(Decision Dated & Mailed)

Section 96.5-2-a - Discharge

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The claimant appealed an unemployment insurance decision dated May 27, 2004, reference 01, that concluded she was discharged for work-connected misconduct. A telephone hearing was held on June 23, 2004. The parties were properly notified about the hearing. The claimant participated in the hearing. No one participated in the hearing on behalf of the employer. Becky Wahlberg was schedule to participate in the hearing but was not available to take the call at the time of the hearing. Exhibits One, Two, and Three were admitted into evidence at the hearing.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

The claimant worked full time for the employer as a production worker from March 12, 1996, to May 14, 2004. She was discharged under the employer's no-fault attendance policy for incurring too many attendance points. The claimant's final points were incurred on April 27, April 29, May 1, May 4, May 6, and May 7 when she was late for work.

The claimant was diagnosed and treated for sleep apnea, a condition that causes an individual to stop breathing while sleeping and also creates a deep sleep that an individual has trouble waking up from. The claimant was given a breathing machine to use to treat her condition but the machine caused her nose to run continuously, which interfered with her production work. As a result, the claimant discontinued using the breathing machine because she was not able to work after using it. The claimant's instances of tardiness were all due to the affects of her sleep apnea and were not due to willful misconduct by the claimant.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

The issue in this case is whether the claimant was discharged for work-connected misconduct as defined by the unemployment insurance law.

Iowa Code Section 96.5-2-a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The individual shall be disqualified for benefits until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

871 IAC 24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Department of Job Service, 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979).

The employer has the burden to prove the claimant was discharged for work-connected misconduct as defined by the unemployment insurance law. Cosper v. Iowa Department of Job Service, 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). The propriety of a discharge is not at issue in an unemployment insurance case. An employer may be justified in discharging an employee, but the employee's conduct may not amount to misconduct precluding the payment of unemployment compensation. The law limits disqualifying misconduct to substantial and willful wrongdoing or repeated carelessness or negligence that equals willful misconduct in culpability. Lee v. Employment Appeal Board, 616 N.W.2d 661, 665 (Iowa 2000).

While the employer may have been justified in discharging the claimant, work-connected misconduct as defined by the unemployment insurance law has not been established in this case.

DECISION:

The unemployment insurance decision dated May 27, 2004, reference 01, is reversed. The claimant is qualified to receive unemployment insurance benefits, if she is otherwise eligible.
