IN THE IOWA ADMINISTRATIVE HEARINGS DIVISION UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE APPEALS BUREAU

ERIKA A TIPPETT Claimant

APPEAL 24A-UI-00569-SN-T

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE DECISION

BETHANY MANOR INC

Employer

OC: 12/03/23 Claimant: Respondent (1)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)a – Discharge for Misconduct Iowa Code § 96.3(7) – Recovery of Benefit Overpayment Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.10 – Recovery of Benefit Overpayment

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The employer, Bethany Manor Inc, filed an appeal from the January 4, 2024, (reference 03) unemployment insurance decision granted benefits based upon the determination the claimant was discharged, but misconduct was not shown. The parties were properly notified of the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on January 31, 2024, at 8:00 a.m. The claimant participated and testified. The employer participated through Director of Risk Lauren Middendorf. Official notice was taken of the administrative records. Exhibits 1 and 2 were received into the record.

ISSUES:

Was the claimant discharged for disqualifying job-related misconduct?

Whether the claimant has been overpaid benefits? Whether the claimant is excused from repayment of benefits due to the employer's non-participation?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds:

The claimant worked as a full-time homemaker from January 3, 2023, until his employment ended on December 8, 2023, when she was terminated. The claimant performed work in a home dedicated to serving residents with disabilities.

The employer has an employee manual. The employee manual includes a respectful work environment policy. The respectful environment policy states that employees will "promote a positive, productive work environment." The employer provided a copy of the policy. (Exhibit 2) The employer also has a cell phone policy, which prohibits cell phone use during working hours. The claimant acknowledged receipt of this policy and others on January 30, 2023. The employer provided a copy of her acknowledgment of receipt of these policies. (Exhibit 2)

On August 11, 2023, the claimant received coaching regarding her performance. The coaching was also issued because the claimant had been using her cell phone in the home while she was on the clock. This coaching did not have anything do with the claimant's tone or use of profanity.

On November 30, 2023, the claimant received a performance improvement plan ("PIP"). The performance improvement plan said that if she had another infraction in the next 30 days she could be terminated. This PIP did not have anything do with the claimant's tone or use of profanity.

On December 3, 2023, the claimant was busy performing duties related to the resident of her home. She picked up the phone at the home and answered, "Christine's house." She was told by the dietary aide who called that she did not mean to call the house. The phone rang again. The claimant picked up the phone and said, "Stop freaking calling me." The claimant hung up the phone again.

On December 8, 2023, the claimant's supervisor terminated the claimant reasoning that the incident on December 3, 2023, an additional infraction under the PIP within 30 days. The claimant tried to clarify that she used the work "freaking" and not the word "fuck." The supervisor terminated her anyway.

The following section of the findings of fact display the findings necessary to resolve the overpayment issue:

The claimant received $2,153.00 in unemployment insurance benefits after being separated from the employer.

On December 26, 2023, Iowa Workforce Development sent a notice of factfinding to the parties informing them of a fact-finding interview on January 3, 2024. Director of Risk Lauren Middendorf participated personally.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

The administrative law judge concludes the employer has failed to meet its burden to show the claimant was terminated due to disqualifying misconduct. Benefits are granted, provided she is otherwise eligible. The overpayment issue need not be analyzed because the claimant is entitled to benefits.

lowa Code section 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The individual shall be disqualified for benefits until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)a provides:

Discharge for misconduct.

(1) Definition.

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Huntoon v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 275 N.W.2d 445, 448 (Iowa 1979).

lowa Code section 96.5(2)b, c and d provide:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

b. Provided further, if gross misconduct is established, the department shall cancel the individual's wage credits earned, prior to the date of discharge, from all employers.

c. Gross misconduct is deemed to have occurred after a claimant loses employment as a result of an act constituting an indictable offense in connection with the claimant's employment, provided the claimant is duly convicted thereof or has signed a statement admitting the commission of such an act. Determinations regarding a benefit claim may be redetermined within five years from the effective date of the claim. Any benefits paid to a claimant prior to a determination that the claimant has lost employment as a result of such act shall not be considered to have been accepted by the claimant in good faith.

d. For the purposes of this subsection, "misconduct" means a deliberate act or omission by an employee that constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of the employee's contract of employment. Misconduct is limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. Misconduct by an individual includes but is not limited to all of the following:

(1) Material falsification of the individual's employment application.

(2) Knowing violation of a reasonable and uniformly enforced rule of an employer.

(3) Intentional damage of an employer's property.

