ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE DECISION

OC: 12/18/22
Claimant: Respondent (1)

Iowa Code § 96.6(2) – Timeliness of Appeal

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The employer/appellant filed an appeal from the January 17, 2023 (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that found that the employer had filed an untimely protest. The parties were properly notified of the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on June 2, 2023. The claimant did not participate. The employer participated through witness Katie Kruger. The administrative law judge took official notice of the claimant's unemployment insurance benefits records including the Fact-Finding Documents.

ISSUE:

Did the employer file a timely appeal?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: The claimant filed an original claim for unemployment insurance benefits with an effective date of December 18, 2022. This employer was in the claimant's base period that was established and as such, a notice of claim was emailed to it via the SIDES system. The employer received the notice of claim via email. The due date to return the statement of protest to Iowa Workforce Development was January 3, 2023. The employer submitted the protest electronically on January 13, 2023, which was after the deadline to do so. Ms. Kruger did not specifically recall the exact reason the protest was submitted late but it is possible she saw the claim when she was in the system for another claimant.

An unemployment insurance decision stating that the employer filed an untimely protest was issued and mailed to the employer via its third-party representative, ADP, on January 17, 2023. The decision stated that an appeal must be filed by January 27, 2023. No timely appeal was filed and Ms. Kruger does not recall that the employer's third party provider forwarded a copy of the decision to her. An appeal was filed on May 15, 2023 after the employer received the Statement of Charges for the first quarter of 2023 listing charge information for this claimant.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes as follows:

Iowa Code section 96.6(2) provides:

2. Initial determination. A representative designated by the director shall promptly notify all interested parties to the claim of its filing, and the parties have ten days from the date of issuance of the notice of the filing of the claim to protest payment of benefits to the claimant. All interested parties shall select a format as specified by the department to receive such notifications. The representative shall promptly examine the claim and any protest, take the initiative to ascertain relevant information concerning the claim, and, on the basis of the facts found by the representative, shall determine whether or not the claim is valid, the week with respect to which benefits shall commence, the weekly benefit amount payable and its maximum duration, and whether any disqualification shall be imposed. The claimant has the burden of proving that the claimant meets the basic eligibility conditions of section 96.4. The employer has the burden of proving that the claimant is disqualified for benefits pursuant to section 96.5, except as provided by this subsection. The claimant has the initial burden to produce evidence showing that the claimant is not disqualified for benefits in cases involving section 96.5, subsections 10 and 11, and has the burden of proving that a voluntary quit pursuant to section 96.5, subsection 1, was for good cause attributable to the employer and that the claimant is not disqualified for benefits in cases involving section 96.5, subsection 1, paragraphs "a" through "h". Unless the claimant or other interested party, after notification or within ten calendar days after notification was issued, files an appeal from the decision, the decision is final and benefits shall be paid or denied in accordance with the decision. If an administrative law judge affirms a decision of the representative, or the appeal board affirms a decision of the administrative law judge allowing benefits, the benefits shall be paid regardless of any appeal which is thereafter taken, but if the decision is finally reversed, no employer's account shall be charged with benefits so paid and this relief from charges shall apply to both contributory and reimbursable employers, notwithstanding section 96.8, subsection 5.

In addressing an issue of timeliness of an appeal under that portion of this Code section, the Iowa Supreme Court held that this statute prescribing the time for notice of appeal clearly limits the time to do so, and that compliance with the appeal notice provision is mandatory and jurisdictional.¹

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.35(1) provides:

Date of submission and extension of time for payments and notices.

(1) Except as otherwise provided by statute or by division rule, any payment, appeal, application, request, notice, objection, petition, report or other information or document submitted to the division shall be considered received by and filed with the division:

a. If transmitted via the United States Postal Service on the date it is mailed as shown by the postmark, or in the absence of a postmark the postage meter mark of the envelope in which it is received; or if not postmarked or postage meter marked or if the mark is illegible, on the date entered on the document as the date of completion.

b. If transmitted via the State Identification Data Exchange System (SIDES), maintained by the United States Department of Labor, on the date it was submitted to SIDES.

c. If transmitted by any means other than those outlined in paragraphs 24.35(1)"a" and "b", on the date it is received by the division.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.35(2) provides:

Date of submission and extension of time for payments and notices.

(2) The submission of any payment, appeal, application, request, notice, objection, petition, report or other information or document not within the specified statutory or regulatory period shall be considered timely if it is established to the satisfaction of the division that the delay in submission was due to division error or misinformation or to delay or other action of the United States postal service.

a. For submission that is not within the statutory or regulatory period to be considered timely, the interested party must submit a written explanation setting forth the circumstances of the delay.

b. The division shall designate personnel who are to decide whether an extension of time shall be granted.

c. No submission shall be considered timely if the delay in filing was unreasonable, as determined by the department after considering the circumstances in the case.

d. If submission is not considered timely, although the interested party contends that the delay was due to division error or misinformation or delay or other action of the United States postal service, the division shall issue an appealable decision to the interested party.

In this case, the appeal to the January 17, 2023 (reference 01) decision, that stated the employer filed an untimely protest, was not timely. The employer has failed to establish that the delay in submission was due to division error or delay by the United States postal service pursuant to Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.35(2). As such, the administrative law judge lacks jurisdiction to decide whether the employer filed a timely protest. Iowa Code § 96.6(2).

DECISION:

The January 17, 2023 (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that found the employer filed an untimely protest of the notice of claim is affirmed. The employer's appeal is not timely, and the decision of the representative remains in effect.
