ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE
DECISION

OC: 04/17/22
Claimant: Appellant (1)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

On May 11, 2022, Brekka L. Walker (claimant) filed an appeal from the May 9, 2022, reference 01, unemployment insurance decision that denied benefits based upon the determination The University of Iowa (employer) discharged them for violation of a known company rule. The parties were properly notified about the hearing held by telephone on September 15, 2022. The claimant participated personally. The employer participated through Jennifer Boyd, Nurse Manager, and Kaitlin Luoma, HR Manager. The employer as represented by Scott Coons. The employer's Exhibits 1 through 5 were admitted into the record.

ISSUE:

Did the employer discharge the claimant for job related misconduct?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: The claimant was employed full-time as a Patient Access Specialist beginning on January 7, 2019, and was separated from employment on April 19, 2022, when they were discharged. The employer has policies regarding employees' use of patients' Protected Health Information (PHI), specifically PHI is only to be accessed by staff with consent from the patient or in the normal course of business. The claimant received a copy of the policy.

In December 2021, the claimant received a warning and additional training on the policy. They had been accessing patient information of family members without authorization. The employer put the claimant on notice that continued violation of the policy could result in discharge.

The claimant's domestic partner had impregnated one of the patients seen by the employer. The partner coerced the claimant to disclose information related to the patient's pregnancy. The claimant accessed the patient's PHI eight times between January 6 and April 14, 2022. They then shared the PHI with the partner.

The employer learned of the policy violations when the patient called the compliance department and made a complaint that the partner knew information that only could have come from the medical charts. The claimant acknowledged engaging in the behavior and knew it could lead to termination of employment. The employer discharged the claimant for violation of the policy related to PHI.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the following reasons, the administrative law judge concludes the claimant was discharged from employment due to job-related misconduct. Benefits are denied.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The disqualification shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition of misconduct has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979). The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984).

Misconduct must be "substantial" to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits. Newman v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 351 N.W.2d 806 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). When based on carelessness, the carelessness must actually indicate a “wrongful intent” to be disqualifying in nature. Id. Negligence does not constitute misconduct unless recurrent in nature; a single act is not disqualifying unless indicative of a deliberate disregard of the employer’s interests. Henry v. Iowa Dep’t of Job Serv., 391 N.W.2d 731 (Iowa Ct. App. 1986). Generally, continued refusal to follow reasonable instructions constitutes misconduct. Gilliam v. Atlantic Bottling Co., 453 N.W.2d 230 (Iowa Ct. App. 1990).

The employer has met the burden of proof to establish that the claimant acted deliberately or with recurrent negligence in violation of company policy, procedure, or prior warning. The employer has a legal duty to protect the health information of its patients. It provides training and policies to the staff regarding the use and disclosure of PHI. The employer has presented substantial and credible evidence that the claimant continued to access and disclose PHI without authorization after having been warned and in a deliberate disregard of the employer’s best interests. Benefits are denied.

DECISION:

The May 9, 2022, reference 01, unemployment insurance decision is affirmed. The claimant was discharged from employment due to job-related misconduct. Benefits are withheld until such time as they have worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times their weekly benefit amount, provided they are otherwise eligible.
