APPEAL 23A-UI-07262-PT-T
ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE
DECISION

OC: 06/18/23
Claimant: Respondent (2)

Iowa Code § 96.5(1) – Voluntary Quitting
Iowa Code § 96.3(7) – Overpayment of Benefits
Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.10 – Employer Participation in Fact-finding Interview

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The employer filed an appeal from a decision of a representative dated July 12, 2023, (reference 01) that held claimant eligible for unemployment insurance benefits after a separation from employment. After due notice, a hearing was held on August 9, 2023. The claimant did not participate. The employer participated through District Manager Madeline Lindquist and was represented by Equifax Representative Kathleen Travers. The administrative law judge took official notice of the administrative record.

ISSUES:

Whether claimant quit for good cause attributable to employer.
Whether claimant has been overpaid any unemployment insurance benefits, and if so, whether the repayment of those benefits to the agency can be waived.
Whether any charges to the employer's account can be waived.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

The administrative law judge, having heard the testimony and considered all of the evidence in the record, finds: Claimant was employed as a part-time cashier from April 3, 2023, until her employment ended on June 13, 2023. As a cashier, claimant was responsible for running the cash register, stocking shelves, and helping clean the store. Claimant's workdays and hours varied, but she typically worked between twenty-five and thirty hours per week.

In early-June 2023, claimant called off work several times, which left the store short-staffed each day the claimant was absent. Because of claimant's recent absences, claimant's supervisor was concerned claimant would continue to be unavailable to work her shifts the week of June 12, 2023. For this reason, claimant's supervisor temporarily removed claimant from the schedule for that week and scheduled a meeting with claimant on June 12, 2023, to discuss claimant's attendance and availability. Claimant's supervisor intended to put claimant back on the schedule after the meeting if claimant indicated she was able and willing to return to work.

On June 12, 2023, when claimant arrived at work, claimant's supervisor told claimant that she wanted to meet with her to discuss her attendance and availability. Rather than meet with her supervisor, claimant left the employer's premises and texted the district manager, "I turned in my keys, I am done, I don't work there anymore." The district manager accepted claimant's resignation. The employer had continuing work available to claimant, but claimant had no further contact with the employer about returning to work.

The claimant's administrative record indicates that claimant filed her original claim for benefits with an effective date of June 18, 2023. Claimant has filed no weekly-continued claims for benefits and has received no unemployment insurance benefits since filing her original claim. The employer did not participate in the fact-finding interview.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes claimant voluntarily quit her employment without good cause attributable to employer. Benefits are denied.

Iowa unemployment insurance law disqualifies claimants who voluntarily quit employment without good cause attributable to the employer or who are discharged for work-connected misconduct. Iowa Code §§ 96.5(1) and 96.5(2)a. The burden of proof rests with the employer to show that the claimant voluntarily left the employment. Irving v. Empl. App. Bd., 15-0104, 2016 WL 3125854, (Iowa June 3, 2016). A voluntary quitting of employment requires that an employee exercise a voluntary choice between remaining employed or terminating the employment relationship. Wills v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 447 N.W.2d 137, 138 (Iowa 1989); Peck v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 492 N.W.2d 438, 440 (Iowa Ct. App. 1992). It requires an intention to terminate the employment relationship accompanied by an overt act carrying out that intention. Local Lodge #1426 v. Wilson Trailer, 289 N.W.2d 608, 612 (Iowa 1980).

In this case, claimant's actions of leaving the employer's premises and texting the district manager, "I don't work there anymore," is both evidence of her intention to sever the employment relationship and an overt act carrying out her intention. The employer has established that the claimant, not the employer, ended the employment relationship. As such, I find that the claimant quit her employment and quit effective immediately.

Iowa Code §96.5(1) provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

1. Voluntary quitting. If the individual has left work voluntarily without good cause attributable to the individual's employer, if so found by the department.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.25(18), (28) and (37) provide:

Voluntary quit without good cause. In general, a voluntary quit means discontinuing the employment because the employee no longer desires to remain in the relationship of an employee with the employer from whom the employee has separated. The employer has the burden of proving that the claimant is disqualified for benefits pursuant to Iowa Code section 96.5. However, the claimant has the initial burden to produce evidence that the claimant is not disqualified for benefits in cases involving Iowa Code section 96.5, subsection (1), paragraphs "a" through "i," and subsection 10. The following reasons for a voluntary quit shall be presumed to be without good cause attributable to the employer:

(18) The claimant left because of a dislike of the shift worked.

(28) The claimant left after being reprimanded.

(37) The claimant will be considered to have left employment voluntarily when such claimant gave the employer notice of an intention to resign and the employer accepted such resignation. This rule shall also apply to the claimant who was employed by an educational institution who has declined or refused to accept a new contract or reasonable assurance of work for a successive academic term or year and the offer of work was within the purview of the individual's training and experience.

In this case, the record shows that on June 12, 2023, the employer was concerned about claimant's recent absences and called claimant into a meeting to discuss her attendance and work availability. While claimant's attendance may have eventually led to discipline or her termination, claimant's termination was not imminent, the employer never told claimant to quit, and continuing work was available to her. Moreover, while the employer reduced claimant's work hours for the week of June 12, 2023, the record indicates that the reduction in hours was temporary, as the employer intended to put claimant back on the schedule after their meeting if claimant was able to and available for work. Under these circumstances, the administrative law judge concludes that the claimant has not met her burden of proving that she voluntarily quit her employment with good cause attributable to the employer. As such, benefits must be denied.

Because no benefits were paid to claimant, the issues of overpayment, repayment and chargeability are moot.

DECISION:

The July 12, 2023, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision is reversed. The claimant voluntarily quit employment without good cause attributable to the employer. Unemployment insurance benefits shall be withheld until claimant has worked in and been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times claimant's weekly benefit amount, provided claimant is otherwise eligible. The issues of overpayment, repayment and chargeability are moot.
