DECISION

OC: 03/12/23
Claimant: Appellant (1)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct
Iowa Code § 96.5(1) – Voluntary Quitting
Iowa Code § 96.3(7) – Overpayment
Iowa Admin Code r. 871-24.10 – Repayment/Chargeability

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The claimant, Robert Cloe, filed an appeal from the April 4, 2023 (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that allowed benefits based upon claimant's discharge from employment. The parties were properly notified of the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on May 2, 2023. The claimant, Robert Cloe, participated personally. The employer, Hy-Vee Inc, participated through witnesses Monica Costa, Amber Vonk, Dean Kepker and Robert McGregor. Hearing representative, Michael Gleish, participated on behalf of the employer. Employer's exhibit pages 1-9 were offered and admitted. Claimant's exhibit pages 1-6 were offered and admitted.

ISSUES:

Was the claimant discharged for disqualifying job-related misconduct?
Did claimant voluntarily quit the employment with good cause attributable to employer?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Claimant was hired beginning October 5, 2021 as a full-time production worker. Claimant's immediate supervisor was Dean Kepker and Robert McGregor. The claimant last worked for the employer on March 8, 2023. He was discharged from employment on March 8, 2023 due to violation of the employer's harassment policy. In the time leading up to March 8, 2023, the claimant had been making Hy-Vee Inc employee, Amber Vonk, feel increasingly uncomfortable in the work place. On March 3, 2023, the claimant first reported the claimant's behavior to her supervisor. She reported that the claimant would routinely search for Ms. Vonk when at work and try to remain in her physical presence, making her feel uncomfortable. He would physically rub up against Ms. Vonk and he would purposefully bump into her. Robert McGregor witnessed the claimant physically touch Ms. Vonk while at work. Mr. McGregor warned the claimant that he needed to stop the behavior and that harassment would result in his discharge from employment.

On March 7, 2023, the claimant told Ms. Vonk he “wouldn’t stop until he fucked her.” Ms. Vonk reported this statement to her supervisors, Mr. Kepker and Mr. McGregor. The claimant was interviewed about the statement, and he did not deny making the statement to Ms. Vonk. The claimant was discharged for violation of the employer’s harassment policy.

The claimant had been made aware of the employer’s anti-harassment policy at the time he was hired. The policy was provided to the claimant in the employer’s handbook. The claimant acknowledged receipt of the handbook with his signature.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes the claimant was discharged for job-related misconduct. Benefits are denied.

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The individual shall be disqualified for benefits until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. “Misconduct” is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Dep’t of Job Serv., 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979).

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(4) provides:

(4) Report required. The claimant's statement and employer's statement must give detailed facts as to the specific reason for the claimant's discharge. Allegations of misconduct or dishonesty without additional evidence shall not be sufficient to result in disqualification. If the employer is unwilling to furnish available evidence to corroborate the allegation, misconduct cannot be established. In cases where a suspension or disciplinary layoff exists, the claimant is considered as discharged, and the issue of misconduct shall be resolved.

Iowa Admin. Code r.871-24.32(8) provides:

(8) Past acts of misconduct. While past acts and warnings can be used to determine the magnitude of a current act of misconduct, a discharge for misconduct cannot be based on such past act or acts. The termination of employment must be based on a current act.

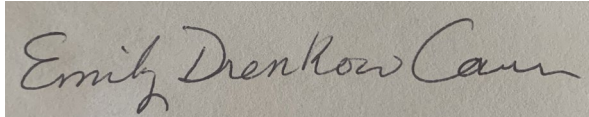

It is the duty of the administrative law judge as the trier of fact in this case, to determine the credibility of witnesses, weigh the evidence and decide the facts in issue. Arndt v. City of LeClaire, 728 N.W.2d 389, 394-395 (Iowa 2007). The administrative law judge may believe all, part or none of any witness's testimony. State v. Holtz, 548 N.W.2d 162, 163 (Iowa App. 1996). In assessing the credibility of witnesses, the administrative law judge should consider the evidence using his or her own observations, common sense and experience. Id. In determining the facts, and deciding what testimony to believe, the fact finder may consider the following factors: whether the testimony is reasonable and consistent with other believable evidence; whether a witness has made inconsistent statements; the witness's appearance, conduct, age, intelligence, memory and knowledge of the facts; and the witness's interest in the trial, their motive, candor, bias and prejudice. Id. After assessing the credibility of the witnesses who testified during the hearing, considering the applicable factors listed above, and using her own common sense and experience, the administrative law judge finds the employer's testimony with supporting witnesses and evidence was more credible than the claimant's testimony.

In this case, the claimant had received a verbal warnings along with his receipt of the employer's handbook regarding his behavior toward Ms. Vonk. The claimant was aware that harassment may result in discharge from employment.

The employer has the burden to prove the claimant was discharged for work-connected misconduct as defined by the unemployment insurance law. Cosper v. Iowa Department of Job Service, 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). The propriety of a discharge is not at issue in an unemployment insurance case. An employer may be justified in discharging an employee, but the employee's conduct may not amount to misconduct precluding the payment of unemployment compensation. The law limits disqualifying misconduct to substantial and willful wrongdoing or repeated carelessness or negligence that equals willful misconduct in culpability. Lee v. Employment Appeal Board, 616 NW2d 661 (Iowa 2000). The findings of fact show how this administrative law judge has resolved the disputed factual issues in this case. The Employer provided ample evidence to contradict the Claimant's testimony in which he, initially, denied making a harassing statement to Ms. Vonk. The employer has satisfied its burden of proof that the Claimant violated its anti-harassment policy.

DECISION:

The April 4, 2023 (refer 01) unemployment insurance decision is affirmed. Claimant was discharged from employment for job-related misconduct. Benefits are withheld in regards to this employer until such time as claimant is deemed eligible.
