APPEAL NO. 12A-UI-05881-MT

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE
DECISION

CONSOLIDATED GRAIN & BARGE CO

Employer

OC: 01/29/12

Claimant: Respondent (1)

Section 96.5-2-a – Discharge for Misconduct

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

Employer filed an appeal from a decision of a representative dated May 7, 2012, reference 01, which held claimant eligible for unemployment insurance benefits. After due notice, a hearing was scheduled for and held on June 26, 2012. Claimant participated personally with witness Carrie Meyer. Employer participated by Peter Kiel, Superintendent; Charlie Shultz, Operations Manager and Joanne Koopman, Regional Human Resources. Exhibit One was admitted into evidence.

ISSUE:

The issue in this matter is whether claimant was discharged for misconduct.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

The administrative law judge, having heard the testimony and considered all of the evidence in the record, finds: Claimant last worked for employer on April 16, 2012.

Claimant was discharged on April 16, 2012 by employer because claimant made inappropriate comments at work. Claimant stated over a CB radio that her coworker was not free that she was still ten cents. This type of talk was common place at this work site. Claimant was engaging in the same type of conversations that all employees engaged in. Employer had issued a warning in 2009. Employer failed to take action after that to stop the horseplay language.

Claimant did not make back seat comments about Mona.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

Iowa Code section 96.5-2-a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The individual shall be disqualified for benefits until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

871 IAC 24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

871 IAC 24.32(8) provides:

(8) Past acts of misconduct. While past acts and warnings can be used to determine the magnitude of a current act of misconduct, a discharge for misconduct cannot be based on such past act or acts. The termination of employment must be based on a current act.

871 IAC 24.32(4) provides:

(4) Report required. The claimant's statement and the employer's statement must give detailed facts as to the specific reason for the claimant's discharge. Allegations of misconduct or dishonesty without additional evidence shall not be sufficient to result in disqualification. If the employer is unwilling to furnish available evidence to corroborate the allegation, misconduct cannot be established. In cases where a suspension or disciplinary layoff exists, the claimant is considered as discharged, and the issue of misconduct shall be resolved.

The gravity of the incident, number of policy violations and prior warnings are factors considered when analyzing misconduct. The lack of a current warning may detract from a finding of an intentional policy violation.

In this matter, the evidence fails to establish that claimant was discharged for an act of misconduct when claimant violated employer's policy concerning harassment. Claimant was warned concerning this policy.

The last incident, which brought about the discharge, fails to constitute misconduct because the behavior was not so egregious to warrant discharge. The lack of recent formal warnings detracts from a finding of an intentional policy violation. The common place occurrence of this behavior in the work place was overlooked by employer for some time. Claimant was not on notice that her job was in jeopardy.

Claimant did not make the back seat comment about Mona. Claimant's sworn testimony is more credible than the hearsay offered by employer on this fact issue. Where conflicts exist, claimant's sworn testimony is more credible than the hearsay. The administrative law judge holds that claimant was not discharged for an act of misconduct and, as such, is not disqualified for the receipt of unemployment insurance benefits.

DECISION:

The decision of the representative dated May 7, 2012, reference 01, is affirmed. Claimant is eligible to receive unemployment insurance benefits, provided claimant meets all other eligibility requirements.
