Claimant: Appellant (2)

Iowa Code §96.5(2)a-Discharge/Misconduct
Iowa Code §96.5(1)- Voluntary Quit

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

On June 24, 2023, the claimant/appellant filed an appeal from the June 22, 2023, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision that denied benefits based on claimant being discharged on April 20, 2023 for conduct not in the best interest of the employer. The parties were properly notified about the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on August 16, 2023. Claimant participated. Employer participated through Owner, Stephanie Bronstad. Claimant's Exhibit A and Employer's Exhibit 1 was admitted into the record.

ISSUE:

Was the separation a layoff, discharge for misconduct, or voluntary quit without good cause?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: Claimant began working for employer on June 1, 2021. Claimant last worked as a part-time server and bartender. Claimant was separated from employment on May 8, 2023, when he was discharged.

On April 19, 2023, claimant worked for the employer. Ms. Bronstad suspected claimant was intoxicated during his shift. Claimant denied being intoxicated.

On April 20, 2023, claimant was not scheduled to work for the employer. A co-worker texted a group message asking for someone to cover their shift. (Exhibit A, pg. 7). Claimant voluntarily offered to work for the co-worker. (Exhibit A, pg. 7-8). When Ms. Bronstad arrived at work she noticed that claimant could barely stand and was slurring his speech. Other staff members informed Ms. Bronstad about their suspicions of him being intoxicated at work. Ms. Bronstad confronted claimant about being intoxicated. Claimant admitted he had been drinking. (Exhibit 1, pg. 4). Ms. Bronstad sent claimant home.

Claimant went on a vacation and was not scheduled to return until May. On May 8, 2023, claimant was informed that he was not being put back on the schedule. Claimant was discharged due to being intoxicated while he was working. The employer does not have a written alcohol or drug policy. Claimant did not receive a prior verbal or written warning regarding being intoxicated at work that informed him that he would be discharged for violating the employer's policy.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes claimant was discharged for no disqualifying reason. Benefits are allowed provided claimant is otherwise eligible.

Iowa Code §96.5(2)d provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits, regardless of the source of the individual's wage credits:

2. Discharge for misconduct. If the department finds that the individual has been discharged for misconduct in connection with the individual's employment:

d. For the purposes of this subsection, "misconduct" means a deliberate act or omission by an employee that constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of the employee's contract of employment. Misconduct is limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. Misconduct by an individual includes but is not limited to all of the following:

(4) Consumption of alcohol, illegal or nonprescribed prescription drugs, or an impairing substance in a manner not directed by the manufacturer or a combination of such substances, on the employer's premises in violation of the employer's employment policies.

(5) Reporting to work under the influence of alcohol, illegal or nonprescribed prescription drugs, or an impairing substance in an off-label manner, or a combination of such substances, on the employer's premises in violation of the employer's employment policies, unless the individual is compelled to work by the employer outside of scheduled or on-call working hours.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(1)(a) provides:

a. "Misconduct" is defined as a deliberate act or omission by a worker which constitutes a material breach of the duties and obligations arising out of such worker's contract of employment. Misconduct as the term is used in the disqualification provision as being limited to conduct evincing such willful or wanton disregard of an employer's interest as is found in deliberate violation or disregard of standards of behavior which the employer has the right to expect of employees, or in carelessness or negligence of such degree of recurrence as to manifest equal culpability, wrongful intent or evil design, or to show an intentional and substantial disregard of the employer's interests or of the employee's duties and obligations to the employer. On the other hand mere inefficiency, unsatisfactory conduct, failure in good performance as the result of inability or incapacity, inadvertencies or ordinary negligence in isolated instances, or good faith errors in judgment or discretion are not to be deemed misconduct within the meaning of the statute.

This definition of misconduct has been accepted by the Iowa Supreme Court as accurately reflecting the intent of the legislature. Reigelsberger v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 500 N.W.2d 64, 66 (Iowa 1993); accord Lee v. Emp't Appeal Bd., 616 N.W.2d 661, 665 (Iowa 2000). Further, the employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982).

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.32(8) provides:

(8) Past acts of misconduct. While past acts and warnings can be used to determine the magnitude of a current act of misconduct, a discharge cannot be based on such past act or acts. The termination of employment must be based on a current act.

The employer has the burden of proof in establishing disqualifying job misconduct. Cosper v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 321 N.W.2d 6 (Iowa 1982). The issue is not whether the employer made a correct decision in separating claimant, but whether the claimant is entitled to unemployment insurance benefits. Infante v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 364 N.W.2d 262 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). Misconduct must be "substantial" to warrant a denial of job insurance benefits. Newman v. Iowa Dep't of Job Serv., 351 N.W.2d 806 (Iowa Ct. App. 1984). "Misconduct serious enough to warrant the discharge of an employee is not necessarily serious enough to warrant a denial of benefits." Lee v. Employment Appeal Bd., 616 N.W.2d 661, 665 (Iowa 2000).

A determination as to whether an employee's act is misconduct does not rest solely on the interpretation or application of the employer's policy or rule. A violation is not necessarily disqualifying misconduct even if the employer was fully within its rights to impose discipline up to or including discharge for the incident under its policy. The law limits disqualifying misconduct to substantial and willful wrongdoing or repeated carelessness or negligence that equals willful misconduct in culpability. Lee v. Employment Appeal Bd., 616 N.W.2d 661 (Iowa 2000).

The claimant volunteered to cover the shift of another co-worker. Claimant arrived at work intoxicated at the time of the shift he was covering. However, the employer does not have a policy prohibiting alcohol or drug intoxication while working. Under Iowa Code §96.5(2)d(5) the employer has not met its burden of proof establishing job-related misconduct. The employer did not establish that it was against the employer's policies either through the written policy or through a previous warning to be intoxicated at work. The employer may have been justified for terminating claimant, but claimant is not disqualified from unemployment benefits under Iowa law. Therefore, claimant was discharged for no disqualifying reason. Benefits are allowed provided claimant is otherwise eligible.

DECISION:

The June 22, 2023, (reference 01) unemployment insurance decision is reversed. Claimant was discharged for no disqualifying reason. Benefits are allowed provided claimant is otherwise eligible.
