Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The claimant filed an appeal from the June 28, 2017 (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that denied benefits based upon a determination that claimant was discharged for violation of a known company rule. The parties were properly notified of the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on July 24, 2017. The claimant, Anthony C. Fleener, participated. The employer, GMT Corporation, participated through B.J. Kinard, HR Manager. Employer's Exhibits 1 through 4 were received and admitted into the record without objection.

ISSUE:

Was the claimant discharged for disqualifying job-related misconduct?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Claimant was employed full time, most recently as a shipping and receiving assistant, from February 23, 2016, until June 13, 2017, when he was discharged for exchanging inappropriate emails with an employee of a subcontractor. On June 8, the subcontractor's president notified the employer's president that its shipping clerk, Shana Ross, was being discharged for exchanging inappropriate emails with claimant. The employer conducted an investigation into claimant's emails and confirmed that he had exchanged suggestive emails with Ross. (Exhibit 4) At some point during the conversation, either through email or text messaging, claimant sent Ross a naked picture of himself. Claimant signed the employer's Email and Internet Policy Employee Statement of Affirmation, indicating he was aware that he could lose his job for sending or receiving offensive or obscene material. (Exhibit 1) He also signed the employer's Receipt and Acknowledgment of Employment Handbook. (Exhibit 2)

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes claimant was discharged from employment for engaging in disqualifying, job-related misconduct. Benefits are withheld.

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The individual shall be disqualified for benefits until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979). Misconduct must be "substantial" to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits. Newman v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 351 N.W.2d 806 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). When based on carelessness, the carelessness must actually indicate a "wrongful intent" to be disqualifying in nature. Id. Negligence does not constitute misconduct unless recurrent in nature; a single act is not disqualifying unless indicative of a deliberate disregard of the employer's interests. Henry v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 391 N.W.2d 731 (Iowa Ct. App. 1986).

Under the definition of misconduct for purposes of unemployment benefit disqualification, the conduct in question must be "work-connected." Diggs v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 478 N.W.2d 432 (Iowa Ct. App. 1991). The court has concluded that some off-duty conduct can have the requisite element of work connection. Kleidosty v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 482 N.W.2d 416, 418 (Iowa 1992). Under similar definitions of misconduct, for an employer to show that the employee's off-duty activities rise to the level of misconduct in connection with the employment, the employer must show by a preponderance of the evidence that the employee's conduct (1) had some nexus with the work; (2) resulted in some harm to the employer's interest, and (3) was conduct which was (a) violative of some code of behavior impliedly contracted between employer and employee, and (b) done with intent or knowledge that the employer's interest would suffer. See also, Dray v. Director, 930 S.W.2d 390 (Ark. Ct. App. 1996); In re Kotrba, 418

N.W.2d 313 (SD 1988), quoting Nelson v. Dept of Emp't Security, 655 P.2d 242 (WA 1982); 76 Am. Jur. 2d, Unemployment Compensation §§ 77–78.

It is the duty of the administrative law judge as the trier of fact in this case, to determine the credibility of witnesses, weigh the evidence and decide the facts in issue. Arndt v. City of LeClaire, 728 N.W.2d 389, 394-395 (Iowa 2007). The administrative law judge may believe all, part or none of any witness's testimony. State v. Holtz, 548 N.W.2d 162, 163 (Iowa App. 1996). In assessing the credibility of witnesses, the administrative law judge should consider the evidence using his or her own observations, common sense and experience. Id. In determining the facts, and deciding what testimony to believe, the fact finder may consider the following factors: whether the testimony is reasonable and consistent with other believable evidence; whether a witness has made inconsistent statements; the witness's appearance, conduct, age, intelligence, memory and knowledge of the facts; and the witness's interest in the trial, their motive, candor, bias and prejudice. Id. After assessing the credibility of the witnesses who testified during the hearing, considering the applicable factors listed above, and using her own common sense and experience, the administrative law judge finds the employer's version of events more credible than claimant's version of events.

The employer has established that claimant was using his work email account to send inappropriate emails to an employee of a subcontractor. Even if some of these messages were sent after claimant left work for the day, he continued to use his work email account and harmed the employer's relationship with the subcontractor, which any reasonable employee would have known would happen. Claimant's misuse of company email amounts to disqualifying misconduct even without prior warning. Benefits are withheld.

DECISION:

The June 28, 2017 (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision is affirmed. Claimant was discharged from employment due to job-related misconduct. Benefits are withheld until such time as he has worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times his weekly benefit amount, provided he is otherwise eligible.
