 (Iowa Ct. App. 2007). For example, an employee's failure to provide a doctor's note in connection with an absence that was due to illness properly reported to the employer will not alter the fact that such an illness would be an excused absence under the law. Gaborit, 743 N.W.2d at 557.

The evidence in the record establishes a discharge based on misconduct in connection with employment. Each of the 12 no-call/no-show absences between June 8, 2022 and October 22, 2022 was an unexcused absence under the applicable law. The unexcused absences were excessive and demonstrated an intentional and substantial disregard for the interests of the employer. The claimant is disqualified for benefits until he has worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to 10 times his weekly benefit amount. The claimant must meet all other eligibility requirements. The employer's account shall not be charged for benefits.

Because the claimant has not received any unemployment insurance benefits since the October 2022 separation from the employment, there is not overpayment issue to address.

DECISION:

The December 8, 2022 (reference 01) decision is REVERSED. The claimant was discharged for misconduct in connection with the employment. The discharge occurred on October 24, 2022. The claimant is disqualified for unemployment benefits until he has worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to 10 times his weekly benefit amount. The claimant must meet all other eligibility requirements. The employer's account shall not be charged.
