APPEAL 22A-UI-13889-DB-T
ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE DECISION

OC: 05/22/22
Claimant: Appellant (1)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2) a – Discharge for Misconduct
Iowa Code § 96.5(11) – Separation due to Incarceration

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The claimant/appellant filed an appeal from the June 8, 2022 (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that denied unemployment insurance benefits to the claimant based upon a separation from work. The parties were properly notified of the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on July 26, 2022. The claimant participated personally. The employer participated through witnesses Nicole Lear and Amy Kaufman. The administrative law judge took administrative notice of the claimant's unemployment insurance benefits records.

ISSUES:

Was the claimant's separation from employment disqualifying?
Was the claimant separated from employment due to incarceration?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Claimant was employed as a mailroom operator, working 32 hours per week. Her employment began on April 23, 1984 and ended on May 9, 2022, when she was discharged from employment.

The employer has a written policy which states that having more than two no call no shows to a scheduled workday will be considered job abandonment. The claimant was a no call no show to work on April 25, April 26, April 28, April 29, May 2, May 3, May 5, and May 6, 2022.

On April 24, 2022, the claimant became incarcerated in the Scott County Jail for charges alleging elder abuse and neglect. The claimant contacted a co-worker named Suzie Lewis and asked her to tell her supervisor Steve Houk that she was incarcerated and would not be at work. It is unknown what date Ms. Lewis notified Mr. Houk that the claimant was incarcerated; however, Ms. Kaufman was aware of this information on or before May 9, 2022.

Claimant was not released from jail until May 23, 2022. She had pled not guilty, and trial is currently scheduled for August of 2022. The claimant did not notify the employer that she would be absent from work for each of the scheduled work shifts that she missed, as was required by the employer's written policy.

On May 9, 2022, the claimant was notified by letter that her employment was terminated due to job abandonment in violation of the employer's written policy. The employer's written policy requires an employee to notify the employer if they will be absent from a scheduled shift each day of their absence. The claimant had access to the employer's written policy and was aware it existed. The claimant failed to notify the employer of each of her absences pursuant to the employer's written policies.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes as follows:

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The individual shall be disqualified for benefits until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Code section 96.5(11)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

11. Incarceration –disqualified.

a. If the department finds that the individual became separated from employment due to the individual's incarceration in a jail, municipal holding facility, or correctional institution or facility, unless the department finds all of the following:

(1) The individual notified the employer that the individual would be absent from work due to the individual's incarceration prior to any such absence.

(2) Criminal charges relating to the incarceration were not filed against the individual, all criminal charges against the individual relating to the incarceration were dismissed, or the individual was found not guilty of all criminal charges relating to the incarceration.

(3) The individual reported back to the employer within two work days of the individual's release from incarceration and offered services.

(4) The employer rejected the individual's offer of services.

b. A disqualification under this subsection shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979).

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(4) provides:

(4) Report required. The claimant's statement and employer's statement must give detailed facts as to the specific reason for the claimant's discharge. Allegations of misconduct or dishonesty without additional evidence shall not be sufficient to result in disqualification. If the employer is unwilling to furnish available evidence to corroborate the allegation, misconduct cannot be established. In cases where a suspension or disciplinary layoff exists, the claimant is considered as discharged, and the issue of misconduct shall be resolved.

Iowa Admin. Code r.871-24.32(8) provides:

(8) Past acts of misconduct. While past acts and warnings can be used to determine the magnitude of a current act of misconduct, a discharge for misconduct cannot be based on such past act or acts. The termination of employment must be based on a current act.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(7) provides:

(7) Excessive unexcused absenteeism. Excessive unexcused absenteeism is an intentional disregard of the duty owed by the claimant to the employer and shall be considered misconduct except for illness or other reasonable grounds for which the employee was absent and that were properly reported to the employer.

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). Excessive absences are not considered misconduct unless unexcused. Id. at 10. Absences due to properly reported illness cannot constitute work-connected misconduct since they are not volitional, even if the employer was fully within its rights to assess points or impose discipline up to or including discharge for the absence under its attendance policy. Gaborit v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 743 N.W.2d 554 (Iowa Ct.

App. 2007). Medical documentation is not essential to a determination that an absence due to illness should be treated as excused. Id. at 558.

Excessive unexcused absenteeism is an intentional disregard of the duty owed by the claimant to the employer and shall be considered misconduct except for illness or other reasonable grounds for which the employee was absent and that were properly reported to the employer. Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(7) (emphasis added); see Higgins v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 350 N.W.2d 187, 190, n. 1 (Iowa 1984) holding "rule [2]4.32(7)...accurately states the law." The requirements for a finding of misconduct based on absences are therefore twofold.

First, the absences must be excessive. Sallis v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 437 N.W.2d 895 (Iowa 1989). The determination of whether unexcused absenteeism is excessive necessarily requires consideration of past acts and warnings. Higgins, 350 N.W.2d at 192 (Iowa 1984). Second, the absences must be unexcused. Cosper, 321 N.W.2d at 10 (Iowa 1982). The requirement of "unexcused" can be satisfied in two ways. An absence can be unexcused either because it was not for "reasonable grounds," Higgins, 350 N.W.2d at 191 or because it was not "properly reported." Higgins, 350 N.W.2d at 191 (Iowa 1984) and Cosper, 321 N.W.2d at 10 (Iowa 1982). Excused absences are those "with appropriate notice." Cosper, 321 N.W.2d at 10 (Iowa 1982).

The term "absenteeism" also encompasses conduct that is more accurately referred to as "tardiness." An absence is an extended tardiness and an incident of tardiness is a limited absence. Higgins, 350 N.W.2d at 190 (Iowa 1984). Absences related to issues of personal responsibility such as transportation, lack of childcare, and oversleeping is not considered excused. Id. at 191.

Absences due to illness or injury must be properly reported in order to be excused. Cosper, 321 N.W.2d at 10-11 (Iowa 1982). Absences in good faith, for good cause, with appropriate notice, are not misconduct. Id. at 10. They may be grounds for discharge but not for disqualification of benefits because substantial disregard for the employer's interest is not shown and this is essential to a finding of misconduct. Id. Excessive absenteeism has been found when there have been seven unexcused absences in five months; five unexcused absences and three instances of tardiness in eight months; three unexcused absences over an eight-month period; three unexcused absences over seven months; and missing three times after being warned. See Higgins, 350 N.W.2d at 192 (Iowa 1984); Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa App. 1984); Armel v. EAB, 2007 WL 3376929*3 (Iowa App. Nov. 15, 2007); Hiland v. EAB, No. 12-2300 (Iowa App. July 10, 2013); and Clark v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 317 N.W.2d 517 (Iowa App. 1982).

In this case, the claimant had eight unexcused absences from work in the month of April and May of 2022. Claimant was aware that the employer had a policy prohibiting excessive absenteeism. Claimant violated the policy by failing to notify the employer prior to the beginning of her shifts that she would be absent from work. Further, the claimant has failed to establish that the charges leading to her incarceration were either not filed, dismissed, or that she was found not guilty pursuant to Iowa Code section 96.5(11)a. Eight unexcused absences over the course of a two-week period are considered excessive. This was a material breach of the claimant's duties and obligations that arose out of the contract of employment with the employer. The employer has established that the claimant was discharged for substantial job-related misconduct. Unemployment insurance benefits are denied, as the discharge from employment is disqualifying.

DECISION:

The June 8, 2022 (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision is affirmed. Claimant was discharged from employment for substantial job-related misconduct. The separation from employment is disqualifying and benefits are denied until claimant has worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times her weekly benefit amount after the May 9, 2022 separation date, and provided she is otherwise eligible.
