ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE DECISION

OC: 08/13/23
Claimant: Appellant (2R)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

On September 11, 2023, the claimant filed an appeal from the August 30, 2023, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that denied benefits based on the determination that claimant was discharged for disqualifying misconduct. The parties were properly notified about the hearing. An in-person hearing was held on October 3, 2023, in Des Moines, Iowa. Claimant, Matilda T. Mariano, participated, with witness Beth Heggen. Employer, Tyson Fresh Meats Inc., participated through HR Business Partner Betty Field. Employer's Exhibits 1 and 2 were admitted.

ISSUE:

Was the claimant discharged for disqualifying job-related misconduct?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Claimant began working for employer on January 22, 2007. Claimant last worked as a full-time Swahili interpreter. Claimant was separated from employment on July 13, 2023, when she was discharged.

Beginning January 31, 2022, claimant went out on medical leave for a non-work-related impairment. Earlier in the month, she had been on her way to work when she began to feel unwell. She suffered a stroke and has been under care for that condition since. Claimant remained in reasonable contact with the employer. The employer typically does not provide leaves of absence in excess of a year, but hoped to keep claimant's position available to her should she be released to return. On July 12, 2023, claimant's physician submitted a medical note to the employer indicating that claimant's care and recovery was ongoing. There was no prospective date on which she could return. The note stated she would be evaluated again in three to six months. The employer determined it could not continue to provide indefinite leave for claimant. It discharged her from employment effective July 13, 2023.

As of the date of her unemployment appeal hearing, claimant has not been released to work by her physician. No decision regarding claimant's ability to and availability for work has been issued by the Benefits Bureau of Iowa Workforce Development.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes that claimant was discharged from employment for no disqualifying reason.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)(a) and (d)(9) provide:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The disqualification shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

...

d. For the purposes of this subsection, "misconduct" means a deliberate act or omission by an employee that constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of the employee's contract of employment. Misconduct is limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or even design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. Misconduct by an individual includes but is not limited to all of the following:

(9) Excessive unexcused tardiness or absenteeism.

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982).

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871—24.32(7) provides:

(7) Excessive unexcused absenteeism. Excessive unexcused absenteeism is an intentional disregard of the duty owed by the claimant to the employer and shall be considered misconduct except for illness or other reasonable grounds for which the employee was absent and that were properly reported to the employer.

The employer has the burden to prove the claimant was discharged for work-connected misconduct as defined by the unemployment insurance law. Cosper, 321 N.W.2d 6. The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). What constitutes misconduct justifying termination of an employee and what misconduct warrants denial of unemployment insurance benefits are two separate decisions. Pierce v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 425 N.W.2d 679 (Iowa Ct. App. 1988).

The employer must prove two elements to establish misconduct based on absenteeism. First, the absences must be excessive. Sallis v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 437 N.W.2d 895 (Iowa 1989).

The determination of whether unexcused absenteeism is excessive necessarily requires consideration of past acts and warnings. Higgins v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 350 N.W.2d 187, 192 (Iowa 1984). Second, the absences must be unexcused. Cosper, 321 N.W.2d at 10. The requirement of "unexcused" can be satisfied in two ways. An absence can be unexcused either because it was not for "reasonable grounds," or because it was not "properly reported," holding excused absences are those "with appropriate notice." Higgins, 350 N.W.2d at 191; Cosper, 321 N.W.2d at 10.

Absences due to properly reported illness cannot constitute work-connected misconduct since they are not volitional, even if the employer was fully within its rights to assess points or impose discipline up to or including discharge for the absence under its attendance policy. Iowa Admin. Code r. 871—24.32(7); Cosper, 321 N.W.2d at 9; Gaborit v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 734 N.W.2d 554 (Iowa Ct. App. 2007).

Because the final cumulative absence for which claimant was discharged was related to properly reported illness or injury and related ongoing medical treatment, no misconduct has been established and no disqualification is imposed. Benefits are allowed, provided claimant is otherwise eligible.

DECISION:

The August 30, 2023, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision is REVERSED. The claimant was discharged from employment for no disqualifying reason. Benefits are allowed, provided the claimant is otherwise eligible.

REMAND:

The issue of whether claimant is able to and available for work is remanded to the Benefits Bureau of Iowa Workforce Development for an initial investigation and determination.
