DECISION/REMAND

Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a - Discharge for Misconduct

Iowa Code § 96.5(1) - Voluntary Quit

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The claimant filed an appeal from the April 23, 2026, unemployment insurance (UI) decision that denied benefits because the claimant's discharge on April 8, 2026, was for violation of a known company rule. The parties were properly notified of the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on May 14, 2026. The claimant participated personally and through witness, Roger Carroll. The employer did not participate. The claimant's exhibits A and B were admitted into the record.

ISSUE:

Was the claimant discharged for disqualifying job-related misconduct?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Equal Opportunity:

Auxiliary aids and services are available upon request to individuals with disabilities. For deaf and hard of hearing, use Relay 711.

Having reviewed the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: The claimant was employed full time as a technical support specialist lead from July 15, 2024, until April 8, 2026, when he was discharged.

On April 8, 2026, the claimant went to what he thought was a quarterly 1:1 meeting with his supervisor, which turned out to be his termination. The employer notified the claimant he was being discharged for misrepresenting hours worked and inaccurate expense reporting, but was provided with very few details.

The claimant travels on occasion for work to different projects. During one work trip to Texas, the claimant and Mr. Carroll drove to pick up parts needed to continue the project. The destination was a one hour and ten-minute drive each way. The two stopped to pick up a quick burger and returned to the work site. When the employer got word the claimant was gone for 2+ hours, the employer accused the claimant of leaving the job early without permission. The employer did not give the claimant an opportunity to explain the situation.

The claimant completed expense reports when he traveled for work. At one point, the employer notified the claimant that there was a change to the expense reporting procedure, and he was doing the reports incorrectly. The claimant corrected the issues. After this, one of the claimant's expense reports was flagged. The claimant was working to resolve the confusion when he was discharged.

The claimant received no prior disciplinary action and/or warnings during his employment.

The claimant was named employee of the quarter last year.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes the claimant was discharged from employment for no disqualifying reason. Benefits are allowed.

Iowa Code section 96.5(2)(a) and (d) provide:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

a. The disqualification shall continue until the individual has worked in and has been paid wages for insured work equal to ten times the individual's weekly benefit amount, provided the individual is otherwise eligible.

d. For the purposes of this subsection, "misconduct" means a deliberate act or omission by an employee that constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of the employee's contract of employment. Misconduct is limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or even design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.24(3) provides:

(3) Report required. The claimant's statement and employer's statement must give detailed facts as to the specific reason for the claimant's discharge. Allegations of misconduct or dishonesty without additional evidence are not sufficient to result in disqualification. If the employer is unwilling to furnish available evidence to corroborate the allegation, misconduct cannot be established. In cases where a suspension or disciplinary layoff exists, the claimant is considered as discharged, and the issue of misconduct is resolved.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.24(7) provides:

(7) Past acts of misconduct. While past acts and warnings can be used to determine the magnitude of a current act of misconduct, a discharge for misconduct cannot be based on such past act or acts. The termination of employment must be based on a current act.

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6, 11 (Iowa 1982). The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262, 264 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). What constitutes misconduct justifying termination of an employee and what misconduct warrants denial of unemployment insurance benefits are two separate decisions. Pierce v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 425 N.W.2d 679, 680 (Iowa Ctn. App. 1988).

In an at-will employment environment an employer may discharge an employee for any number of reasons or no reason at all if it is not contrary to public policy, but if it fails to meet its burden of proof to establish job related misconduct as the reason for the separation, it incurs potential liability for unemployment insurance benefits related to that separation. A determination as to whether an employee's act is misconduct does not rest solely on the interpretation or application of the employer's policy or rule. A violation is not necessarily disqualifying misconduct even if the employer was fully within its rights to impose discipline up to or including discharge for the incident under its policy.

An employee is entitled to fair warning that the employer will no longer tolerate certain performance and conduct. Without fair warning, an employee has no reasonable way of knowing that there are changes that need to be made in order to preserve the employment. If an employer expects an employee to conform to certain expectations or face discharge, appropriate (preferably written), detailed, and reasonable notice should be given. Training or general notice to staff about a policy is not considered a disciplinary warning.

An employer may discharge an employee for any number of reasons or no reason at all if it is not contrary to public policy, but if it fails to meet its burden of proof to establish job related misconduct as the reason for the separation, the employer incurs potential liability for unemployment insurance benefits related to that separation. Here, the employer did not present any evidence that claimant engaged in job-related misconduct. As a result, employer has not met the burden of proof to establish that claimant engaged in misconduct that would disqualify him from benefits. Benefits are allowed.

DECISION:

The April 23, 2026, UI decision is REVERSED. There was no disqualifying separation with this employer. The claimant is allowed benefits, provided they remain otherwise eligible.