(4) Consumption of alcohol, illegal or nonprescribed prescription drugs, or an impairing substance in a manner not directed by the manufacturer, or a combination of such substances, on the employer's premises in violation of the employer's employment policies.

(5) Reporting to work under the influence of alcohol, illegal or nonprescribed prescription drugs, or an impairing substance in an off-label manner, or a combination of such substances, on the employer's premises in violation of the employer's employment policies, unless the individual if compelled to work by the employer outside of scheduled or on-call working hours.

(6) Conduct that substantially and unjustifiably endangers the personal safety of coworkers or the general public.

(7) Incarceration for an act for which one could reasonably expect to be incarcerated that result in missing work.

(8) Incarceration as a result of a misdemeanor or felony conviction by a court of competent jurisdiction.

(9) Excessive unexcused tardiness or absenteeism.

(10) Falsification of any work-related report, task, or job that could expose the employer or coworkers to legal liability or sanction for violation of health or safety laws.

(11) Failure to maintain any licenses, registration, or certification that is reasonably required by the employer or by law, or that is a functional requirement to perform the individual's regular job duties, unless the failure is not within the control of the individual.

(12) Conduct that is libelous or slanderous toward an employer or an employee of the employer if such conduct is not protected under state or federal law.

(13) Theft of an employer or coworker's funds or property.

(14) Intentional misrepresentation of time worked or work carried out that results in the individual receiving unearned wages or unearned benefits.

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). The Iowa Court of Appeals found substantial evidence of misconduct in testimony that the claimant worked slower than he was capable of working and would temporarily and briefly improve following oral reprimands. Sellers v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 531 N.W.2d 645 (Iowa Ct. App. 1995). Generally, continued refusal to follow reasonable instructions constitutes misconduct. Gilliam v. Atlantic Bottling Co., 453 N.W.2d 230 (Iowa Ct. App. 1990). Misconduct must be "substantial" to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits. Newman v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 351 N.W.2d 806 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). Poor work performance is not misconduct in the absence of evidence of intent. Miller v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 423 N.W.2d 211 (Iowa Ct. App. 1988).

The decision in this case rests, at least in part, on the credibility of the witnesses. It is the duty of the administrative law judge as the trier of fact in this case, to determine the credibility of witnesses, weigh the evidence and decide the facts in issue. Arndt v. City of LeClaire, 728 N.W.2d 389, 394-395 (lowa 2007). The administrative law judge may believe all, part or none of any witness's testimony. State v. Holtz, 548 N.W.2d 162, 163 (lowa App. 1996). In assessing the credibility of witnesses, the administrative law judge should consider the evidence using his or her own observations, common sense and experience. Id.. In determining the facts, and deciding what testimony to believe, the fact finder may consider the following factors: whether the testimony is reasonable and consistent with other believable evidence; whether a witness has made inconsistent statements; the witness's appearance, conduct, age, intelligence, memory and knowledge of the facts; and the witness's interest in the trial, their motive, candor, bias and prejudice. Id.

After assessing the credibility of the witnesses who testified during the hearing, reviewing the exhibits submitted by the parties, considering the applicable factors listed above, and using his own common sense and experience, the administrative law judge finds the claimant's version of events to be more credible than the employer's recollection of those events.

The administrative law judge finds the claimant more credible because she subjected herself to the potential of cross examination. The employer provided second or third hand testimony regarding the final incident on December 3, 2023. The employer's witness, Ms. Middendorf, could not provide specific details about who overheard the statement. This means it likely had just the report of the one person on the other end of the line to conclude the claimant used the word "fuck." The administrative law judge does not find this testimony credible from the employer.

Iowa Admin. Code r.871-24.32(8) provides:

(8) Past acts of misconduct. While past acts and warnings can be used to determine the magnitude of a current act of misconduct, a discharge for misconduct cannot be based on such past act or acts. The termination of employment must be based on a current act.

The administrative law judge further finds the claimant's use of the word "freaking" in her phone call on December 3, 2023, is dissimilar from the other things she was disciplined for. To the extent that non-current acts are relevant, they are only relevant to determine the magnitude of the final act. Since these acts are so dissimilar, no such finding can be made. The administrative law judge finds that one instance of using the word "freaking" is not disqualifying misconduct. Benefits are granted, provided she is otherwise eligible.

DECISION:

The January 4, 2024, (reference 03) unemployment insurance decision is AFFIRMED. The employer has failed to meet its burden that the claimant was discharged due to work-related misconduct. Benefits are granted, provided the claimant is otherwise eligible. The overpayment issue need not be analyzed because the claimant is entitled to benefits.
