DECISION

OC: 04/02/23
Claimant: Respondent (01)

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge/Misconduct
Iowa Code § 96.3(7) – Overpayment of Benefits
Iowa Admin. Code R. 871-24.10 – Employer Participation in Factfinding interview

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

Employer filed an appeal from a decision of a representative dated April 24, 2023, (reference 01) that held claimant eligible for unemployment insurance benefits after a separation from employment. After due notice, a hearing was scheduled for and held on May 19, 2023. Claimant participated personally. Employer participated by Dyllan Russell. No exhibits were offered or admitted into evidence. The administrative law judge took official notice of the administrative record including the fact-finding documents.

ISSUE:

Was the claimant discharged for disqualifying job-related misconduct?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

The administrative law judge, having heard the testimony and considered all of the evidence in the record, finds: The claimant began working for the employer on December 2, 2021 as a full-time fulfillment center associate. Claimant's immediate supervisor was Dawn Shaw. Claimant last worked for employer on March 31, 2023. Employer notified the claimant of her discharge through the employment resource center through email and attempted phone calls on April 2, 2023. The claimant was discharged because she overutilized her time off.

On March 14, 2023, the claimant took time off of work without having leave time available. After the March 14, 2023 leave, the claimant had a leave balance of negative 22 hours and 15 minutes. The claimant reported the time off in accordance with the employer's policy.

On March 2, 2023, the claimant took time off work without having leave available. She continued to use unpaid leave until the final incident on March 14, 2023.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes the claimant was discharged from employment for no disqualifying reason. Benefits are allowed.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)a provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:
 - a. The disqualification shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(8) provides:

(8) Past acts of misconduct. While past acts and warnings can be used to determine the magnitude of a current act of misconduct, a discharge for misconduct cannot be based on such past act or acts. The termination of employment must be based on a current act.

The gravity of the incident, number of policy violations and prior warnings are factors considered when analyzing misconduct. The lack of a current warning may detract from a finding of an intentional policy violation.

While past acts and warnings can be used to determine the magnitude of a current act of misconduct, a discharge for misconduct cannot be based upon such past act or acts. The termination of employment must be based upon a current act. A lapse of 11 days from the final act until discharge when claimant was notified on the fourth day that his conduct was grounds for dismissal did not make the final act a "past act." Where an employer gives seven days' notice to the employee that it will consider discharging him, the date of that notice is used to measure whether the act complained of is current. Greene v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 426 N.W.2d 659 (Iowa Ct. App. 1988). An unpublished decision held informally that two calendar weeks or up to ten work days from the final incident to the discharge may be considered a current act. Milligan v. Emp't Appeal Bd., No. 10-2098 (Iowa Ct. App. filed June 15, 2011).

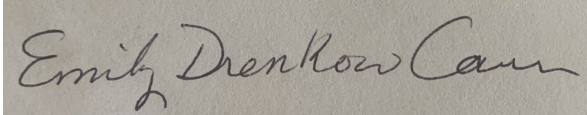

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). What constitutes misconduct justifying termination of an employee and what misconduct warrants denial of unemployment insurance benefits are two separate decisions. Pierce v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 425 N.W.2d 679 (Iowa Ct. App. 1988). Misconduct serious enough to warrant discharge is not necessarily serious enough to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits. Such misconduct must be "substantial." Newman v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 351 N.W.2d 806 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984).

In this case, the claimant's final incident occurred on March 14, 2023. The claimant continued to work until March 31, 2023. She was notified of her discharge by the employment resource center on April 2, 2023. A gap of 19 dates between the final incident and the date of claimant's discharge is not a current act. The employer has not established a current or final act of misconduct, and, without such, the history of other incidents need not be examined. Accordingly, benefits are allowed.

The employer failed to meet its burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. As such, benefits are allowed.

DECISION:

The April 24, 2023, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision is affirmed. The claimant was discharged from employment for no disqualifying reason. Benefits are allowed, provided the claimant is otherwise eligible.
