(Administrative Law Judge)

(Decision Dated & Mailed)

Section 96.5-1 - Voluntary Quit
Section 96.3-7 – Overpayment

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

Express Services, Inc. (employer) appealed an unemployment insurance decision dated September 28, 2004, reference 03, which held that Adam Weringa (claimant) was eligible for unemployment insurance benefits. After hearing notices were mailed to the parties' last-known addresses of record, a telephone hearing was held on October 25, 2004. The claimant did not provide a telephone number at which he could be contacted, and therefore, did not participate. The employer participated through Andre Smith, Staffing Consultant.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

The administrative law judge, having heard the testimony and considered all of the evidence in the record, finds that: The claimant was hired on February 17, 2004 as a full-time general laborer. His assignment with the temporary employment firm ended on September 1, 2004 and the claimant spoke with the employer on September 2, 2004. No work was available until September 14, 2004 when the employer called the claimant to work. The claimant never called the employer but his mother, did and found out more information about the job. The employer never heard anything more from the claimant after the telephone call from his mother.

The claimant filed a claim for unemployment insurance benefits effective September 28, 2004 and has received benefits after the separation from employment in the amount of $195.00.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

The issue is whether the reasons for the claimant's separation from employment qualify him to receive unemployment insurance benefits.

Iowa Code Section 96.5-1 provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

1. Voluntary quitting. If the individual has left work voluntarily without good cause attributable to the individual's employer, if so found by the department.

A voluntary leaving of employment requires an intention to terminate the employment relationship accompanied by an overt act of carrying out that intention. Local Lodge #1426 v. Wilson Trailer, 289 N.W.2d 608, 612 (Iowa 1980). The claimant demonstrated his intent to quit and acted to carry it out when he did not accept the job offer on September 14, 2004 and never contacted the employer after that date. It is his burden to prove that the voluntary quit was for a good reason that would not disqualify him. Iowa Code Section 96.6-2. The claimant failed to participate in the hearing and there is no evidence he quit his employment with good cause attributable to the employer. Benefits are denied as of the week ending September 18, 2004.

Iowa Code Section 96.3-7 provides:

7. Recovery of overpayment of benefits. If an individual receives benefits for which the individual is subsequently determined to be ineligible, even though the individual acts in good faith and is not otherwise at fault, the benefits shall be recovered. The department in its discretion may recover the overpayment of benefits either by having a sum equal to the overpayment deducted from any future benefits payable to the individual or by having the individual pay to the department a sum equal to the overpayment.

If the department determines that an overpayment has been made, the charge for the overpayment against the employer's account shall be removed and the account shall be credited with an amount equal to the overpayment from the unemployment compensation trust fund and this credit shall include both contributory and reimbursable employers, notwithstanding section 96.8, subsection 5.

Because the claimant's separation was disqualifying, benefits were paid to which the claimant was not entitled. Those benefits must be recovered in accordance with the provisions of Iowa law.

DECISION:

The unemployment insurance decision dated September 28, 2004, reference 03, is modified in favor of the appellant. The claimant voluntarily left work without good cause attributable to the employer. Benefits are denied as of September 18, 2004 and are withheld until he has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times his weekly benefit amount provided he is otherwise eligible. The claimant is overpaid benefits in the amount of $195.00.
