ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE
DECISION

OC: 10/29/23
Claimant: Appellant (1)

Iowa Code § 96.5(1) – Voluntary Quitting

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

On December 5, 2023, the claimant filed an appeal from the November 30, 2023, (reference 02) unemployment insurance decision that denied benefits based on the determination that claimant voluntarily quit employment without good cause attributable to the employer. The parties were properly notified about the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on December 21, 2023. Claimant, Leigha Mason, participated. Employer, Family Dollar Services Inc., did not participate. No exhibits were offered or admitted.

ISSUE:

Did the claimant voluntarily quit employment without good cause attributable to the employer, or was the claimant discharged for disqualifying job-related misconduct?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Claimant began working for employer on October 3, 2022. Claimant last worked as a full-time repack/order filler. Claimant was separated from employment on March 13, 2023, when she resigned.

Claimant's supervisor was Laurie Benechek. Claimant felt that Benechek displayed significant favoritism among claimant's coworkers with regard to work assignments. Each night, Benechek assigned employees to modules. Some modules were easier than others—for example, one module was responsible for personal health and beauty orders, while other modules were responsible for heavier or more demanding orders like clothing and shoes. Often, if one of claimant's coworkers claimed not to be feeling well, and if claimant was assigned to an easy module, Benechek would switch claimant to a more difficult module. Claimant complained to the operations manager, Harry, about this in January. Nothing changed after claimant's complaint.

In late February or early March 2023, claimant was not feeling well. She asked Benechek to be switched to an easier module. Benechek refused and provided claimant with an explanation that claimant considered an excuse. Claimant went to Harry and put in her two-week notice.

Harry stated that claimant could rescind the two-week notice during the two-week period if she so desired. Claimant's last day was scheduled to be March 13, 2023.

Claimant was scheduled to be out on vacation beginning March 14, 2023. On March 13, 2023, claimant went to HR and spoke with Kathy. She stated she would like to rescind her resignation and, instead, would like to change to part-time work. Kathy stated that Harry would be in touch with claimant.

On March 18, 2023, claimant was attempting to access her pay records. She was unable to access them, so she called the employer. She spoke with Benechek. Benechek told her that it was her understanding that claimant had resigned and her employment had ended effective March 13, 2023.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes claimant's separation from the employment was without good cause attributable to the employer.

Iowa Code section 96.5(1) provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

1. Voluntary quitting. If the individual has left work voluntarily without good cause attributable to the individual's employer, if so found by the department.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871—24.25(37) provides:

Voluntary quit without good cause. In general, a voluntary quit means discontinuing the employment because the employee no longer desires to remain in the relationship of an employee with the employer from whom the employee has separated. The employer has the burden of proving that the claimant is disqualified for benefits pursuant to Iowa Code section 96.5. However, the claimant has the initial burden to produce evidence that the claimant is not disqualified for benefits in cases involving Iowa Code section 96.5, subsection (1), paragraphs "a" through "i," and subsection 10. The following reasons for a voluntary quit shall be presumed to be without good cause attributable to the employer:

(37) The claimant will be considered to have left employment voluntarily when such claimant gave the employer notice of an intention to resign and the employer accepted such resignation. This rule shall also apply to the claimant who was employed by an educational institution who has declined or refused to accept a new contract or reasonable assurance of work for a successive academic term or year and the offer of work was within the purview of the individual's training and experience.

A voluntary quitting means discontinuing the employment because the employee no longer desires to remain in the relationship of an employee with the employer and requires an intention to terminate the employment. Wills v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 447 N.W. 2d 137, 138 (Iowa 1989). A voluntary leaving of employment requires an intention to terminate the employment relationship accompanied by an overt act of carrying out that intention. Local Lodge #1426 v. Wilson Trailer, 289 N.W.2d 608, 612 (Iowa 1980); Peck v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 492 N.W.2d 438 (Iowa Ct. App. 1992).

Claimant has the burden of proving that the voluntary leaving was for good cause attributable to the employer. Iowa Code § 96.6(2). "Good cause" for leaving employment must be that which is reasonable to the average person, not the overly sensitive individual or the claimant in particular. Uniweld Products v. Indus. Relations Comm'n, 277 So.2d 827 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1973). The standard of what a reasonable person would have believed under the circumstances is applied in determining whether a claimant left work voluntarily with good cause attributable to the employer. O'Brien v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 494 N.W.2d 660 (Iowa 1993).

Claimant has not demonstrated that her reasons for leaving the employment were due to good cause attributable to the employer. While she disagreed with the assignment of modules by her supervisor, there is no indication that the employer ever asked her to do anything out of the expected limits of her position. Because claimant has not demonstrated that her initial resignation was due to good-cause reasons attributable to the employer, and because the employer accepted her resignation rather than allowing her to rescind it, benefits must be denied.

DECISION:

The November 30, 2023, (reference 02) unemployment insurance decision is AFFIRMED. Claimant voluntarily left the employment without good cause attributable to the employer. Benefits are withheld until such time as she has worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times her weekly benefit amount, provided she is otherwise eligible.
