Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The claimant/appellant filed an appeal from the December 28, 2023 (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that denied unemployment insurance benefits to the claimant based upon a discharge from work. The parties were properly notified of the hearing. An in person hearing was initially requested; however, the claimant requested and was allowed to participate via telephone. The telephone hearing was held on January 19, 2024. The claimant participated personally and was represented by attorney Kelsey A W Marquard. The employer did not participate, either by telephone or in person. The administrative law judge took administrative notice of the claimant's unemployment insurance benefits records.

ISSUE:

Was the claimant's separation from employment disqualifying?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Claimant began working for this employer on May 7, 2021 as a full time cook. She was discharged from employment on December 7, 2023. She was suspended on November 24, 2023. The employer did not interview the claimant about any final incidents; however, the claimant believed that the employer accused her of using profane language when calling another person a name. Claimant did not call another person a name or use profane language.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes as follows:

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)a & d provide in pertinent part:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The disqualification shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

d. For the purposes of this subsection, "misconduct" means a deliberate act or omission by an employee that constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of the employee's contract of employment. Misconduct is limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of the standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligation to the employer. Misconduct by an individual includes but is not limited to all of the following: ...

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job-related misconduct.<sup>1</sup> In unemployment insurance benefits cases, the issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits.<sup>2</sup> What constitutes misconduct justifying termination of an employee and what misconduct warrants denial of unemployment insurance benefits are two separate decisions.<sup>3</sup> Misconduct serious enough to warrant discharge is not necessarily serious enough to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits.<sup>4</sup> Such misconduct must be "substantial."<sup>5</sup>

Iowa Admin. Code r.871-24.32(8) provides:

(8) Past acts of misconduct. While past acts and warnings can be used to determine the magnitude of a current act of misconduct, a discharge for misconduct cannot be based on such past act or acts. The termination of employment must be based on a current act.

In this case, there is no evidence that a final incident or current act occurred which would be a deliberate act or omission that constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of the claimant's contract of employment. Without a final substantial incident of job-related misconduct, the discharge from employment is not disqualifying. Benefits are allowed, provided the claimant is otherwise eligible.
