APPEAL 23A-UI-09543-S2-T

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE
DECISION

OC: 09/10/23
Claimant: Appellant (2)

Iowa Code § 96.5(1) – Voluntary Quit
Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The claimant filed an appeal from the October 4, 2023, (reference 03) unemployment insurance decision that denied benefits based upon her voluntary quit. The parties were properly notified about the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on October 25, 2023. Claimant Tiajuana Northern participated personally. Employer Care Initiatives participated through witness director of staffing Charissa Baedke and hearing representative Tom Kuyper.

ISSUE:

Did claimant voluntarily leave the employment without good cause attributable to the employer or did employer discharge the claimant for reasons related to job misconduct sufficient to warrant a denial of benefits?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Claimant was employed as an on-call certified nursing assistant (CNA) from March 18, 2022, and was separated from employment on June 30, 2022.

Claimant worked on an as-needed basis. Employer notified claimant when work was available, and she was free to accept or reject work. Claimant worked approximately 5-10 hours per week. At the time of claimant's employment, employer maintained a policy requiring on-call employees to work at least once every 30 days. Claimant last worked for employer on June 11, 2022. After that date, claimant began picking up extra shifts at her full-time employment, so she did not accept any work from employer for a couple of weeks. Claimant contacted employer in early July 2022 to see if any work was available, and the scheduler told claimant she had been removed from the system because she had not been picking up shifts. The scheduler told claimant employer believed she had quit her employment because she had not picked up any shifts.

Claimant had no intention of leaving her employment. She received no disciplinary action during her time working for employer.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

As an initial matter, claimant did not quit her employment, but was discharged. For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes claimant was discharged from employment for no disqualifying reason. Benefits are allowed.

Iowa Code section 96.5(1) provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

1. Voluntary quitting. If the individual has left work voluntarily without good cause attributable to the individual's employer, if so found by the department.

Claimant has the burden of proving that the voluntary leaving was for good cause attributable to the employer. Iowa Code § 96.6(2). "Good cause" for leaving employment must be that which is reasonable to the average person, not the overly sensitive individual or the claimant in particular. Uniweld Products v. Indus. Relations Comm'n, 277 So.2d 827 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1973). A voluntary leaving of employment requires an intention to terminate the employment relationship accompanied by an overt act of carrying out that intention. Local Lodge #1426 v. Wilson Trailer, 289 N.W.2d 608, 612 (Iowa 1980).

Here, claimant did not notify employer she was leaving her employment. She worked in an on-call position and was free to accept or decline work as she wished. She contacted employer less than three weeks after her last shift. Since claimant clearly expressed her intention to continue working by calling to seek available work within the 30-day time-period allotted by employer, the separation was a discharge, the burden of proof falls to the employer, and the issue of misconduct is examined.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:
 - a. The individual shall be disqualified for benefits until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

871 IAC 24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

- a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Department of Job Service, 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979).

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). Misconduct must be "substantial" to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits. Newman v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 351 N.W.2d 806 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984).

No evidence was presented that claimant received any warnings or that she knew her job was in jeopardy. There is no evidence showing an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. Employer has not met its burden of proving disqualifying job-related misconduct. Benefits are allowed provided claimant is otherwise eligible.

DECISION:

The October 4, 2023, (reference 03) unemployment insurance decision is reversed. Claimant was discharged from employment for no disqualifying reason. Benefits are allowed, provided she is otherwise eligible.
