DECISION/REMAND

Iowa Code § 96.5(1) – Voluntary Quit
Iowa Code § 96.5(2)a – Discharge for Misconduct

STATEMENT OF THE CASE:

The claimant filed an appeal from the January 29, 2026, unemployment insurance decision that denied benefits based upon his voluntary quit. The parties were properly notified about the hearing. A telephone hearing was held on April 9, 2026, 2025. Claimant James Tilbury participated and testified. Employer Western Engineering Company, Inc. did not call the toll-free number listed on the hearing notice at the time of the hearing and did not participate. The administrative law judge took official notice of the administrative record.

ISSUE:

Did claimant voluntarily quit the employment with good cause attributable to employer?

FINDINGS OF FACT:

Having reviewed all of the evidence in the record, the administrative law judge finds: The claimant was employed full-time as a CDL Driver from approximately May 2024, until November 28, 2025. Cutter Hahn was the claimant’s direct supervisor.

The claimant testified that the employer is a seasonal employer and that employees are typically laid off around Thanksgiving each year.

Around the time of the separation, the claimant was dealing with some personal issues, including marital problems and mental health issues. As a result, the claimant was absent from work between approximately November 15, 2025, and November 25, 2025. The claimant remained in contact with Hahn during that period. The claimant credibly testified that Hahn was aware of his circumstances and told him to “do what he needed to do.”

On November 25, 2025, Hahn sent the claimant a text message asking whether he wanted to be laid off or whether he intended to quit. The claimant responded, “I’m sorry it ended like this, wanted to come back but was too embarrassed. I’d prefer to be laid off. I don’t think I’ll be back next year so thank you for the lessons you did teach me.” The claimant testified that he did not intend to quit. Rather, he hoped to transfer to a crew that worked in the Omaha area.

The claimant filed his claim for unemployment insurance benefits on January 15, 2026. After receiving the January 20, 2026, notice for a fact-finding interview, the claimant called the employer and was informed that the employer had marked him down as a voluntary quit due to multiple no-call/no-shows.

On January 23, 2026, the claimant and Hahn had another text conversation regarding the separation from employment. Hahn had relayed that he believed the claimant quit on November 25, 2025. The claimant responded, “I don’t think that’s what I said. I was leaving my options open.” He further explained that if he and his wife had separated, he likely would have returned to Hahn’s crew; however, if he and his wife were able to work things out, he likely would not return to Hahn’s crew the following season because the position required extended periods of travel and hotel stays. The claimant was interested in working for the employer in a position that would allow him to remain in town and return home each night.

The employer did not participate in the hearing and did not present testimony or evidence to rebut the claimant’s explanation of the November 25, 2025, text messages or his intent at the time the messages were sent.

REASONING AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

For the reasons that follow, the administrative law judge concludes claimant’s separation from the employment was with good cause attributable to the employer.

Iowa Code section 96.5(1) provides:

An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

1. Voluntary quitting. If the individual has left work voluntarily without good cause attributable to the individual's employer, if so found by the department.

Iowa Admin. Code r. 871-24.18 provides:

Voluntary quit without good cause. In general, a voluntary quit means discontinuing the employment because the employee no longer desires to remain in the relationship of an employee with the employer from whom the employee has separated. The employer has the burden of proving that the claimant is disqualified for benefits pursuant to Iowa Code section 96.5. However, the claimant has the initial burden to produce evidence that the claimant is not disqualified for benefits in cases involving Iowa Code section 96.5, subsection (1), paragraphs "a" through "i," and subsection 10.

A voluntary quitting means discontinuing the employment because the employee no longer desires to remain in the relationship of an employee with the employer and requires an intention to terminate the employment. Wills v. Emp’t Appeal Bd., 447 N.W. 2d 137, 138 (Iowa 1989). A voluntary leaving of employment requires an intention to terminate the employment relationship accompanied by an overt act of carrying out that intention. Local Lodge #1426 v. Wilson Trailer, 289 N.W.2d 608, 612 (Iowa 1980). Here, the claimant never expressly informed the employer that he was resigning. Instead, the claimant expressly stated that he would prefer to be laid off.

Hahn’s November 25, 2025, text message asking whether the claimant wished to be laid off or quit suggests that the employment relationship had not already ended. The claimant responded that he would “prefer to be laid off.” Although portions of the claimant’s response could reasonably be interpreted as expressing doubt about returning the following season, the message does not definitively provide that the claimant was quitting or that he would not return to work for the employer.

The claimant testified that he did not intend to leave the employer entirely. Rather, he hoped to transfer to a crew that worked in the Omaha area. The claimant’s explanation is plausible and un rebutted. Given the ambiguity of the conversation, the claimant’s testimony that he did not intend to resign, and the employer’s failure to participate in the hearing to provide additional context, the undersigned cannot conclude that the claimant voluntarily quit his employment. As such, the undersigned concludes that the claimant was discharged from employment for no disqualifying reason. Benefits are allowed.

DECISION:

The January 29, 2026, unemployment insurance decision is REVERSED. There was no disqualifying separation with this employer. The claimant is allowed benefits, provided they remain otherwise eligible.
