Iowa Code § 96.5(1) – Voluntary Quit
Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The claimant filed an appeal from the May 15, 2023, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that denied benefits based upon her voluntary quit. The parties were properly notified about the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on June 13, 2023. Claimant Brenda L. Janes participated and testified. Employer Wells Fargo Bank NA did not call the toll-free number listed on the hearing notice at the time of the hearing and did not participate. Claimant's Exhibits A and B were admitted.

ISSUE:

Did claimant voluntarily quit the employment with good cause attributable to employer?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Claimant was employed full time by employer from February 3, 2009, until April 26, 2023, when she quit.

For most of claimant's time with this employer, she worked as a data entry clerk. However, in January 2022, claimant's department was notified that various positions might be ending, so employees could remain in their current position and find out in two months if the job would continue or be eliminated; resign; or move into a customer service position. Claimant chose to transfer to the customer service representative position.

In August 2022, claimant's position became more stressful as her workload increased after she completed training. Claimant suffered from anxiety many years prior to taking the new position but had been in remission for years. However, in August, claimant's anxiety worsened, to the point she sought constant medical treatment. Claimant's mental health worsened due to the stress of being on the phone with upset customers and having to meet production numbers. In February 2022, claimant used three weeks of PTO to take a break from work. Claimant returned to work, and employer decreased the types of calls she took to the level she was at in training in order to help her ease back into working. This level remained stressful for claimant. On April 24, 2023, employer increased the types of calls claimant took because it could not continue to accommodate claimant due to the volume of calls it received. Claimant searched for other positions, but she was not qualified for any open positions. On April 26, 2023, claimant notified her supervisor she was resigning effective immediately.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes claimant's separation from the employment was without good cause attributable to the employer.

Iowa Code section 96.5(1) provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

1. Voluntary quitting. If the individual has left work voluntarily without good cause attributable to the individual's employer, if so found by the department.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.26(6)b provides:

Voluntary quit with good cause attributable to the employer and separations not considered to be voluntary quits. The following are reasons for a claimant leaving employment with good cause attributable to the employer:

(6) Separation because of illness, injury, or pregnancy.

b. Employment related separation. The claimant was compelled to leave employment because of an illness, injury, or allergy condition that was attributable to the employment. Factors and circumstances directly connected with the employment which caused or aggravated the illness, injury, allergy, or disease to the employee which made it impossible for the employee to continue in employment because of serious danger to the employee's health may be held to be an involuntary termination of employment and constitute good cause attributable to the employer. The claimant will be eligible for benefits if compelled to leave employment as a result of an injury suffered on the job.

In order to be eligible under this paragraph "b" an individual must present competent evidence showing adequate health reasons to justify termination; before quitting have informed the employer of the work-related health problem and inform the employer that the individual intends to quit unless the problem is corrected or the individual is reasonably accommodated. Reasonable accommodation includes other comparable work which is not injurious to the claimant's health and for which the claimant must remain available.

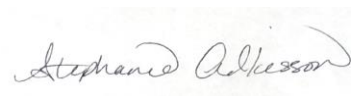

Claimant has the burden of proving that the voluntary leaving was for good cause attributable to the employer. Iowa Code § 96.6(2). "Good cause" for leaving employment must be that which is reasonable to the average person, not the overly sensitive individual or the claimant in particular. Uniweld Products v. Indus. Relations Comm'n, 277 So.2d 827 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1973). A voluntary leaving of employment requires an intention to terminate the employment relationship accompanied by an overt act of carrying out that intention. Local Lodge #1426 v. Wilson Trailer, 289 N.W.2d 608, 612 (Iowa 1980).

Claimant's resignation is both evidence of her intention to sever the employment relationship and an overt act of carrying out her intention. Here, claimant did inform her employer of her work-related health condition prior to quitting. However, she did not inform employer that she intended to quit unless she was accommodated, and she in fact quit without providing any notice. While the administrative law judge is sympathetic to claimant's situation, and while her leaving was for good personal reasons, she has not established it was for a good-cause reason attributable to the employer according to Iowa law. Benefits are denied.

DECISION:

The May 15, 2023, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision is affirmed. Claimant voluntarily left her employment without good cause attributable to the employer. Benefits are withheld until such time as she has worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times her weekly benefit amount, provided she is otherwise eligible.
