Claimant

APPEAL 23A-UI-08903-PT-T

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE DECISION

FT DODGE CORRECTIONAL FACILITY
Employer

OC: 08/13/23
Claimant: Appellant (2)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The claimant filed an appeal from a decision of a representative dated September 12, 2023, (reference 03) that held claimant ineligible for unemployment insurance benefits after a separation from employment. After due notice, a telephone hearing was held on October 3, 2023. Claimant participated personally. The employer participated through Deputy Warden Don Harris and was represented by Corporate Cost Control Representative Marlene Sartin. The administrative law judge took official notice of the administrative record.

ISSUE:

Whether claimant was discharged for disqualifying, job-related misconduct.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

The administrative law judge, having heard the testimony and considered all of the evidence in the record, finds: Claimant was employed full-time as a correctional officer from February 18, 2022 until his employment with Fort Dodge Correctional Facility ended on August 18, 2023, when he was discharged.

The employer is a correctional facility with written work rules and policies, which includes policies prohibiting employees from providing contraband to inmates and having relationships with former inmates outside of work. Claimant received copies of, and was familiar with, the employer's work rules. In May 2023, the employer discovered information indicating that claimant may have provided contraband to inmates. On May 17, 2023, the employer suspended claimant with pay pending an investigation.

In June and July of 2023, the employer subpoenaed cell phone and cash app records that allegedly showed claimant had received payments from former inmates and family members of inmates who were currently incarcerated at the Fort Dodge Correctional Facility. The employer did not offer any of these records into evidence at the hearing. On July 28, 2023, investigators interviewed claimant and questioned claimant about the alleged transactions. During the interview, claimant denied knowing any former inmates and denied having received any payments from former inmates or family members of current inmates.

On August 18, 2023, the employer called claimant to a meeting at the Fort Dodge Correctional Facility. When claimant arrived, the employer informed claimant that his employment was being terminated effective immediately due to allegedly providing inmates prohibited contraband in exchange for payments. Prior to his termination, claimant had never received any warnings or workplace discipline.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes the claimant was discharged from employment for no disqualifying reason.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The disqualification shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979).

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(4) provides:

(4) Report required. The claimant's statement and employer's statement must give detailed facts as to the specific reason for the claimant's discharge. Allegations of misconduct or dishonesty without additional evidence shall not be sufficient to result in disqualification. If the employer is unwilling to furnish available evidence to corroborate the allegation, misconduct cannot be established. In cases where a suspension or disciplinary layoff exists, the claimant is considered as discharged, and the issue of misconduct shall be resolved.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(8) provides:

(8) Past acts of misconduct. While past acts and warnings can be used to determine the magnitude of a current act of misconduct, a discharge for misconduct cannot be based on such past act or acts. The termination of employment must be based on a current act.

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). A determination as to whether an employee's act is misconduct does not rest solely on the interpretation or application of the employer's policy or rule. A violation is not necessarily disqualifying misconduct even if the employer was fully within its rights to impose discipline up to or including discharge for the incident under its policy. The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). What constitutes misconduct justifying termination of an employee and what misconduct warrants denial of unemployment insurance benefits are two separate decisions. Pierce v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 425 N.W.2d 679 (Iowa Ct. App. 1988).

Misconduct serious enough to warrant discharge is not necessarily serious enough to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits. Such misconduct must be "substantial." Newman v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 351 N.W.2d 806 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). The law limits disqualifying misconduct to substantial and willful wrongdoing or repeated carelessness or negligence that equals willful misconduct in culpability. Lee v. Employment Appeal Bd., 616 N.W.2d 661 (Iowa 2000). A failure in job performance is not misconduct unless it is intentional. Huntoon, supra; Lee v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 616 N.W.2d 661 (Iowa 2000).

It is the duty of the administrative law judge as the trier of fact in this case, to determine the credibility of witnesses, weigh the evidence and decide the facts in issue. Arndt v. City of LeClaire, 728 N.W.2d 389, 394-395 (Iowa 2007). The administrative law judge may believe all, part or none of any witness's testimony. State v. Holtz, 548 N.W.2d 162, 163 (Iowa App. 1996). In assessing the credibility of witnesses, the administrative law judge should consider the evidence using his or her own observations, common sense and experience. Id. In determining the facts, and deciding what testimony to believe, the fact finder may consider the following factors: whether the testimony is reasonable and consistent with other believable evidence; whether a witness has made inconsistent statements; the witness's appearance, conduct, age, intelligence, memory and knowledge of the facts; and the witness's interest in the trial, their motive, candor, bias and prejudice. Id.

The findings of fact show how I have resolved the disputed factual issues in this case. I assessed the credibility of the witnesses who testified during the hearing, considering the applicable factors listed above, and using my own common sense and experience. I allocated greater weight to the claimant's testimony, as the claimant was the only witness who testified who had direct, first-hand knowledge of his conduct and the employer's witness was not involved in the investigation.

The employer discharged claimant for allegedly selling prohibited contraband to inmates; an accusation which claimant has consistently and adamantly denied occurred. The employer did not provide any records to corroborate its allegations, did not provide a report of the investigation, and none of the individuals directly involved in the investigation testified at the hearing. Allegations of misconduct or dishonesty without additional evidence shall not be sufficient to result in disqualification. Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(4). Absent a more detailed account of the incident or any evidence corroborating the employer's allegations, the administrative law judge concludes the employer has not met the burden of proof to establish claimant committed the alleged misconduct. As such, benefits are allowed provided the claimant is otherwise eligible.

DECISION:

The September 12, 2023, (reference 03) unemployment insurance decision is reversed. The claimant was discharged from employment for no disqualifying reason. Claimant is eligible to receive unemployment insurance benefits, provided claimant meets all other eligibility requirements.
